

CLOSE OF SPANISH CLASSES SADDENS DEVOTED STUDENT

It is with regret that the students of the Spanish class, taught by Mr. Hunter, find their work is to be discontinued. The class feels that the teaching of Mr. Hunter has been so thorough that every member has a solid foundation of Spanish grammar equal to at least two and a half years in college, and they hope to have a continuation of the work next fall.

OUR TEACHER
"The Spanish Students' Tale" With patient air and smile so bright, Our beloved teacher greets his class each night. With fluent flow of Spanish and infinite concern, He begs us to listen and to learn.

We try our very best to follow As he leads us through a maze, Of stories about the brave caballero, And tangled verbs and ways.

Then with fast beating hearts, And hands that fairly tremble, We copy lovely poems, And then await the part, Where we vainly try to distinguish Which is the I do, Thou dost, and Thou art.

In retrospect we scan the day, And wonder now it's o'er, Just where we did not find a way, To peep beneath our "Texts" worn cover.

As thus we read and perchance dream, With guilty air we suddenly discern, Our patient teacher wearily leans, Upon his desk until we recover.

And thus, week after week, We study thro' the hours, And if by chance our "accent" We timidly proclaim, We find that what we speak, And what we read are, somehow not the same.

As we draw near the close of the semester, No thought of failure fills our hearts, Tho' we might have studied faster, We of knowledge gained our part.

'Tis the thought of parting, From our friends and teacher too, And the happy hours in study, He so kindly led us through.

In years to come we will look back, And happily remember, Not alone the Spanish mastered, But something far more tender.

The kindly word, the pleasant smile, Of one who thought it well worth while, His time to share as he tarried there, And revealed the mystery we all have sought.

That sacred sharing with another, Whom the Father, has said is our brother,

Has opened up the precious channel, Of our companionship together, And has shown us the shining pathway to God.

A Puzzled Poultryman
ABERDEEN, Idaho—(UP)—Could a rooster lay eggs, or a "Henster" crow? W. Thornley would like to know. He has seen this particular fowl lay an egg then rustle tidbits for the hens, and crow about it.

Blank Saved Life
HOUSTON, Tex.—(UP)—Sam Rosenthal surprised a burglar in his home and received a surprise himself. The thief ran toward a window with Rosenthal close behind. The intruder whirled and drew a pistol. "I'll get you," he snarled and fired. Rosenthal stopped but felt no pain. The prowler jumped out of the window and escaped. He had fired a blank.

Veteran Actor Passes
CINCINNATI—(UP)—Templar Saxe, retired actor, singer and writer, brought to America by the late Charles Dillingham, theatrical producer, is dead here. Saxe, born in London, began his stage career in Europe. He appeared in numerous productions in the East, and later was in motion pictures for 18 years.

Town's First Talkie
MCARTHUR, O.—(UP)—The first talking picture ever shown in this village, the county seat of Vinton County, was scheduled to be shown here soon. The county, large in area but small in population, has no moving picture theaters at the present time.

Hard Labor to Keep Hard
BOSTON—(UP)—Joseph Bedugina, 28-year-old fisherman, had one fear when he was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction. He feared he'd get soft, so had his sentence changed to hard labor.
