SPEEDY REMOVAL OF FIRE DEBRIS SEEN AS RESULT

68-603 which conferred upon the board the authority to "do that which the plaintiffs complain of, and also thereby depriving this court of any jurisdiction in the matter."

Contrary to the contention of the plaintiffs that the statute conferring the power upon the board was repealed by implication as well as being unconstitutional, the opinion stated the statute "has neither been repealed nor is it unconstitutional, and that it is broad enough to permit the defendants to continue with razing operations."

The suit, instituted by Henry Zorn, Edwin A. Jory, Martin Rossvold and Willard Siemens, resulted in a temporary restraining order handed down one week ago, thereby delaying wreckage of the walls which the board of control held to be hazardous. The plaintiffs brought the suit as individual taxpayers.

Judge Lewelling declared that "even though construing the complaint most favorably to the contention of the plaintiffs, this court concludes that they have not alleged facts sufficient to show a special injury to themselves separate and apart from that which would accrue to all citizens of the state of Oregon, and for this reason they have not stated a cause of suit and consequently their application for a restraining order must fail."

Contentious Refuted.
Continuing, Judge Lewelling held that "assuming that defendants are acting without authority in the exercise of a governmental function, they could only be prevented from an unlawful exercise of authority or from the performance of illegal acts by the state in its sovereign capacity, or by an individual who has been specially injured, joining with the state in an ex rel proceeding."

The opinion refuted every contention of the plaintiffs and held throughout with the briefs filed by the attorney-general, who by reason of his office, defended the board of control.

Spring Concert Set by Gleemen.
The annual Spring concert of the Medford Gleemen, greatly anticipated each year by many music lovers of the valley, will be held next Monday evening, May 20, at the high school auditorium, at 8:15 o'clock.

Under the leadership of James Stevens, director and popular baritone soloist, the chorus of Medford's best male voices has been working for many weeks on a program which is said to be the best the Gleemen have yet presented. Many new songs have been learned and the chorus has worked out close harmony, swinging rhythm to perfection in an effort to give a presentation better than ever before.

Mr. Stevens has been assisted in direction of the chorus by Sebastian Apollo, accomplished pianist who is also the accompanist for the Gleemen. His adeptness at the piano is always an outstanding feature of the concerts.

In two numbers, the Gleemen will be assisted by the Jackson County Teachers' Chorus.

It was made known today that the associate membership tickets will be good for admission to the concert, and all associate members are urged to attend.

Publicity Sales Talks Banned.
OTTAWA, Ont.—(UP)—The Canadian Radio commission has decided to ban broadcasting of publicity sales talks over Canadian stations on Sunday. The order is expected to become effective as soon as existing contracts between radio stations and advertisers run out.

EUGENE CAPITALIST FILES FORECLOSURE.

EUGENE, Ore., May 13.—(UP)—Campbell Church, Eugene capitalist, now en route to Alaska on his yacht, filed through attorneys today a foreclosure suit for $54,952 against Mrs. Lee McDonald and her son, Donald. The suit asked foreclosure on the Rex theater and $25,000 worth of stock in the McDonald-Schaefer Co., which owns the McDonald theater. The latter stock is owned by Mrs. McDonald.

MARSHFIELD CHIEF HAS 'FISHY' STORY

MARSHFIELD, Ore., May 13.—(AP)—Chief of Police Mat Coy of Marshfield is not a drinking man. Nor is he given to variations from the truth. But in the future when he admonishes youngsters to "Come on now, 'fess up," he is more than likely to receive in return a wink and a grin. The chief's most recent story concerns a stream inhabited by amphibian fish, but it is taking all the credulity of his friends to believe the tale.

Coy says he was fishing 'way up Lobster creek with L. A. Cutilip, now mayor of North Bend, and Dr. C. L. Brown, well-known local sportsman, when he had the startling experience of picking up and stuffing into a basket a large fish which had followed a fly right up onto the gravel bar.

There are some unkind souls who claim the chief is merely practicing up for Marshfield's annual Ananias contest.

FUNDS FOR RURAL ELECTRIFICATION AIM OF GOVERNOR

under the provisions of the state utility district law to "act immediately in getting their preliminary petitions before the hydro-electric commission."

Time for Action
Declaring that the time has arrived for "Oregon and Oregonians to take decisive action in their endeavors to secure cheap and abundant power for development of the state," he said that those who desire action under the rural electrification program "can get it, but they must take the initiative" in organizing the local agencies necessary to secure federal funds.

"I pledge them the full co-operation of my office and of my administrative assistants," the governor said.

The governor expressed the opinion that utility districts organized under the existing state law "unquestionably have authority to negotiate loans and accept such grants as are proposed in the RFC setup," and explained that the extent of Oregon's participation in rural electrification benefits depends largely upon the measure in which the people take advantage of the utility district law.

PORTLAND COUNTS $4500 IN PROFIT ON CHAIN RACKET

PORTLAND, Ore., May 15.—(AP)—There's been a lot of loose talk about chain letter profits, but the city of Portland can show you $4,500 it did not have before the chain had started.

The $4,500 is haul money posted by nine "brokers" who swept in on the tide of bigger and better chains. Arrests were made yesterday and last night and each of the nine was released on $500 bail. They continued to operate, however, but tactics had changed. At none of the "brokerage" places today could you get a guarantee that your investment would be returned.

"I have a broker's license," one of the proprietors smiled, "and they (the cops) can't stop me. I won't guarantee your money back, but if you want to take a chance to make some money, come on in. If the end comes, the remaining cash will be prorated."

Arrests were made on lottery statutes. Unless all play is halted within a day or two, detectives said, the brokerage offices will be treated as gambling resorts and the customers will be arrested for gambling.

Tonight sees the windup of the softball league, with Jennings Tire, league leaders, crossing bats with the Elks' nine, one of the surprise teams of the league. The Elks so far this year have been very good, or very bad. If they can so far upset the hope as to take the tire boys, it will bring the league up with the Office Boys tied for high honors.

ENGLAND CONTINUES EFFORT TO MAINTAIN EAST AFRICAN PEACE

(By the Associated Press)
Premier Benito Mussolini's "hands off" dictum concerning Ethiopia, delivered before the Italian senate yesterday, left Great Britain today still determined to do everything possible to prevent hostilities in east Africa.

LONDON—It was understood Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador to Rome, was seeking further consultation with Italian authorities, although his efforts were temporarily unsuccessful.

ADDIS-ABABA—Ethiopian officials said Mr. Mussolini's speech contained nothing new, being merely an official statement of the policy Italy had followed for some time.

PARIS—French and English discussions with Italy concerning Ethiopia were "just friendly conversations not constituting diplomatic action," semi-official French sources said as informed observers expressed the belief Mussolini would carry through his Ethiopian plans.

VIENNA—Government quarters said they took Mussolini's speech to mean Italy remains determined to protect Austrian independence regardless of commitments elsewhere.
