

Cougars Score One-Point Win Over Oregon for Northwest Title

BENKE'S VICTORY IN RELAY CLIPS WEBFEET CHANCE

Shoemaker Sets New Marks — Washington Third — Oregon Holds Lead Most of Hectic Track Meet

WASHINGTON STADIUM, Seattle, June 1.—(AP)—Two conference records fell and another one was tied as the cinder artists of Washington State college thundered their way to the northern division Pacific coast conference track and field title today.

Overcoming a lead that the Webfoots of Oregon had held most of the afternoon, the Cougars finished up with a one-point margin, amassing 50 1/2 points to Oregon's 49 1/2. Washington finished in third place with 42 1/2 points and Oregon State, Idaho and Montana were far behind with 12 1/2, 6 1/2 and 3 1/2, respectively.

Stocky, blond Bill Benke stole the show and grabbed the title for the Cougars. Setting up a new mark in the 220-yard low hurdles and coming within an inch and a half of the broad jump record, Benke took the baton in the anchor lap of the relay some ten yards in back of Angle of Washington, closed the gap on his way into the home stretch and slammed into the tape four yards to the good.

A win in the relay would have given the Webfoots the team title, and second place would have given them a tie with the Cougars, but both Benke and Angle had too much power, and Patterson, Oregon anchor man, pulled past the finish line in third place.

Rud Shoemaker, Oregon sprint star, struck his way to new records in both the century and the 220, being clocked in 9 3/4 seconds in the 100-yard dash, a tenth of a second better than the mark he set up last year, and crashing the tape for a mark of 31.2 in the furlong, four-tenths of a second faster than the previous record, established last year by Pedan of Montana, who could do no better than fourth this year.

Benke stepped the low barriers in 23 1/2 seconds for the Cougars, tying the 220-yard low hurdles record established in 1929 by Steve Anderson of Washington, and then topped the day's broadjumpers with a leap of 23 feet 8 1/2 inches.

Carrier of Washington State, mile champion last year, had to be satisfied with second place today, bowing to Angle of Washington. Big George Theodoratus, giant Washington State weight man, kept one title and lost another. The huge Cougar star retained the shotput championship he won last year, but was able to take only third place in the discus, giving way to Scheyer and Dunker, teammates. Scheyer won the event with a toss of 150 feet 4 inches.

Janak and Belp of Oregon topped the pole vault division, tying for first place at 12 feet 6 inches, while four other contestants came out all even for third place.

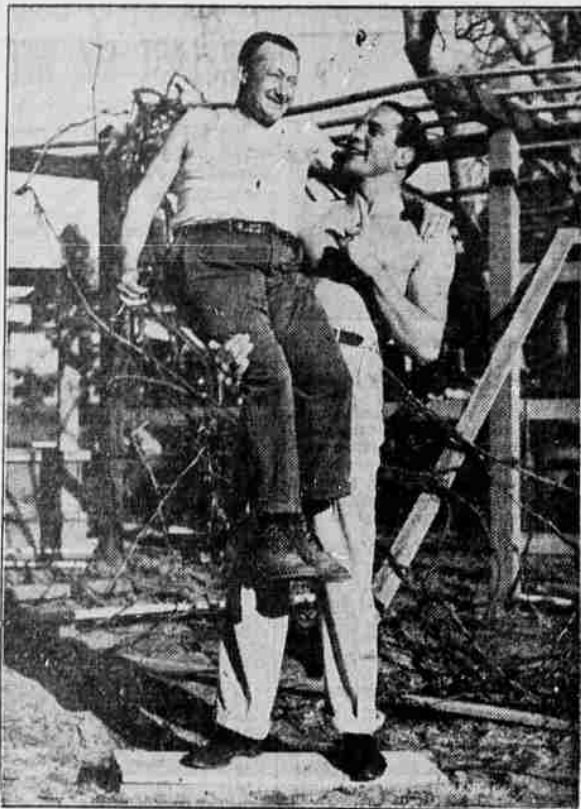

College Baseball

EUGENE, Ore., June 1.—(AP)—University of Oregon won the northern division coast conference baseball championship for the second consecutive year by winning its season today with a 6-to-3 win over Oregon State college.

The championship was a fitting last gift by the Webfoot players to Coach Bill Reinhart, who goes next fall to George Washington university as head basketball coach and an assistant football coach.

