JACKSONVILLE TO ENJOY SUPPLY OF EXCELLENT WATER

Peculiar drinking water of sea-green color and doubtful taste will soon give way at Jacksonville to a sparkling clear liquid as pure and sweet as Medford's own, according to D. T. McDonough, engineer in charge of building a new municipal water system there, under a PWA grant of $18,000.

Contracts for the laying of 1,330 lineal feet of eight inch steel pipe, 3,560 feet of six inch pipe and the drilling of a six by four foot tunnel through the rock for 200 feet, will be let June 27, McDonough stated.

For years the city of Jacksonville has drawn its water from springs in a canyon several miles above the city. This water was held in a storage tank in the canyon, and drawn off through wooden pipes into a smaller reservoir just above the city. This wooden line will be replaced with steel pipe, and the upper storage tank will be cut out entirely, as far as the drinking supply is concerned, but the tank will be kept full for a reserve supply in case of a severe fire.

The upper end of the canyon is crossed with a geological formation of stone, known as a cut-off wall, holding back vast supplies of water. The 200 feet of tunnel will cut this retaining wall and tap a huge surplus, an estimate showing that 600,000 gallons daily will be available, enough to supply 300 gallons to 2,000 inhabitants.

Test pits driven 185 feet into the rock wall have proven the practicability of the tunnel system, and an analysis shows the water to be as pure, if not purer than the Medford supply.

Driving of the tunnel is expected to take approximately two months, and the new system will be supplying water to Jacksonville before September first, McDonough said.

FARM BOY DROWNS SWIMMING ALONE IN OLD MINE POOL

The body of Lewis L. Meek, 18, Forest Creek ranch boy, was recovered from an abandoned mining reservoir near his home about 7:30 o'clock Friday night, approximately six hours after he was drowned while swimming.

After a swimming trip the previous day with several companions, Meek returned Friday alone to the pool, located near Forest creek two miles from the Jacksonville-Ruch highway. He evidently attempted to swim across the 75-foot stretch of water. His body was found 20 feet from the shore after the water had been drained.

Martin Pierce, son of Paul Pierce who owns the reservoir, went to the scene about 4 o'clock, discovering Meek's clothing on the bank. Young Pierce returned to the Meek home and notified members of the family that Lewis had disappeared. State police and Deputy Coroner Herb Brown were called.

The family came here in December, 1934, from Bend, Ore. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Meek, he leaves two brothers and two sisters: Marvin and Carl, Mabel and Daphney Meek, all at home.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. W. R. Baird at the Conger chapel at 3:30 Sunday. Interment will be in the Medford I. O. O. F. cemetery.

HEART ATTACK ON ROAD IS FATAL

George H. Adamson, 61, of Eagle Point dropped dead about 8:30 Friday night while he was leading two cows along the Brownsboro road one mile east of Eagle Point. Death is thought to have been caused by heart failure.

Adamson was leading two cows, followed by Hattie Howlett and her mother, Mrs. Sarah Howlett, both of Eagle Point, who were driving a car a short distance behind. They said Adamson suddenly lurched forward on his face nd was dead within a few minutes. Neighbors said he had been subject to apparent heart attacks for some time. The body was brought to Medford by County Coroner Frank Perl.

Adamson, who had been employed during the day by Frank Cingcade of Eagle Point, had been a resident of the district for four years.

Seven children survive: Ella Painter, Kelso, Wash.; Lula Taylor, Oren R. Adamson and Florence Curtis, all of Eagle Point; Gertrude Adamson and May Curtis of Tacoma, Wash., and Lloyd Adamson, Kelso, Wash.

Funeral services will be held at the church at Trail at 2 p. m. Tuesday. Interment at Trail cemetery. Conger Funeral Parlors in charge.

Parks Jr., Wins National Open Golf Title in Rain

THOMPSON TOSSES OFF LEAD, HAGEN PUTS UP BATTLE

Pittsburgh Pro Springs Upset By Thrilling Victory—Favorites Falter At Finish

OAKMONT COUNTRY CLUB, PITTSBURGH, June 8.—(AP)—The home town boy made good today as Samuel Parks, Jr., youthful Pittsburgh professional, came from behind to conquer America's foremost shotmakers and capture the national open golf championship in a stumbling, rain-soaked finish to the celebrated "Battle of Oakmont."

Never before a winner in any major tournament, only four years out of the University of Pittsburgh, where he captained the golf team and only two weeks short of his 26th birthday, Parks pulled the biggest surprise victory since Johnny Goodman, the Omaha amateur, walloped off with the crown three years ago.

