NIGHT OF TERROR FOR REGION NEAR COLORADO SPRINGS

Communication lines were down. There is no nearby landing field for airplanes.

Known Dead Listed

The list of known dead in Colorado Springs this morning bore the names of:

Mrs. Emma B. Clark, 88, Colorado Springs.

Lee Cimino, 35, of Ivywood, a suburb.

Ten unidentified persons.

The missing are:

Mr. and Mrs. Herman M. Sweet and two daughters, of Ivywild.

Esther Towsley.

Mrs. Oscar White, 30.

Five of these included in Colorado's death toll were swept away in swollen streams in northeastern Colorado near Sterling last Sunday and Monday.

The last word from Kiowa, Colo., indicated about half of the town was under water.

At Elbert, a score of buildings — business establishments and residences—were reported washed down the torrents. Whether there has been any loss of life there remained undetermined early today.

Many May Not Be Found

An accurate estimate of the toll of life taken yesterday at Colorado Springs may never be possible, officers said, because of the unlikelihood that some, if any, of the bodies would be recovered.

The ravaged area here, embracing Monument Valley park, Dorchester park, hundreds of homes, railroad lines and business buildings, was under virtual martial law last night.

Only persons carrying police passes were permitted through patrol lines. Deputized citizens were busy halting attempts to loot homes.

Dot Wetmore, telephone operator at Elbert, sticking to her post as buildings and debris swirled by, said she was "afraid to say about people dying."

Asylum in Path

At Pueblo, where raging waters of the Arkansas river on June 3, 1921, drowned sixty persons and destroyed a considerable portion of the city, damage to an annex of the Colorado state hospital for the insane was estimated at more than $200,000 early this morning.

A large ward building at the hospital annex, was torn apart by the torrent and half of it carried away, only an hour after 54 patients had been removed from it to higher ground. Three residences of hospital attendants collapsed into the muddy water as the roaring flood ate away at Fountain creek's banks.

George Goyett, telephone "trouble shooter," returning from Elbert, estimated that 20 residences and business houses in that town had washed away.

He said it was reported there had been some loss of life but the reports were most indefinite. Two men, he said, still were stranded in trees along the creek bed, having caught the branches as a house where they had taken refuge was swept down stream.

Autos Washed Away

Mrs. Wetmore said she saw the faces of two persons at a window in a house as it rode down the swollen torrent. Several autos rolled along on the flood but it was not known whether any persons had been caught in them.

Two men who emerged from a house on West Kiowa street and another who lost his hold on a timber he was riding apparently went to their deaths.

William Linville said he saw two men pulled down by the swirling waters and a few moments later watched helplessly as the third man lost his hold on the log and fell beneath the surface.

Four rescue workers suffered shock and injuries and had to go to a hospital for treatment. They were Policemen Harold Greenhoe, and Capt. John Southcott, Oliver Dutcher and Pete Cramer, firemen.

Unnerved By Sights

Dutcher, unnerved from shock, was reported to be in the most serious condition of the four. "It was terrible to see so many people dying," he was quoted as telling hospital attendants.

Dutcher was rescued from a tree, in the branches of which water hurled him.

Ellen O'Connor, society editor of the Gazette, Colorado Springs' morning newspaper, was seriously injured after she and her mother, Mrs. Geraldine O'Connor, were trapped in their home.

The driver of a city grader carried Mrs. O'Connor to his vehicle, but when the daughter attempted to make her own way to safety, she was caught by raging waters and whirled against the blade of the grader.

James S. Ralston, 50, who was recovering from a fractured leg, managed to hoist himself into a tree when his automobile was washed away and was rescued.

Rides Log to Safety

Fred Whiteford clung to a log and floated nearly five miles before he was taken from the water. He suffered severe shock from the ordeal.

Caught when they sought to help others menaced by flood waters, Miss Betty Rogers of Orlando, Fla., and two friends, were carried some distances by the torrent, but were rescued.

At least sixteen persons, injured in the flood, were reported receiving treatment in hospitals here last night.

Little realizing the seriousness of the flood, a group of ten men, women and children climbed to the roof of a garage to gain a better view of the torrent.

Then realizing their danger, they managed to climb into nearby trees and then to a rooftop, where police and firemen rescued them.

CLIPPER PLANE SLATED MIDWAY ISLAND HOP FROM ALAMEDA, WORD

ALAMEDA, Calif., May 31.—(UP)—Pan-American Airways' four motored Clipper plane may pioneer the second leg of the company's projected trans-Pacific service within the next week, it was indicated today.

With the first round trip commercial flight of Alameda to Honolulu already to its credit, the plane is scheduled to fly next to Midway islands, 1200 miles northwest of Honolulu.

The plane, torn down for complete rechecking and conditioning after the Honolulu flight, was reported ready for another long distance hop. Mechanics were busy on the huge Sikorsky. It has concluded a protracted series of short test and exploratory flights in the San Francisco bay region, in which the radio directional beam equipment here and on the plane has been thoroughly tried out.

Company officials would give no official confirmation regarding starting date for the midway flight, explaining that formal announcement of the attempt probably would be made in New York.

CULINARY CRAFT....

By Estella Dorgan, Director, Home Service, the California Oregon Power Company

Strawberries—As You Like Them.

Aren't they about the best looking things you ever saw in the food market? Red and ripe and luscious they greet you with the coming of summer and strawberry short-cake will always be associated with the joys of June time in the minds of all West Coast people.

Estella Dorgan.

