

YANKEES HIT STRIDE WHEN JOE MCCARTHY GETS BACK TO HELM

(By Associated Press)

Since the beginning of the season sundry baseball experts have pointed to the New York Yankees as a team to watch this year and, if they keep going at their present rate, all the other clubs apparently will have to look upward to watch them.

After an almost disastrous western trip, the Yankees hit their stride when they returned home May 19 and Manager Joe McCarthy, who had been ill, took the reins again.

Since then they have bowled over the intruding western clubs, 9 times in 13 starts and at Washington yesterday took a six-inning slugfest from the Senators, 7 to 4.

That triumph, which was cut short by a storm, put the Yanks in a virtual tie with the idle Chicago White Sox for the league lead.

The lack of hitting which frequently has troubled the Yankees this year was nowhere in evidence as they hammered Bob Burke out in four innings with eight blows, including a homer by Pitcher Red Ruffing and Lou Gehrig's fifth of the year. Each came with one on base. They also battered Henry Copola for three more runs in the seventh.

JOHNSON'S FUTURE HANGS ON HEARING

CHICAGO, May 30.—(AP)—Walter Johnson led the Cleveland Indians against the American league leading Chicago Sox today, aware that it might be his last day as manager of the club.

Whether the "Big Train" shall continue as manager rests on the outcome of a hearing tomorrow before Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, who will decide if Johnson was justified in firing infielder Willie Kamm from the club last week. Johnson said the action was taken "for the best interests of the team."

Kamm denied guilt of any wrongdoing and demanded a hearing before Commissioner Landis.

That Johnson's future with the Indians depended on Landis' decision was put into so many words by Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland club, last night.

LONDOS DEFEATS HINDU GRAPPLER

PORTLAND, May 30.—(AP)—Jim Londos, heavyweight wrestling champion, took two straight falls from Jagat Singh, Hindu, here last night. Londos won the first fall in 25 minutes after a series of body slams, a Boston crab hold, an strangle spin, and finally a body press. The second fall came within 43 seconds on another spin.

Frank Speers defeated Jack Washburn with one fall in the second round. After an exchange of rights and lefts to the head and body, Speers flattened the Bostoner with a series of flying tackles.

Harry Kent, former Oregon State footballer, showed a decided improvement in his work when he pinned Tony Catalino in the second round with a body slam.

Joe Hutka made short work of Jerry Meeker when he squeezed him out of the picture with a body slinger in the second round.

ALL-STAR GAME ATTRACTS FANS

CLEVELAND (UP)—Thirty thousand reservations for the all-star baseball game, to be played between picked teams representing the American and National leagues July 8 in Cleveland's mammoth stadium, had been made today at offices of the Cleveland Baseball company.

The huge advance sale, so far ahead of later heavy advertising, led Billy Evans, general manager of the Indians, to predict a "positive sell-out" for the bowl's 80,000 seats.

"It's the most remarkable thing I ever saw," he said. "Tickets are not being sold anywhere except here at our office, only casual announcements have been made, and we are accepting no reservations unless accompanied by cash or check. I would say positively that it looks like a record for the game."

All box seats, at $1.50 each, have been sold. Reserved seats are $1.25 and bleachers, 25 cents. Evans said standing room would be sold in center field.

OPINING ON THE OPEN —By Pap

Jack Doyle, the country's ablest betting commissioner, has nominated Gene Sarazen, at 6 to 1, as his favorite to win the National open golf championship at Oakmont, Pittsburgh, early in June.

He places Olin Dutra, the defending champion, second on the list at 8 to 1. Paul Runyan, P. G. A. and North and South champion, is rated at 10 to 1 along with Henry Picard. Craig Wood's chances are figured at 15 to 1.

Handicapping this event, which includes one of the strongest fields ever entered in the open over one of the hardest scoring courses in the country, is no easy task. Very likely Doyle's figures are about as close as anyone could hope the event.

For some reason Paul Runyan is 10 to 1 intrigues me, possibly because of the unique way in which Runyan is preparing for the big test. Paul slumped at Merion last year when the open was played at the Merion Cricket club in Philadelphia, a course which is on the short side and thus popularly supposed to favor Runyan. Paul ran into the worst slump he had ever experienced.

