

FIRE PREVENTION LAWS IN FORESTS EFFECTIVE MAY 15

Rogue River National Forest and Areas Under State Jurisdiction Affected — Fire Permits Required

Forest laws taking effect tomorrow, May 15, and extending during the closed season, which lasts until October 15 or until a later date which may be set in an official extension, were announced today by Dwight L. Phillips, district fire warden for the Oregon State Board of Forestry.

The laws, governing the use of fire or of power driven machinery in the forest, prohibiting throwing away lighted material and governing all camping, will be enforced not only within the forests which come under state jurisdiction, but also in Rogue River national forest.

The laws follow: During the period from May 15 to October 15 or any extension thereof in any year, it shall be unlawful for any person to use fire in any form or to use any power driven machinery in sawmilling, logging, operation of a logging railroad or other operation, on or within one-eighth of a mile of forest land without first having obtained a written permit for said year so to do from the state forester. Applications for these permits should be secured from the district fire warden's headquarters on the Bybee bridge road, 4 miles north of Medford.

Permits are required for burning after May 15. During the period between May 15 and October 15, which is hereby designated the closed season, it shall be unlawful for any one to set on fire, or cause to be set on fire, any forest land, grass, grain or stubble either his own or the property of another, without first securing a written or printed permit from the forester or a warden and complying with the terms thereof.

During the closed season it is unlawful for anyone to throw away any lighter material, tobacco, matches or fire crackers on any forest land, private road, public highway or railroad right-of-way.

It is also unlawful for anyone to build a fire for camping purposes on lands not his own, without first clearing the ground to prevent the spread of fire; to leave a camp fire burning and unattended—even temporarily.

Many thousands of thrifty people have compared costs and decided that the train, at 2c a mile and less, is the best travel buy today. Trains travel swiftly and safely over the smoothest highway yet invented. Trains have many comforts: You relax while the engineer does the driving. Sleep when sleepy. Eat when hungry. Drink clean iced water when thirsty. Read or write as you ride. And there's always a convenient rest room.

Here are examples of the very low fares now in effect:

SAN FRANCISCO	One-way	Roundtrip

LOS ANGELES	One-way	Roundtrip

RING OF BURGLARS PREYING ON FILM NOTABLES, BROKEN

Arrest of Woman and Four Men Disclosed by Los Angeles Police—Half Million Taken by Members

LOS ANGELES, May 15.—(UP)—A nationwide "burglary ring" which preyed on Hollywood film notables and distributed stolen goods through "fences" in New York, Chicago and Mexico, was disclosed last night by police after the arrest of a woman and four men.

More than $500,000 worth of jewelry, furs and other valuable loot was taken from homes of prominent film stars and executive by members of a "burglary school" who studied private lives of film stars as a background for systematic burglaries, police said.

Names, addresses and unlisted telephone numbers of many well known members of the film colony were found in a little black book seized by arresting officers, police said. The names included Jean Harlow, Peter Arno, Marion Davies, John Barrymore, Eddie Cantor and District Attorney Burton Fitts.

Ran Apartment House. Police arrested Mrs. Frances Krug, 36, also known as Margaret Lux, and reportedly manager of a fashionable film colony apartment house where many victims of the "burglary ring" lived.

They also held four men who gave their names as Stefan Ganschian, 45; Alan Reily, 28; John Rankin, 34; and Jose F. Mesinas, 24. They said the leader of the group had not been arrested.

Among victims supposedly disclosed by the arrests was Mrs. Rhuba Mayer, sister-in-law of Louis H. Mayer, chief executive of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. Furs, jewelry and expensive perfumery were looted from her home April 24 by men carrying suitcases.

A neighbor reportedly identified one of the men seen carrying part of the loot from the house. Find Part of Loot. Part of the loot, police said, was found in Ganschian's rooms. All five arrested persons were held incommunicado while an effort was being made to round up other persons suspected of being connected with the ring.

Police said members of the ring apparently made exhaustive researches into the habits and associates of each intended victim before striking. Notes taken from the black notebook indicated thorough knowledge of intimate side-lights in the lives of persons under watch.

Detective Chief Joseph Taylor said police had been on the trail of the bandit ring for weeks, and had traced operations through the east end to Agua Caliente, Mex. Gang Had System. The method apparently followed was for a member of the gang to mingle with crowds at exclusive gatherings of film colony notables and obtain auto license numbers of women seen wearing expensive furs and jewelry. Later telephone numbers were obtained and the prospect "abandoned."

Members of the gang rang the telephone constantly until, through lack of an answer, it was believed the householders were absent, when the burglary would be carried out.

