Mrs. Lemmon Has Guest During Week Departs for North

An interesting visitor in Medford the past week has been Mrs. Helen Plant of San Jose, Cal., who has been a guest at the home of Mrs. Crawford Lemmon while in this city. Mrs. Plant, assistant dean of women at San Jose State Teachers' college, is Mrs. Lemmon's sister.

She left Saturday for Eugene and Hood River to spend a few days in those cities with relatives before returning south.

Miss Edmiston Has Lead, Normal Play Merchant of Venice

Tall, with vivid blonde coloring and a fascinating husky voice, Helen Edmiston of Medford will play the lead role in the current Southern Oregon Normal school production, "Merchant of Venice," to be given in Ashland May 10 and 11.

Miss Edmiston, playing a difficult role which is one of the longest in the Shakespearean group of plays, has had her lines memorized for each act long before the other members of the cast. Because she is vitally interested in dramatics, Miss Edmiston is making a name for herself by this being so well prepared at the frequent rehearsals.

Miss Edmiston has appeared in a number of Normal school plays. In February, when Noel Coward's "Hayfever" was produced, she took an ingenious role, Sorel Bliss, giving an outstanding performance.

Medford theatergoers will remember her part in a few special scenes given before a Medford club and her part in the Medford high school senior play, "Adam and Eve."

The interpretation of her present role calls for considerable ability, which she is showing at rehearsals.
