

LITHIANS UTILIZE LEFT FIELD FENCE FOR 13 TO 3 WIN

With the services of an imported pitcher, Bouman, of the Western league and an old pal of manager John Millus, the Ashland Lithians yesterday defeated the Medford Rogues, 13-3, in the pill-box high school field at Ashland.

The 17-year old Medford chucker, Hea, allowed Ashland 13 hits, 10 of which were over the left-field fence, a scant 190 feet from the home plate. The wily Bouman, capable of putting the ball about where he wanted it, fed the Rogues only inside balls, keeping them from getting a good crack at the fence.

Even against the brilliant Bouman, the Rogues garnered 10 hits, only three of which were by the over-the-fence route.

Manager Hoffard of the Rogues, fired by the springing of the home plate, Hea, has been in communication with him, and is now looking for a job in Medford so as to be able to offer him something tangible. There are also several other good chuckers who may be considered.

In yesterday's game, the Rogues would have had a presentable record had the ball park been at all presentable. Outfielders had the fence, a ditch, and the bleachers with which to contend, and the catcher had a four foot drop directly behind him. Familiarity with the field and a fast twirler tended to offset these difficulties for the Lithian nine.

Next Sunday the Rogues will travel to Grants Pass to meet the league leading Merchants of that city. With the new pitcher that he expects to sign before that time, Hoffard has high hopes of duplicating his early season win over the leaders.

Grants Pass yesterday proved their traditional luck in taking the Klamath Red Sox 11-7 at Klamath Falls when Barnhart, Merchant ace chucker, was knocked out of the box in the second. A new man, going through, and asking for a chance to try-out, was thrown in to save the day and held the Klamath team to two hits in the next seven innings.

FEHL RETURNS IN GUARD'S CUSTODY TO ATTEND TRIAL

rears with the governor who has given no hint of what course he will take. Salem papers stated Saturday that if any parole was granted it would be with the condition he remain out of Jackson county during its duration and be subject to arrest and prison return in case of violation.

The interpleader suit also marked the re-appearance in court of Attorney T. J. Enright, serving 90 days in the county jail for conviction of driving an auto while intoxicated, as counsel for Jesse Thomas and wife of Ashland, with Attorney George W. Nelson.

Attorney Von Schmalz said that the length of Fehel's respite from penitentiary routine depended on the length of the hearing, which "might last three or four days, or might be concluded in a few hours."

Most of the morning session was devoted to opening statements of counsel with Attorney George M. Roberts representing Niedermeier, Inc., Attorney E. E. Kelly, the claim of Kelly and Kelly, for $2000 attorney's fees, for services rendered; Attorney George W. Nelson, the claim of Jackson county for $1044 taxes, and $890.25 for costs of Fehel's trial in Klamath county, and Attorney T. J. Enright representing Jesse Thomas of Ashland, and Ted Helmroth of Griffin Creek, who seek a title to the Pacific Record-Herald building, for financial aid given to Fehel.

Fehel is expected to take the witness stand in his own behalf, during the hearing.

Attorney Rhoten for Fehel, in his opening statement said the defense would question the right to bring the interpleader suit, and would file an objection and arguments as soon as the first witness was called to the stand.

Money is Ready

Attorney George M. Roberts, representing Niedermeier, Inc., stated that "the money is ready to be paid, and this action is for the sole purpose of determining to whom it shall be paid, and the validity of the various liens."

The amount involved is between $8000 and $6000, awarded to the Fehel on a supreme court reversal of the lower court decision, in the original suit between Fehel and Niedermeier, Inc.

Attorney E. E. Kelly outlined his $2000 claim for legal services, including an appeal to the state supreme court, and defending Fehel in the Paris libel suit and criminal libel cases. He stated that after the proceedings, Fehel denied Kelly had been retained as counsel. It was indicated that a number of letters written by Fehel since his penitentiary incarceration would be introduced as evidence.

Attorney Enright, in his statement, outlined the labyrinth of legal complications arising out of transactions between the Fehel and Helmroth and Thomas.

Action Complicated

The action is highly involved. The defense at the start of the proceedings, asked the right to take the depositions, if necessary, of County Treasurer, A. C. Walker and Attorney Allison Moulton, both of whom are now in and former Sheriff Gordon L. Schermerhorn, now confined in state prison for ballot theft convictions. Treasurer Walker is at the seashore recuperating from illness, and Attorney Moulton is confined to his home.

