PEAR BUREAU TO ENLARGE PROGRAM FOR COMING YEAR

Trustees Favor Trade And Ad Campaign For New Domestic Markets—Tuttle And Reter Honored.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 11.—Decision to go ahead on an enlarged advertising and trade promotion program for the 1935 season was made yesterday at a well attended meeting of the board of trustees of the Oregon-Washington pear bureau, held at the Multnomah hotel.

A new table syrup, made of winter pears, as a part of the research work carried on at Oregon State college by J. C. Moore, was demonstrated at the meeting, and a special committee to investigate the commercial possibilities of its manufacture and report back at another meeting was appointed, consisting of O. K. Conant, Shelby Tuttle and George Galligan. This committee was also made the research committee for the year.

Arrangements were perfected by which the Crown-Williams Paper company will manufacture the Hartman wrap for winter pears for the ensuing season, under the personal supervision of Henry Hartman. Professor Hartman will continue his work for the pear industry in both trade promotion and research work in developing improved methods for the physical handling of fruit.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing season: E. R. Pooley, Hood River, president; B. A. Perham, Yakima, vice-president; Scott Alken, Hood River, treasurer; W. H. Horsley, Seattle, secretary; Miss Florence V. Montgomery, Seattle, assistant-secretary. Members of the executive committee elected are: E. R. Pooley, George Galligan, Hood River; Harry Jensen, Wenatchee; B. A. Perham, J. W. Herbert, Yakima; Raymond Reter, Shelby Tuttle, Medford.

"The Oregon-Washington pear bureau is starting its fifth year of existence with the current shipping season," said E. R. Pooley, president. "Our work during the past couple of seasons has been devoted primarily to a research program to build a foundation upon which we could undertake an aggressive advertising and selling program. We now feel the time is ripe to launch this work. Actual determination of the assessment per box will be determined a little later in the season when the actual crop figures are available."

"The meeting was very harmonious, and all were agreed that the time has now come to launch a real program." Those in attendance were: Scott

"Les Miserables" at Craterian

Admittedly one of the greatest human stories ever written, Victor Hugo's masterpiece, "Les Miserables," starts a three-day showing at the Craterian theatre today with a distinguished cast headed by Fredric March, in the role of the unfortunate Jean Valjean, and Charles Laughton as the relentless arm of the law, Javert.

The story opens with Valjean being arrested for the stealing of a loaf of bread and being sentenced to five bitter years in the galleys of a French prison ship. Upon his release he finds himself, not a free man, but one whose every action are shadowed by the law, never allowed to cast off the memory of the wasted years behind the bars. Laughton, as the detective, is said to give a magnificent portrayal. How life treats the ex-convict, shunting him from pillar to post and never allowing him a moment of peace, and ready at all times to condemn him, is brought out forcibly in the story, which is brought to a smashing climax that will linger in the reviewer's memory for some time.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, noted star of the stage, Rochelle Hudson, Frances Drake and John Beal are among the many featured players.

Alken, George Galligan, W. Q. Bate-man, E. R. Pooley, Hood River; Louis Truin, Underwood; Raymond Reter, Shelby Tuttle, Medford; O. K. Conant, B. A. Perham, J. W. Herbert, Yakima; Henry Hartman, W. A. Scheentfeld, B. S. Bess, Corvallis; William H. Horsley, Seattle.
