Foreign and Home Missionaries Meet The Foreign and Home Missionary societies of the First Methodist church held a combined meeting Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors with Mesdames Van Dyke, Smiley, Kelknap and Brainerd as hostesses.

Mrs. Willey presided during the opening period, with the usual routine of business followed with the reading of letters from district officers. Mrs. McNary conducted the devotional period closing with the hymn "Christ's Kingdom."

Mrs. C. C. Darby occupied the choir during the second half of the meeting. A letter of appreciation was read from the old people's home in Salem for the fine quilt sent them some time ago.

Announcement was made of the all day meeting of the Cascade district Wednesday, May 22nd here in the church parlors.

Mrs. Tucker conducted the mite box opening program, after which the meeting adjourned. Refreshments were served during the social period.

Mrs. Holloway and assistants will be hostesses for the month of June.

Ashland Banquet Honors Graduates One of the most successful social functions of the year at Southern Oregon Normal school was the annual Junior and Senior banquet honoring the class of '35, held on Thursday evening at the Lithia Springs hotel at Ashland.

The banquet table was attractively arranged in yellow and blue carrying out the class colors. Courages made by the Junior girls were presented to each guest present.

Mrs. B. Ashcraft, principal of the Talent schools, acted as toastmaster. During the course of the evening toasts were given by the following: Mrs. Beecher, Senior class advisor; Verlie Conner, Senior class president; Dorothy Wells Junior class vice-president; Miss Mary McLarnan, advisor, and Alvia Smith, student.

What the Girl Scouts Are Doing The girls of troop 2, assisted by their lieutenants, Lois O'Neil and Dorothy Paley entertained in honor of their mothers, Monday evening on the terrace of the Girl Scout Headquarters. This delightful out-of-doors setting added much to the enjoyment of the interesting program presented by the girls.

Will Instruct Vocal Students Cameron Marshall, dean of the School of Music and head of the voice department of Willamette university, will conduct a special six weeks' term of voice instruction in Medford, starting June 17, with studio in the parlors of the First Methodist church. Mr. Marshall has studied extensively with some of the finest teachers, including Frederick Howard of Boston, the late Herbert Whetstone of Chicago, Percy Heaton Stevens, Mrs. Ashcraft of Australia, Thos. N. MacBurtrey and others. To his credit, are many successful singers now in opera, musical comedy and radio, as well as winners in recent Atwater Kent auditions. A pupil of his won highest rating over 120 solo voices at the state music meet in Forest Grove, while in Medford, he will assist with the choir of the First Methodist church, and give a special concert at the close of the six weeks teaching. Under his direction, the Philharmonic choir of Willamette University was chosen to represent the state of Oregon at a Century of Progress Exposition, in Chicago.