Walker would testify to the deposit with him of the certificate of sale of the Pacific Record-Herald building, by the sheriff, as a tax sale, and Attorney Moulton to the Paris libel suit judgment for $15,000.

Fehel has served nearly two years of his sentence. Final action on the plea

BELCASTRO SIGNS TO MEET HEALY ON THIS WEEK'S CARD

Promoter Mack Lillard, a broad grin indicating that he is well pleased with the wrestling show that he is offering this week at the armory, today announced that Pete Belcastro, colorful Italian grappler, who has recently made a tour of the east, has been signed to appear in the main event with Jim Healy, big mauler from San Francisco.

In the other half of the show, two newcomers will be seen in action when Andre Adoree of Paris, France, a scientific musclemangler, tangles with John Sooa, speedy ex-grit star from University of Indiana.

Two kinds of wrestling are promised in this lineup. In the Belcastro-Healy tussle the going will probably be rough and full of fireworks, as only Pete Belcastro can stage them. Action is the wild Italian's middle name, and if he doesn't nearly kill his opponent, he is sure to nearly kill himself.

The newer star says Pete has picked up several new tricks besides his spectacular flying drop kick that he plans to bring into use against the big San Franciscan, who in turn is brushing up on his own unorthodox technique. The battle should draw plenty of fans, and should satisfy them with plenty of furious brawling.

The scientific Frenchman has appeared recently in headline bouts at Portland and promises a fast performance. He counts on science alone, preferring to use levers and clever grips where most grapplers resort to rougher methods. The led from Indiana, however, will probably knock some of the science out, if he connects with any of the rib-cracking flying tackles for which he is noted.

HOLDING COMPANY REGULATION GIVEN COMMITTEE'S OK

than an hour of deliberation over the revised measure, which had been considered during a week of executive session.

While permitting continued existence to geographically integrated holding company systems, the bill authorized the commission to require that not later than January 1, 1940, "each registered holding company, and each subsidiary company thereof, be reorganized or dissolved whenever the securities commission finds that the corporate structure or continued existence of such company unduly or unnecessarily complicates the structure of the holding company system of which it is a part, or unfairly or inequitably distributes voting power among the holders of securities, or is detrimental to the proper functioning of a single geographically and economically integrated public utility system."

By 1942, the measure provided, all holding companies must be dissolved unless the commission finds "that the continuance of the holding company relation is necessary under the applicable state or foreign law, for the operation of a geographically and economically integrated public utility system serving an economic region in a single state or extending to two or more contiguous states or into foreign country."

HOW'S YOUR SKIN?

OVER sixty years ago Dr. R. V. Pierce placed in the drug stores of this country his "Golden Medical Discovery" — for cleansing the system and to make redder blood. It eradicates pimples and blotches and builds up an inner glow. Mrs. L. Gardner of 1724 S. E. 11th Ave., Portland, Oregon, writes: "Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has done for me what no other medicine could. It has helped to rid me of pimples and blotches of my skin."

GABBY'S MISSIONS TAKE TWO-PLY WIN ON SUNDAY'S BILL

Seattle collected 17 hits for a 15-5 victory over Portland in the morning, but lost the afternoon game, 10 to 4.

Los Angeles took its tenth straight by defeating Hollywood in a double-header, 8 to 7 and 6 to 2.

Frank Shellenback, Hollywood manager, protested the first game when Outfielder Caryze of the Angels deflected a fly ball over the wire enclosing and the umpire gave Myatt a two bagger on it. Shellenback contended it should have been a home run.

They beat the San Francisco Seals in both Sunday contests, 5 to 2 and 12 to 9. Walter Beck, who held the Seals to 4 hits, starred in the opener, but the afternoon game was the big feature of the day, marked by a hot argument between Gabby Street and "Lefty" O'Doul on the third base line that developed when Ed Stutz took exception to something or other that had been said to him from the opposition bench. Nothing came of it, however, and the fans had to be content with the ball game. They saw the Seals take the lead with nine runs in the first two innings, but the Reds came back and tucked the game away with three runs more two innings later.

Oakland climbed a little farther away from everybody with two victories over Sacramento, 8 to 4 and 7 to 6.