Truth to tell, there are two "parties" strong and determined, during this season; one believes that "short-cake" is and can only be the one and perfect biscuit foundation; the other serves the effeminate "sponge cake" with complete success in their camp. Well, however that may be, there is never dissension regarding the strawberries. They must be red all over, ripe and sweet all through, and "home-grown" for real flavor.

Strawberry-Mint Cocktail.

1 cup—
6 large berries, cut into slices
¼ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons powdered sugar
Sprig of fresh mint.

Slice the berries into the glass, sprinkle with powdered sugar. Put the sprig of mint on top of berries and place a large, perfect berry on top. Pour the juice over all and serve cold.

Strawberry-Banana Salad.

1 salad—
1 banana
6 berries
2 tablespoons powdered sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Water cress.

Cut the banana in fourths and remove part of the center. Place halves of strawberries along the center of banana and arrange on dish as spokes with a whole berry for the center. Sprinkle with sugar and lemon juice. Arrange the water cress (or celery leaves and parsley) between the sections of banana and serve with fruit juice or French dressing.

Custard Sundae.

6 eggs
½ cup sugar
1 qt. milk (scalded)
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla or lemon

Beat eggs slightly; add sugar, salt and scalded milk. Strain and pour into buttered baking molds. Bake at 325 degrees until knife blade cuts clean—(about 35 minutes). Unmold and when cold, cover with sweetened fresh berries. Top with a teaspoon of whipped cream and a bit of orange marmalade.

Ladies Salad.

1 helping—
1 slice pineapple
¼ cup strawberries (halved)
1 whole berry
1 tablespoon cream cheese
½ orange.
French dressing.

Arrange on lettuce leaf placing pineapple ring first. Fill center with softened cheese and place the whole berry in the center of the cheese. Then arrange four sections of orange around the cheese and the halves of strawberries around the orange circle. Chill thoroughly and serve with French dressing.

Strawberry Chantilly.

1 box of strawberries
2 egg whites
5 tablespoons powdered sugar
1 tablespoon sherry flavoring

Wash and stem berries, then cut in halves and sprinkle with the sugar. Chill thoroughly. Beat whites until stiff, then add 5 tablespoons of powdered sugar and beat well. Sprinkle sherry flavoring over berries and then mix them with the beaten whites. Pile in parfait glasses and serve very cold. Garnish with a whole berry.

Strawberry Mallow.

20 marshmallows
1 tablespoon orange juice
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup crushed berries
1 cup whipping cream.

Mix crushed berries with sugar and juice and let stand one-half hour. Steam marshmallows and water in double boiler, then add prepared berries and pour into flat dish to cool. When cold, and slightly stiffened, combine very carefully with cream which has been whipped until stiff. Pile in glasses and serve chilled.

Shortcake (Biscuit)

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder (double acting) or (4 teaspoons tartrate baking powder)
½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar
3 tablespoons butter
¾ cups milk.

30,000 Scouts Will Be Camped at the Nation's Capital for Ten Days to Celebrate the 25th Anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America

Norman Rockwell, famous artist designed the official poster shown above for the Boy Scout Jamboree, August 21-30, when 30,000 Boy Scouts will encamp in Washington, D. C., in the greatest gathering of boyhood which has ever taken place in America.

Rockwell has caught the thrill of this great national event with the clarion call "On to Washington," addressed to the one million scouts and scout leaders of America. It is not surprising that he should have approached the subject sympathetically, for Rockwell, earning today a king's ransom by his brush, began his artistic career as a "cub" artist more than 20 years ago on Boys' Life, the magazine for all boys, published by the Boy Scouts of America.

The central figure of the poster is a smiling Boy Scout, his hand beckoning. Above the scout's head is the slogan "On to Washington," and the dates of the Jamboree. The background discloses a line of tents symbolic of the great canvas city which will rise at the nation's capital. An American eagle bespeaks the national character of the event and in the further background the national capitol epitomizes American citizenship, the underlying theme of the Jamboree. To the scout's left is the Jamboree emblem, soon to be a familiar sight on scout uniforms in thousands of cities and villages. President Roosevelt, honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America, who will participate in the Jamboree, will receive one of these emblems. The symbol is a multi-pointed compass whose north point is the Tenderfoot badge of the scout movement.

ESTIMATE 20,000 TOLL IN QUETTA; VILLAGES RAZED

thickly populated native districts, were destroyed by the shocks.

Previous reports that railways suffered heavy damage later were believed to have been incorrect, as it was said relief supplies and workers were able to penetrate the quake-hit sections. The Punjab government was active in recruiting physicians and nurses.

A brief message by wireless, the only means of communication, said that relief work had been started at Quetta with hospitals and camps set up on a race course and the grounds of the residency. Supplies were said to be sufficient for the present.

Ask Medical Aid

Sir Norman Carter, the agent of the governor general, sent through a short message to Simla, confirming the intensity of the earthquake and made an urgent request that physicians and nurses be rushed.

The quake jarred the northern frontier of India at 3 a. m., wreaking its havoc in about one minute.

The province of Baluchistan, populated by about 868,000 persons, was hardest hit. Unofficial reports said that in one village of the province, Mastung, with its 4,000 persons, suffered a loss of 80 per cent of its inhabitants.

Police Suffer Heavily

An official report said:

"Many casualties are feared to have occurred among the subordinate civil and police officers. The police force was almost wiped out. No railway officers were killed but heavy casualties were feared among the subordinate personnel."

The terrified people, those who escaped injury, spent the remainder of the hours before dawn in the open, after they were routed from their beds. Among these were the residents of Larkana, Shikarpur and Ratadero.
