FREE METHODIST CHURCH
Tenth St. and Ivy
The present pastor, Rev. E. N. Long, came to serve the church in 1931. During these four years, all departments of the church have steadily grown under his leadership. The membership has more than doubled during his ministry.
The old building became inadequate to the needs of the church and through the pastor's efficient oversight and faith in his congregation and the people of Medford the new church was built and dedicated free of debt a little over a year ago.
Rev. Long is untiring in his ministry, beloved by his congregation and many friends of Medford and surrounding community.
The pastor and his people cordially welcome any and all who may not have a church home in any other place.
"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord." Psalms 122: 1.

Young People's Missionary Society
The Young People's Missionary Society of the Free Methodist Church is an organization of young people between the ages of thirteen and twenty years. The object of the society is threefold: To seek and maintain among its members the highest type of Christian experience and life; and to prepare them for efficient membership in the Free Methodist church; 2. To interest, train and enlist the young people in the evangelism of the world field at home and abroad; 3. To study the needs of the various fields and become intelligent supporters of the full missionary program.
The aim and motive of the Y.P.M.S. is distinctly missionary, but in addition to its main missionary objective the society carries on work under the four departments of Service, Education, Stewardship and Evangelism. The regular weekly meetings are held each Sunday at 6:30 P.M., preceding the evening church service. The topics presented and discussed at these meetings cover the four phases of Y. P. M. S. work mentioned above, as well as the study of missions. They endeavor to make these meetings inspiring, informing, and interesting.
The Oregon conference Y. P. M. S. is supporting a missionary to China, James Hudson Taylor, grandson of the great James Hudson Taylor, pioneer missionary to China; as a local society we are assisting in this, besides which we list the contributing of supplies to the Mexican home mission work in California, holding of regular services at the County Farm, visiting the sick and shut-in, distributing tracts and other religious literature and doing all they can for the salvation of the lost.

Woman's Missionary Society

The Sunday School
The building of our new church has opened up a new era for our Sunday school. We were greatly handicapped for lack of room in the old building, but our new church has given us a Sunday school an attractive new home. Our Sunday school which includes several comfortable classrooms. We have had an increase in attendance for the last two years, and we are working for a continuous gain in Sunday school membership.
Our Sunday school is one of the standard schools of our conference. It is organized with interesting classes for all ages.
We have a Teachers' Training Class and various departments which include the following: Missionary, Temperance, Home, and Cradle Roll. We stress the memorizing of scripture as well as its study, and as a result several certificates for memory work are awarded each month.
Our Sunday School is also supporting a native pastor in China.

Grace E. Andrews, President
Miss Andrews as president, Y.P.M.S. Society, is much appreciated by the church for her faithful service as well as young people and held in high esteem by her many friends of Medford.

Anyone not attending Sunday school elsewhere will find a warm welcome and a friendly atmosphere in our school.

Month after month they have met together and have studied, prayed and worked, often making garments to be given or sent to the needy. They have prepared and packed boxes containing clothing, dried and canned fruits, literature and other useful articles to be sent and distributed on the mission fields.
In the regular monthly meetings the interdenominational study book is used. Their hearts have been gladdened in this service as well as their happy cooperation in the work of the local church.
One of the first women to serve as president of this organization was Mrs. Emma Sharpe, who now resides in San Fernando, Calif., at the age of eighty-three years.
Mrs. Anna S. Long, wife of the present pastor, now acts in this capacity and during the four years she has held this office has been most encouraging.
Her untiring, faithful and efficient service, her kindly interest in others, her love and esteem of all who know her.
The president and members of the Y.P.M.S. are a glad welcome to any woman of Medford who would enjoy working with this society.