The only player in the all-star field to crack 300 on Oakmont's terrifying, storm-tossed layout, Parks posted successive rounds of 77, 73, 73, 76 for an aggregate of 299 for the 72-hole route. He won by two strokes from Jimmy Thompson, the California "siege gun," who twice tossed away a four-strike leaders over the home-town favorite and took part in a general blow-up in the stretch. Thompson finished second with rounds of 73, 73, 77 and 78 for a total of 301 as he allowed one of the best championship chances in his career to slip away from him.

Thompson three-putted two of the last three greens, the 16th and 18th as he lost his final opportunity to overhaul his Pittsburgh rival in the day's most exciting finishing duel.

Such drama as there was, however, in an otherwise dismal finish was furnished by none other than the 42-year-old former champion, Walter Hagen. While the other favorites faltered and fumbled throughout the final round, the old master gave a gallery of upwards of 7500 spectators the day's biggest thrill as he gallantly tried to overhaul the new champion. The "Haig" staggered and lost control of himself finally but he rallied at the last to come within a 78 for an aggregate of 302 and third place.

Hagen started the final 36 holes three strokes behind Parks. He still trailed by three strokes as he matched the Pittsburgher's morning round 73. He made up this deficit with one to spare as he started with even fours for the first four holes of the final round but he skidded into a pair of fives on two comparatively easy holes and it was again an uphill struggle. Out in 37, even par, Hagen had sliced Parks' margin to two shots. Par over the last nine would have given trumps to the old master but he wasn't equal to it in the rain and with the strain beginning to tell.

Quickly his chances faded as he lost four strokes to par and Parks on as many holes of the incoming nine. As a parting gesture, he bagged a birdie on No. 17 save third place and a bigger "cut" in prize money. He got the day's biggest ovation from the crowd.

MRS. MOODY SHOWS OLD TENNIS FORM

WEYBRIDGE, Eng., June 8.—(AP)—Betting commissioners, who a week ago were offering 4 to 1 against Mrs. Helen Wills Moody's chance at Wimbledon, cut their odds to 2 to 1 today after watching her defeat Mrs. Elsie Goldsack Pittman in the final round of the St. George's Hill tournament, 6-0, 6-4.

Dorothy Round, top-ranking British star, remained her Wimbledon favorite at 11 to 8 with Helen Jacobs, American champion, held at 2 to 1 along with Mrs. Moody.

Returning to competition in the St. George's tournament for the first time since a back injury forced her to default to Miss Jacobs in the American championships two years ago, Mrs. Moody reached the peak of her form in the first set of her match with Mrs. Pittman. Her forehand drives into the back corners had the English star on the defensive from the outset.

Once in command, the Californian seldom bothered even to run after her rival's best returns. Perhaps half of the points Mrs. Pittman won were on placements which Mrs. Moody made no real effort to reach.

MASKED GRAPPLER AND CATALINO TO TANGLE THURSDAY

Kazanjian, Ex-Stanford Star, And Wolfgang Also Billed By Mack Lillard To Appear.

One roughneck in a wrestling match may be what the fans like, but when two are pitted together the result is bound to go over big, and that's the lineup Promoter Mack Lillard has for the main event of the triple-deck card scheduled for next Thursday night, he announced last night, after completing arrangements with Masked Marvel, the hooded horror, to tussle with Tony Catalino, the big butter and egg man from Italy.

Lillard said he is proud to announce this match and figures that, as the fans seem to like their wrestling gory, he is going to give it to them that way. The result will probably be the roughest, toughest one hour, or two out of three falls, of muscle mangling ever scheduled here.

To bring matters to a peak, the Marvel and Catalino recently wrestled in Klamath Falls, and in a hectic session of unorthodox matwork, the hooded one came out winner, leaving Catalino in no sweet frame of mind. The bellicose Italian claims he will turn the tables on the Masked Marvel this time, so woe be it for the mysterious meanie.

There will be no national guardsmen present this time to come to the rescue in any possible mobbing, but the promoter has asked for special police protection. The national guard are at camp at Fort Lewis this week. Lillard is also taking precautions by lining up a relief referee in case the first one is taken for a ride by the man-monsters.

Casey Kazanjian, 220-pound former Stanford athlete, who is rated one of the speediest, cleanest grapplers in the northwest today, is billed for an appearance in the 45-minute semi-final, and the promoter is looking for a suitable opponent.

Floyd Wolfgang, popular middleweight, will have a berth in the opening tussle with an opponent unsecured as yet.

SIMMONS BOYS IN HANDICAP FINALS

Brother will meet brother, in the 36-hole finals of the annual Spring Handicap tournament slated today at Rogue Volley course. It was determined Saturday when Bud Simmons won a 5 and 3 victory over Mark Miller earning the right to battle the other Simmons boy, Eddie, for possession of the silver championship trophy.