PULLMAN, Wash., June 1.—(AP)—The University of Washington defeated Washington State college, 4 to 2, to make a clean sweep of their four-games baseball series and close their conference season here today.

COLLEGIANS FACE WILD MEANIES ON THURSDAY'S CARD

Wrestling fans who like plenty of fireworks, speed and science, all thrown in together on one card, may sit back in utmost contentment this week with prospects of the best all-around smasher and sneer program Promoter Mack Lillard has yet secured for the Army mat.

Three bouts are scheduled, instead of two, and in the limelight for the main event of the evening is none other than the old Masked Marvel himself, who returns to the Medford ring for a one hour or two-out-of-three fall bout with Joe Hubka, popular Cornhusker from University of Nebraska.

Neither of these two tendon-twisters, one of them a deep-eyed villain, and the other the most popular grappler ever brought to Medford, need an introduction to Medford fans. The Marvel once started a chair-heaving riot at the Army mat with his unorthodox grappling, and one reason why he hasn't been seen around Medford recently is that he has for the past two or three months been recovering from a head injury received in a recent bout at Seattle when he was hit on the cranium by a seat thrown into the ring.

This match will probably be Joe Hubka's toughest in Medford, but the young Cornhusker is ready and waiting to tie the mysterious meanie into knots. Hubka is counting on his educated iron legs to do the trick.

A highly touted newcomer, Johnnie McWood, former football star at U. C. L. A., where he played varsity ball for three years, will appear in the semi-final bout against Tony Catalino, roughneck Italian.

McWood, who weighs about 212, likes his matches clean, but is going to get rough treatment whether he likes it or not when he meets Catalino, who knows no scruples. McWood has been in southern Oregon for the past several days, visiting at his cousin's ranch, the W. E. Hammett turkey ranch on the Crater Lake highway, and getting into shape for his bout. Many local fans will probably remember the football game between U. C. L. A. and University of Oregon at Portland in 1932, when McWood played against Bill Bowerman, Bill Morgan and Bernie Hughes. The McWood-Catalino bout will go 45 minutes or two out of three falls.

LITHIANS, ROGUES TO CLASH TODAY AT FAIRGROUNDS

The Ashland Lithians, irked by Medford Rogues protests at playing on the Ashland "bill-box" field, come to Medford today in an attempt to dynamite the Rogues off the advantage line with no one.

To date the Rogues have not taken a single league game, although they looked particularly impressive in their 10-0 win over the highly rated Gilmore Lions on Memorial day. What they will be able to do without the assistance of "Chief" McLean is still an uncertainty.

However, the Rogues feel, McLean will be able to more than hold up his end of the battle. He pitched the game in Ashland on May 12, and would have turned in a fine record had it not been for the close fence, Hofferf stated today. He will hit on the mound today, and the local fans hope only that he pitches as good a game as he did Thursday, despite the lopsided score against him.

The only other change in the Medford lineup will see Cavello at short in place of Woodyard, who has announced his intention of departing for Coquille to play with that club. Cavello has had experience with the Indianapolis team and is a graduate of Notre Dame.

The game will start promptly at 2:30. Home portraits of family groups and children at Special Prices. Shangle Studio Phone 1308. Have your fountain pen repaired at Elliott's, 116 N. Central.

as mistress of ceremonies, and introduced the school coach, Bob Young. He in turn, introduced members of the different teams and presented them with their athletic emblems. He also expressed his thanks for the cooperation and sportsmanship of those boys who did not receive their letters.

JOHNSON RETAINS HITTING HONORS

CHICAGO, June 1.—(AP)—Bob Johnson, latest of the line of Philadelphia sluggers, shows no signs of relinquishing the bulk of American league batting honors, what with a little co-operation from his rivals.

Johnson lost 17 points last week, his average dropping to a mere .404, but wound up with a bigger margin over the field than he had a week ago after a gain of 30 points, figures, which include Friday's games, show today. Gerald Walker of Detroit, runnerup to Johnson last week, dropped to seventh place and Rolfe Hensley of the Browns, who showed one of the few big gains, was 52 points behind Johnson with .352.

The pace-maker also remained out in front in hits, collecting 12 for a total of 57, and supplanting Zeke Bonura of Chicago, as the scoring leader, by boosting his run total to 31.
