

QUINTET BIRTHDAY FINDS PARENTS IN RESENTFUL MOOD

Dionnes Overruled In Request For High Mass At Callander — Babies May Cry Over Sterilized Milk.

By DALE HARRISON
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)
CALLANDER, Ont., May 28.—(AP)—One year ago today Mrs. Olive Dionne turned a wan, frightened face to the midwife who stood at her bedside, and asked weakly:

"Were they—triplets?"

"Yes, Elsie—and two more."

Such was the drama of the ramshackle farmhouse on May 28, 1934, that was remembered today with ceremonies, gifts and best wishes—the first birthday anniversary of the Dionne quintuplets.

Parents Bitter.

In their parents' farmhouse—Yvonne, Annette, Cecile, Emilie and Marie—have a new, spick and span home across the road, with the flag of England flying beside it. They are ward of His Majesty the King.

A solemn high mass at 8 a. m. eastern standard time, at Sacred Heart church at Corbeil—the church where Olive Dionne and Elsie Legros attended mass as youngsters—was the opening ceremony of the formal birthday observance. The parents had been asked to attend, but late yesterday Dionne requested that the high mass be sung at Callander instead.

He was told that the mass would be at Corbeil as planned, and the invitation to attend was urged on him again.

Will Broadcast.

Nothing further was planned for the day until early evening when ceremonies will take place at the little hospital by the side of the road, with Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, Minister Croll, Dr. Boutley and members of the hospital staff participating.

This will not be public, for the hospital provides no such facilities, but the affair will be broadcast internationally between 8 and 5:30 p. m. (eastern standard time, 7 and 2:30 p. m. Pacific time). A record version of the broadcast will be put on the air over some stations at 9 p. m.

The babies themselves will make their radio debut, provided they feed up to it and Dr. Dafoe agrees, by offering such sounds as they feel inclined to make into a thoroughly sterilized microphone.
