

PLAYOFF NEEDED TO FIND WINNERS MIXED FOURSOME

Due to the weather, which slightly dampened the golfing spirit yesterday, only eight couples participated in the monthly mixed Scotch foursome tournament at Rogue Valley course.

For a while it looked as though Mrs. D. R. Wood and George Snider had the tournament clinched, but as they holed out on the 17th they were told that Mrs. J. C. Thompson and Ed Simmons had just turned in their card with a net 71.

Others who competed scored as follows: Mrs. E. C. Jerome and Leland Clark, 76; Mrs. George Coddling and D. B. Wood, 77; Mrs. Anne Fuson and J. B. Kirk, 78; Anne Mae Fuson and E. L. Childers, 81; Mrs. Altha Vawter and O. O. Hornor, 83; Mrs. F. G. Bunch and Walter Leverette, 85.

JOB, NOT HELP, IS MRS BANKS' HOPE

The plea of Edith Robertine Banks, wife of L. A. Banks, former local agitator, now serving a life term in state prison on second degree murder conviction, for county aid for a minor child, under an Oregon law making such aid mandatory, if the father is confined in a state institution, is still held in abeyance awaiting further investigation.

Dr. I. D. Phipps yesterday was granted a permit to remodel the store front windows at 229 East Main street at an approximate cost of $150.

W. E. Peck, 1214 West Tenth street, was granted a permit yesterday to remodel the interior of the residence there at an approximate cost of $450.

FINISH OF CASE SENDS FEHL BACK TO PEN ROUTINE

B. E. Harder and C. E. (Pop) Gates. The court sustained the defense objection to more evidence on the veracity of Fehl on the ground it was "cumulative."

The answer of Gates, to cross questions of Attorney Rhoden of Fehl's counsel, caused Fehl to laugh. "You were defeated by Fehl for county judge, were you not?" asked the attorney.

The witness ballots references were to the ballots stolen and destroyed to prevent a recount.

The court decided that all briefs in the interpleader suit be in his hands by June 1 and that he would render an opinion as soon thereafter as possible. No definite date was set.

The suit is based upon adjudication and pro-rating among creditors of a $5400 judgment rendered by the state supreme court in favor of Fehl and against Niedermeyer, Inc., to determine to whom the money should be paid. Their position was they were stakeholders and desired court authority for payment.

The claimants were: Kelly & Kelly, attorney fees, $2000 for legal services rendered over a period of a year; Attorney T. J. Enright, legal fees, $600; Jackson county, $1100 unpaid taxes and $3900 trial costs; Ted Heimroth of Griffen Creek and Jesse Thomas of Ashland, for money loaned to Fehl, and a title to the Pacific Record-Herald building, purchased at sheriff's sale, and counter-claim by Corrintha E. Staley, for $1507 borrowed by her son-in-law, and $1000 paid for the purchase of the $13,000 Parr libel suit judgment.

FORMER DAIRYMAN WILL BE DEPORTED

John Fischer, former local dairyman, who figured as the spearhead of one of L. A. Banks' attacks during the late turmoil, faces federal deportation to his native Switzerland, according to Chief of Police Clatus McCredie. Fischer, according to Chief McCredie, pleaded guilty the first of this week to making a false affidavit to naturalization papers at Los Angeles.

Chief McCredie, Officer Tom Robinson and Vern Shangle, were called to Los Angeles as witnesses in the proceedings, but were not used, owing to Fischer changing his plea. Naturalization officers advised him, Chief McCredie said, this would be made the basis of deportation action.

Fischer, the police chief said, swore he had been a resident of Los Angeles for the past five years. The local witnesses would have testified Fischer was a resident of this county from 1930 to 1933. They arrived in the southern city, the morning after Fischer plead guilty.

Fischer left here when the Banks-Fehl inspired agitation was at its height. Suits were filed against him by creditors and employees. Fischer was pictured by the pair as a "martyr" and "persecuted by the district attorney."

ELKS OF VICINITY INVITED TO GREET GOOD WILL COUPLE

Invitations are being sent to the Elks lodges at Ashland and Grants Pass to be on hand in this city May 31 for the arrival of the Elks Magazine Good Will Tour, comprising a new 1935 Chevrolet sedan and a Chevrolet Standard Phaeton, carrying two Good Will Ambassadors from Sacramento, making their trek via the northwest to the national Elks convention at Columbus, Ohio.

A committee composed of W. A. Gates, chairman, B. E. Harder, E. C. Ferguson, and E. L. Scott, is busy making arrangements for the reception of the tour, as are Elks lodges in all other parts of the United States, for the tour is nationwide with Columbus as the focal point.

Upon its arrival the tour will be met at Main and Riverside by the Elks band, which will march with the cars up Main street to Ivy, Ivy to Sixth, Sixth to Central and back to the Elks temple, where at 6:30 o'clock a feed will be held for members of the Elks lodge. After the feed, the meeting will adjourn to the lodge rooms where the members will be entertained by the Good Will Ambassadors, Albert Rasmussen and Richard F. Flood, Jr. Rasmussen, rated as a leading member of "Chicago's Best Male Quartet," is a featured artist on national networks and has appeared on popular national broadcasts. Flood is a member of the grand lodge activities committee, an honorary life member of Bayonne lodge, and is noted for his many activities in behalf of crippled children. Both are earnest workers in the order's interests.

'OILY' DIVOT DIGGERS ISSUE TEAM CHALLENGE

Mashie welders connected with the petroleum industry in Medford and vicinity have combined, it was made known today, in a golf team which they feel confident can beat any similar aggregation of golfers from any other industrial line in southern Oregon.

The Oilers have issued a challenge which has not yet been accepted, but the valley is being scored for another team and it is announced that a tournament will be arranged in the near future.

FISH LAKE ROAD OPEN TODAY, HOPE

The road to Fish Lake, via Butte Falls, is now open clear to the fork of the road, only a 20-minute walk from the lower end of the lake, according to Jimmy Valentine, who made the trip yesterday. At that time, Valentine stated, two bulldozers were working on the road and expected to have it open clear to the lodge by today, with the one bad mudhole which has been stopping fishermen about a quarter of a mile this side of the fork now completely filled in.

There is no snow on the road, but there are several drifts that must be negotiated on foot, until the road is finished today. Most of the boats are still at this end of the lake, but some will be moved up to the lodge as soon as the road is opened. Trout fishing there is said to be the best in years, with limit catches being taken almost daily.

Crab Fishermen Happy. MOREHEAD CITY, N. C.—(UP)—Life looks rosy for crab fishermen this spring. Market demand is above average, early catches have been gratifying, and shippers predict an excellent season.