MIXED FOURSOME ON PROGRAM TOMORROW

The third in a series of mixed Scotch foursome golf tournaments will be held at Rogue Valley course tomorrow, with indications of one of the largest week-day crowds of the year. The tournaments have proved very popular and interest is being kept up with worthwhile prizes for the winners in the form of cocktail cups donated by E. Raymond Drive, Pro Jack Hueston urged that all who plan to participate be at the course before noon so that pairings can be made early.

HOLIDAY REWARD FOR MEN OF CCC ON ANNIVERSARY

23 Camps of District Enjoy Program Sports, Feasts and Entertainment—Chief Sends Greetings

The men of the Medford 3-C district, 4600 strong, were enjoying a full holiday today, and preparing to start the third year of the Civilian Conservation Corps in this area.

The holiday, ordered for all camps of the district by Major Clare H. Armstrong, district commander, in cooperation with the park and forest service supervisors, celebrates the second anniversary of the Medford district. Each of the 23 camps in the district were enjoying a day of sports, special dinners, programs and dances.

Only the cooks and K. P. were denied a holiday and they will get their one-day vacations in shifts later. The cooks were busy preparing special dinners that ranged from a barbecued steer at Wimer to fried chicken at most of the camps.

Dances will be featured at several camps tonight, with people of the neighboring communities invited. Baseball games were being played on Wednesday afternoon in almost all camps. Track and field events found places on the program of a number.

Greetings of the district commander were read to the members of each camp at a special formation today. The message pointed out that the holiday was given as a reward for the services the men have rendered during the past two years; it follows: "To the enrollees of the companies of the Medford district, I send my greetings on this second anniversary holiday. It is due to the loyalty and energy of the men of the companies that this district has won a place as one of the finest in the United States. This one-day vacation is in appreciation of the work you have done."

"The district will go forward during the next year to even greater accomplishment, but you who have helped pioneer the first two years of the Civilian Conservation Corps, we will always owe a debt of gratitude. To each of you I send my greetings and wishes for your future success." The district was started May 15, 1933, when Major Armstrong arrived here from San Francisco. He has been in command since then but will leave June 2 for the Command and General Staff school at Fort Leavenworth. Major George R. Owens will assume command with Major Armstrong's departure.

The district has 23 camps at the present time but 35 will be located here this summer, according to present plans.

This little girl's guardian lives in a safe

THIS little girl's father is a thoughtful man. No matter whether anything happens to him or not, his little girl will get a good education. She will have all the advantages in life which such an education can bestow.

For the father was wise enough to make sure that, should he die, there would be a guardian to pay all the expenses of her education—to see her safely through. This guardian is a sheet of paper tucked away in a safe. It is a life insurance policy.

Nor is this all the father's life insurance will do. It is just one part in the life insurance plan he has been following for years.

Other policies will make sure his family will not be in want if he should die. Another will pay off the mortgage on the home. And if he lives, his insurance will enable him and his wife to enjoy the comfortable, leisurely old age that everyone looks forward to.

This little girl's father is only one of millions of Americans who have ceased to dream about a safe and happy future for themselves and their families—but who, instead, are living that future in the soundest, most economical way man has yet devised. With life insurance!

If you have children in your home, isn't it high time you made certain that they have the headstart in life that only a good education can give them? When your Life Insurance representative calls on you in the next few days, he will give you a free copy of the booklet, "How to Win Both Ways." It tells you how to plan a future that means security for your family if you die, security for yourself and wife if you live. Don't fail to read it carefully!

"The sooner you plan your future, the better your future will be"

Automobile Owners Oregon's New "Financial Responsibility Act" BECOMES EFFECTIVE JULY 1st

If is the general understanding of many people that this Act is cooperative until a person has had an accident. This is true to the extent that it isn't necessary to show financial responsibility in order to obtain licenses to operate an automobile, but the Act is not a "One Accident" proposition. The following are some of the major provisions of this Act:

1. The Secretary of State is required to revoke or suspend operator's or chauffeur's licenses and suspend registration cards and plates when as a result of an accident: (a) a final judgment for property damage is rendered in excess of $100.00, or (b) a final judgment for personal injury in any amount, has not been satisfied within thirty days.
2. These suspensions or revocations remain in effect until the judgments have been satisfied and until proof of financial responsibility has been given for future accidents.
3. To constitute proof of financial responsibility, there must be filed with the Secretary of State one of the following: (a) a policy of insurance with $5000-10,000 limits for liability and $1000 limits for property damage, (b) a deposit of money or securities in the amount of $10,000, (c) a personal bond in the amount of $10,000, (d) a corporate surety bond in the amount of $10,000.
4. A discharge in bankruptcy following the rendering of any such judgment shall not release the judgment debtor from any of the requirements of this act.

It should be apparent enough to anyone that if they do not have insurance protection, they will sooner or later be faced with a situation whereby their RIGHTS to drive or operate an automobile will be TAKEN AWAY.