The tee-offs are scheduled for 9 a. m. on the first 18 and 1 p. m. on the second 18, and from all indications a large gallery should be on hand to see Mrs. Simmons' boys bring home the bacon. Ed, southern Oregon champion last year, will give his brother eight strokes and the dope says that it is anybody's match.

Mark Miller played Bud yesterday in the semi-final clash with his knees still wobbly from a recent auto accident, and that may have been responsible for his defeat. Bud gave him seven strokes.

The match was nip and tuck at first, but Bud leveled out and was one up and going strong at the turn, playing an exceptionally good approach game. The match ended when Simmons dropped an approach shot from the edge of the green on No. 13 for a birdie three. Bud was out in 42 and Miller in 49.

Bud Simmons was once in the professional ranks, and in order to reinstate himself as an amateur, has laid off for some time, returning to the greens and fairways apparently with a bang.

YANKEES DIVIDE BOSTON BATTLES

BOSTON, June 8.—(AP)—The Yankees slugged Wes Ferrell and three successors for a 12 to 6 triumph today in the first half of a doubleheader played before a crowd of 22,000 but Fritz Ostermueller outpointed Vernon Gomes 4 to 2 in a left handed pitching duel and the Red Sox got an even break for the day.

Lou Gehrig, played his 1559th consecutive big league game today, nearly had his record broken when he collided with Carl Reynolds in the first inning of the opener when he dived for a wild peg by Bill Dickey. He injured his right shoulder in the plunge and rested five minutes before returning to action to take an important part in the Yankee slugging. He finally gave up his place to Jack Saltzgaver in the seventh but played all through the second contest.

First game:	R.	H.	E.
New York	12	14	2
Boston	6	11	2

Allen, Brown, Malone and Dickey; W. Ferrell, Hockette, Vandenberg, Walberg, Berg, and R. Ferrell.

Second game:	R.	H.	E.
New York	2	6	0
Boston	4	7	0

Gomes and Jorgens; Ostermueller and R. Ferrell.

CLEVELAND, June 8.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians scored a 3 to 2 victory today over the St. Louis Browns before a crowd of approximately 5,000 persons. Tribe officials said the attendance was "normal" in view of the chilly weather, and despite the reported hostility of local fandom as a result of the Walter Johnson-Willie Kam-Glenn Myatt controversy on the road trip from which the Indians returned yesterday.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	2	7	0
Cleveland	3	8	1

Cain, Walkup, Vanatta, and Hemsley; Harder and Pytlak.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—Pushing across three runs in the ninth inning, the Philadelphia Athletics today handed the Washington Senators a 4 to 3 defeat in the first game of a rain-delayed doubleheader.

First game:	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	4	11	3
Washington	3	9	1

Mahaffey, Benton, and Berry, Richards; Hadley, Pettit, and Bolton.

CHICAGO, June 8.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox won their second straight victory of the series over Detroit today, 3 to 2, with home runs playing a part in all the scoring. Sewell and Radcliff hit homers for the Sox, while Owen and Greenberg got one each for Detroit. Vernon Kennedy, recruit righthander, held the Tigers to five hits.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	2	5	0
Chicago	3	9	1

Auker, Rowe and Cochrane; Kennedy and Sewell.

MEDFORD PLAYS PELICANS TODAY

Gazing upward from their strong position in the Southern Oregon league cellar, the Medford Rogues today experience the to-them-unpleasant sight of Clyde Carlstrom, league leading twirler, at Klamath Falls.

To date the Rogues have taken only one game, that from Ashland a week ago, and Klamath has taken four out of five starts. The chances don't look too good for the locals, but Rogue enthusiasts still believe they have the punch if the team will just click all together for once, instead of in sections as has been the rule. Lockwood, the lad with the peculiar halting delivery, dear to the Rogue eye for having taken his only game, will probably start on the mountain for Medford.

The Klamath Red Sox boast three heavy timber artists who are hitting over .400, Wheeler, Martin and Bernadou, while Medford can place only one in that category, the grand-old-man, Paul Hoffard, player-manager.

Wimer Tigers Win

The Wimer Tigers nosed out CCC Headquarters Detachment in a slugging match at the fairgrounds yesterday by a score of 21 to 20. Headquarters pitched every man on the team but the bat boy who had a sore hand. A ninth inning rally by Headquarters netted six runs, one short of the number needed to tie the score.

The score:	R.	H.	E.
Wimer	21	27	4
Headquarters	20	28	3
