ARMY OFFERING FOREIGN SERVICE

The United States Army Recruiting Office in Portland is adding impetus to the recruiting campaign now in progress in order to fill all its foreign service vacancies before end of the fiscal year now rapidly drawing to a close, according to Major H. D. Bagnall, Army recruiting officer in charge of the Portland recruiting district of which Medford is a part.

Foreign service vacancies for the Hawaiian Islands offer an unusually interesting assignment in the many branches available, including infantry, coast artillery, quartermaster corps, engineers, and medical department, while for the Philippine Islands, vacancies are available for the coast artillery and chemical warfare service.

In view of the limited time remaining, no reservations are being made in these vacancies, and interested young men should contact Sergeant Kleinschmidt, at the Army Recruiting Station in the City Hall, Medford, while there still remains time.

There are also vacancies available for previous service men only in the coast artillery, at Fort Worden, Washington.

What the Girl Scouts Are Doing

Several week end camping tours are culminating Girl Scout activities for the summer. Although a few of the troops are planning meetings.

The first class girls of troop 6 enjoyed a two night camp at the Root cabin on the Rogue. The following girls with their lieutenant, Marian Moore, made the trip: Vera Wutetu, Nola Harwood, Corinne Harwood, Olive Elridge and Rhea Anderson.

The girls of troop 6 are holding semi-monthly meetings during the summer, meeting Tuesday morning from 9:30 to 11, and working on items of special interest to girls.

Mrs. Van Valzah's troop is meeting during the remainder of June and is working on scrap books.

Mrs. Frank Grey is taking troop 2 on an over-night trip to Mrs. White's summer cabin on Wagner creek.

Girl Scouts of troop 7 spent their annual overnight trip in Mrs. Root's cabin at Peter Pan on the Rogue river. Following is one of the scouts' report of this trip:

"We left Wednesday morning from the Washington school. Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. D'Albini took all of us in their cars. Ruth Clark and Mona Hedges followed in their car with the food and most of the bed rolls. We girls arrived at Mrs. Root's cabin in due time. Owing to a flat tire our lieutenants did not arrive with our lunches and bed rolls until past noon.

"The afternoon passed quickly with bed making, rest hour and swimming. We swam Elk creek. The water was very cold so we did not stay in long. After swimming we all had milk and graham crackers. After a filling and satisfying supper we had a camp-fire program. Each patrol gave a skit and then we sang songs. At the conclusion of the evening we toasted marshmallows.

"A few girls slept in the cabin and the rest of us slept outdoors. Breakfast came at 8:30. After K. P. duty we went for a short walk up Elk creek. In the afternoon our leaders laid a treasure hunt. The trail led up hills, over logs and one clue was even on the dock. The treasure when found was composed of lollipops and candy sticks.

"Soon after supper one car of girls left for home. Those of us who were left made fudge and then departed for our own homes.

"The leaders who accompanied us were Captain Lillian Humphrey, Mrs. Smith, Mona Hedges and Ruth Clark. The girls who enjoyed this outing were: Elsie Older, Mary Elizabeth Clark, Clavas Fornier, Polly Dean, Helen Rammin, Norma Dillworth, Shirley Lawrence, Nona Heyland, Melina Persons, Dorothy Stubblefield, Phyllis Cleven, Opal Benbow, Jean Smith, Beverly Smith, Darleen Scott, and Corinne D'Albini."

The final meeting before summer will be held Monday evening at Captain Humphrey's home on West Main. The time is 7:30. This meeting is to invest some girls in the Girl Scout organization. All members of the troop are to be present. A party with refreshments has been promised after ingestiture.

Activities of Legion Auxiliary

The last business meeting held in the Eagles Hall, was very well attended. After considerable business the meeting was adjourned and the ladies joined the men in seeing some clever entertainment furnished by Johnnie Eads, a young magician. He had several very clever acts and was well received by all. Following this dancing was enjoyed and refreshments served at a late hour.

The bridge party held at the home of Mrs. Fluhrer, on Wellington Heights, last Wednesday evening, was a delightful affair, thirteen tables being in play. After the awarding of prizes refreshments were served.

Monday evening, June 10, there will be a social meeting in the club rooms in the Eagles hall. The meeting will be devoted to Fidac and special entertainment has been arranged.

East Side Circle To Meet Wednesday

ADVERTISING MAIL RULES TO CHANGE

Amendments recently made to the postal laws affecting the mailing of advertising or other matter as ordinary mails, which will become effective July 1, were announced yesterday by Postmaster Frank DeSouza.

After that date matter will be accepted when addressed to rural or star route box holders with the name of the city and state preferred, but where desired by the sender the same will be accepted for mailing if the word "Local" is used instead of the name of the city and state.

No matter of this class will be accepted for delivery by city carriers unless the same be addressed to either "Occupant" or "Householder," together with the local street and number, city and state. Heretofore this class of mail has been accepted when addressed merely to the patron without the designation of street and number.

So far as practicable, the pieces should be delivered to the post office in packages of fifty, securely tied and labeled according to the manner in which the same is to be distributed. The sender should ascertain the number of boxes to be served on each route in order that a complete distribution may be made.

Heath Drug Store Has Campaign For Health Promotion

Lloyd C. Thompson, national director of the Physicians' Expansion bureau, today announced completion of plans to start a "better health" campaign in Medford under the sponsorship of Heath's Drug Store. Plans were made by Thompson to initiate the health campaign following a series of conferences with some of the leading physicians of Medford. He was accompanied here by Robert H. Hartley, state director.

Fred Heath, Jr., states that this health program dovetails in with his ideas of the practice of ethical pharmacy and that he desires the messages to indelibly implant on the minds of the people of Medford the fact that modern medicine can conquer virtually every ill of mankind if treatment is begun soon enough.

Lloyd C. Thompson

Heath, imbued with the importance of frequent physical examination by a medical doctor, releases one of a series of health talks on each Sunday in the Mail Tribune to instruct the public on matters of medical care.

Thompson states that "it is sanely ethical to publicize the dignity of the old arts of materia medica and pharmacopeia, if we expect to seriously interest the laity in better health individually." A goal which the bureau has set before it, according to Mr. Thompson, is "to eliminate eventually every form of medical quackery and malpractice."

Something over $700,000,000 is spent annually on quackery by suffering humanity, Mr. Thompson said, as he pointed to the need of the public being educated to the importance of obtaining real medical care. Thompson also commended the high standards and professional attainments of the medical men whom he has contacted in Medford during the time that he has been arranging for the publication of the health talks.

In the aggregate, patients were admitted to the 6,500 hospitals in the United States on an average of one every 4.41 seconds throughout last year for a total of more than 7,000,000.