He had been one of the first on the scene and had practiced more diligently than anyone else. When he faded it was generally agreed that he had shot his bolt in practice. He neither affirmed nor denied this, but told of his plans for this year.

He made a deal last season with Jesse Jelenko, one of the leading members of his club at White Plains, N. Y., that if he did do well at Merion he would put himself in Jelenko's charge in training for this year's open.

The plan was to forget about making golf shots and to go into training like a prize fighter does, by going away to some quiet nest and building up endurance with proper exercise, sleep and food.

Last winter Runyan reclaimed his game by taking two weeks off and then starting at the very beginning.

"You can never change your game and recover the proper form while you are playing in tournaments," he explained, "because you can never afford to be as bad as you must be while in the transitional stage."

Gene Respects Runyan

He said that what had been wrong with his game for the past year has been an attempt to pivot too much rather than to swing laterally, which lengthens out his swing and gives him the extra power which he desperately needs.

Many golf fans have the idea that Runyan is only good on short courses but Gene Sarazen has other ideas about Runyan's ability to play long courses.

"As a matter of fact," Sarazen said, "Runyan can show to better advantage on a longer course because of his accuracy with the wooden clubs from the fairways and his excellent work around the greens. In other words, on holes where he may be coming close to the greens with a wood club, we long hitters are not likely to come any closer—if at all, with long iron clubs, so that with his fine short game he is in every hit as strong a position."

SERAPHS SHARE TOP WITH ACORNS AFTER TRIMMING SENATORS

By the Associated Press.

Los Angeles was at home again today—on top of the Pacific Coast league baseball pack.

The Seraphs easily defeated Sacramento, 9 to 3, while the pace-setting Oakland club lost, 11 to 4, to the up and coming San Francisco Seals. That put the Angels into a tie with the Acorns for the circuit leadership.

Individual honors of the day went to Walter Beck, former Brooklyn Dodger, who won his own game for the Missions, 5 to 0, with shut-out pitching against Seattle, and the hit that brought in the first Red ball. He singled in the fifth with the bases loaded, allowed only five hits and struck out 12 Indians.

Smart infelding by the Angels backed up Lou Garland's shaky hurling. He was touched for 14 scattered hits while his teammates bunched 10 off two Solon hurlers.

A healthy San Francisco wind that blew fly balls into the wrong places helped the Seals bring fire men home in the first. They connected for 15 hits while Wyn Baljou limited the Acorns to seven.

Portland and Hollywood called off their game because of inclement weather.

KIDS OUST VETERANS OF HOLLYWOOD TEAM WHEN DADS CONSENT

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—Two "infants" of baseball have skipped several grades to become overnight sensations of the Pacific Coast league this season as members of the Hollywood club.

Bobby Doerr, second baseman and George Myatt, shortstop—so young their parents had to sign the contracts for them—ousted veterans to take over the regular positions of a class AA club.

Doerr, a Los Angeles boy, is 17 years old. He joined the team last year and although green and untried showed qualities of greatness.

Myatt, two years older than Doerr, joined the Stars this spring from a Huntington Park semi-pro team.

The pair make up the youngest double-play combination in the history of the league. It is a coincidence that Bill Lane, oldest of the club owners in point of years, should come up with the snappiest pair of "kids" in the circuit.

Brilliant fielding ability is not the only assets of the youths. Doerr was whacking the ball at the highly respected figure of 380 the first few

MARY PICKFORD QUILTS NEW ROAD SHOW PLAN

PORTLAND, Ore., May 30.—(AP)—The pressure of executive responsibilities in the producing end of motion pictures has forced Mary Pickford to terminate a newly launched stage career.

The actress made the announcement today as she arrived by plane from Hollywood. After five performances of "Coquette," she will close the stage show in Portland Saturday. The show opened in Seattle two weeks ago. Miss Pickford had planned a tour of several months in the Pacific northwest, the mountain states and in the south.
