

WIMER FIRE TRAIL MAKING SPEED BY NEW MACHINE

CAMP WIMER, June 6.—(Sp.)—Work progress on the Wimer fire patrol communication system leaped forward here this week with the arrival of a new 55-horsepower bulldozer sent out by J. J. Russell to speed up road work. There are now three bulldozers at work on truck trails connecting Battle Mountain, King Mountain and Sexton Mountain lookout stations. By running two and three shifts to the machine, Wimer's technical department is getting about 240 machine hours a week of gouging at the rocky hillides in the Gold Creek district. Russell will add a compressor to the machinery in a short time and Jackhammers will take the place of hand drills now being used.

In military terms, the Wimer campaign might be said to be three simultaneous advances toward distinct objectives with the strategic object of cutting three broad trunk lines into the heavily wooded hills. When these three objectives are reached, probably before the fall rains, northern Jackson county's forest fire enemy will be at bay. Loops and side roads connecting the main arteries will then be built to permanently muzzle Oregon's ancient foe in this section.

Caterpillar No. 1 is moving up Ditch creek toward King mountain under the direction of P. D. Coy, with about 11 miles of road yet to build. No. 2 under Ray McCoy is advancing toward Battle mountain summit with about three and one-half miles yet to go. The third caterpillar is cutting road up Jack creek about four miles below the Daisy mine. The Jack creek road will ultimately connect with the King mountain road.

Bill White has completed temporary telephone stations connecting the three lookout stations. His work in telephone construction from now on will be the occasional moving of old lines to parallel the new roads as they are completed.

Two permanent crews will be organized from Wimer members before the first of July to hold themselves in readiness to fight 1935 summer fires. Sixteen men will be attached to Dwight Phipps' Medford state patrol headquarters and eight more under Warden Smith will stand by for service as smoke chasers in the Jack Creek side camp. Replacements to bring Capt. Guy W. Saunders' company to full strength are expected by the end of June.

BLAZE DESTROYS CENTRAL PT. BARN

Fire, believed started from a grass fire in the vicinity earlier in the afternoon, yesterday destroyed a barn near the Harry Young residence in Central Point, at an estimated loss of $100. Just before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, it also burned part of the Young garage and several other nearby buildings, making a total loss of approximately $200, before being brought under control by the work of the Central Point fire department.

MISS OELRICHS WEDS MUSICIAN

NEW YORK, June 6.—(AP)—Piano-playing Eddie Duchin, the dance band maestro, was honeymooning today with the socially prominent Marjorie Oelrichs, his erstwhile piano pupil.

They were married yesterday despite a recent public declaration by the 26-year-old musician that he was a confirmed bachelor and his bride's one-time praise of European men.

THE GRANGE

The Hoxy Ann Grange will hold its regular meeting Friday night, June 7. The lecture hour will begin promptly at 8 p. m., with a speaker from the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce to deliver the address. A good attendance is requested.

On Saturday night, June 8, the regular grange dance will be held, with the music by the Medford Junior high school orchestra. Refreshments will be served by the ladies home economic club.

Capt. Bourn Witness In Urchel Kidnap

Capt. Lee M. Bourn of the state police, called to Oklawaha City on a federal subpoena to appear as a witness in the Urchel kidnaping case, left early this morning for Duranville, Cal., where he took the train for that city.

During the captain's absence, the local state police headquarters will be in charge of Lieut. A. G. Dunn.

DEATH TOLL MOUNTS IN FLOOD, TORNADO AREA

Nearly 200 persons were believed to have been killed in tornadoes and floods in Nebraska and Kansas and an undetermined number made homeless. At left are two views of damage done by wind near Corbin, Kas., and (top right) a rescue crew landing a boatload of flood victims marooned at a mill near Arapahoe, Neb., for two days. ### BILLIE DOVE MOST BEAUTIFUL AVERS CAMERA VETERAN

By ALAN McELWAIN (United Press Staff Correspondent) HOLLYWOOD.—(UP)—Bert Longworth, to whom a beautiful woman is something to photograph, flicked the ash off his cigar and remarked that Garbo is not beautiful. What's more, she's not even among the 10 most beautiful actresses.

Longworth should know; he photographed her back in 1925 when Greta Garbo was making her second American picture.

"Garbo is the most intelligent actress I know in posing for photographs, but she is not beautiful," declared Longworth.

"As for beauty, here's how I would rate them: 'Billie Dove is the most beautiful actress I ever have seen. 'Kay Francis has the most beautiful profile. 'Clara Bow, in her time, not only was ravishingly beautiful, but had the most 'sex appeal.' 'Miriam Hopkins has the most 'sex appeal' today. 'Marlene Dietrich has the most beautiful figure, in the photographic sense, because of her symmetrical legs. Bust and hips are covered in photography."

"Dojores Del Rio is the greatest combination of facial and physical beauty of all the stars today. If I had to make a composite photograph of all the beautiful women in pictures, I think Miss Del Rio would most closely resemble the composite ideal."

JOE WILSON FINED ON MINOR AUTO CHARGES

Joe Wilson of this city, was fined $5 and costs on each of two justice court charges of minor violations of auto laws, growing out of the auto accident on the Jacksonville highway two weeks ago, that resulted in the death of Francis Frayer, 12 year old boy bicyclist. The grand jury Tuesday returned a not true bill against

HISTORY ESSAY PRIZE WINNERS ANNOUNCED

PORTLAND, June 6.—(UP)—Robert Grim, 16-year-old student at Lincoln high of Portland, was awarded first prize of $50 in the 1935 history prize essay contest for the C. C. Beckman awards. Topic this year was Marcus Whitman.

Other winners included: Eunice Edwards, 16, Cottage Grove, second; Jean Charlotte Pratt, 17, Baker, third; Maurice Edward Moore, 17, Crook county high school, fourth.

In announcing the awards, judges criticized Oregon schools for apparently failing to emphasize the importance of Oregon history.

OPEN ROSE SHOW WITH CORONATION OF QUEEN IRENE

(Continued from Page One) will witness the official opening at 1 p. m. when the wonders of the rose show will be unfolded at the rose show in the municipal auditorium.

The hundreds of varieties of roses will remain there, but the throngs will hasten to the stadium and witness the coronation of Queen Irene who will rule Rosaria with her royal scepter.

The queen elect is Irene Hegeberg, Jefferson high beauty who was chosen from a court of princesses to rule the 18th pageant of roses.

A bright sun with no hints of clouds smiled down on the festival and made the gracious roses a welcome and refreshing sight to the persons who came from far and near to witness Portland's most auspicious event of the year.

Mayor Joseph Carson himself will present the sceptre of Rosaria to Queen Irene, giving her the authority to rule Portland for three days.

FIRST IRRIGATION BY STORED WATER FOUND NECESSARY

Use of irrigation storage water—the first of the season—was started today in the Medford district, and the Rogue river valley district, according to Glen Arnsperger, general manager of the Medford district.

Hot weather of the past four days has lessened the flow in creeks, and caused orchardists to request storage water for irrigation and use in spray schedule operations.

"In the Medford district the water users have been placed on an eight-inch quota for the season," Manager Arnsperger stated. "This means they will receive for the season sufficient water to cover their places to a depth of eight inches."

"A week ago we began using waste water in the creeks for irrigation," said Arnsperger. "In the past five days the flow has ebbed and we had to start using storage water."

The Fish lake storage amounts to an estimated 6500 acre-feet, and Four Mile lake an estimated 9000 acre-feet, Arnsperger stated. "This is practically the same as last year. The two lakes are the supply source of the Medford and Rogue River districts."

At the Emigrant dam reservoir, it is estimated there are 7500 acre-feet of water, and at Hiatt Prairie 8500 acre-feet. They are the source of supply of the Talent district.

STERLING MINES NEWLY EQUIPPED; TO OPERATE SOON

(Continued from Page One) in gold-bearing gravel, lack of water has ruled that the ground be worked only intermittently. The new concentrator, working on a 3000-yard daily basis, requires little water and is designed for year round duty at the Sterling mine. For the past several months 35 men have been laboring in double shifts to get the mine started, but the night crew was stopped Tuesday night, McCormick stated.

When active operations begin, between 60 and 75 men will be working in three shifts, giving 24-hour operation. The hydraulic system, employing the 30 miles of ditch from the upper Applegate river used in the early days of the mine, is again being used, and will continue in operation as long as it proves to be a paying proposition, McCormick stated, employing between nine and fifteen men on the work alone. In the old hydraulic operations a "cleanup" of $125,000 was made at one time. The company controls 2000 acres for seven and a half miles along Sterling creek, and working plans call for cutting away the "face" for at least three miles. At present, the gravel will be scooped up with power shovels and carried by truck to the concentrator, but some time in the future it is planned to install a standard gauge railroad for that purpose.

D. Ford McCormick has lived in Medford with his family for the past two years, establishing a title for the company. Besides heading the work here, he is consulting engineer for large clay refining mines and operations in Virginia and Georgia. He has been in charge of operations for the Quercus corporation in Coasta Rica, Cuba and Mexico.
