

GAY-CLAD NOBLES OF MYSTIC SHRINE MARCH IN CAPITAL

Roosevelt Message of Welcome Read at Opening of Imperial Council Session — Work Is Praised

By W. H. Mylander
Associated Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—Gay-clad nobles of the Mystic Shrine turned historic Pennsylvania avenue into an Oriental parade ground today before wildly cheering thousands.

aching muscles and burning feet were forgotten as the shriners stepped smartly to the martial airs of blaring bands or pruned with the exotic rhythm of weird-shaped drums. Later they assembled in a theater to hear a message of welcome from President Roosevelt, read by Attorney General Cummings at the opening of their imperial council session.

There were cheers for the marching of Detroit's crack double patrol in green; for the bearded colporteur and spear-armed drill team of Bridgeport, Conn. in Bedouin outfits; for the Indianapolis drum-major in his rainbow costume of green, yellow, red and white, who leaped high in the air with each step.

Have Martial Air
Every temple offered something new in color and smartness. Popping cannons and business-like rifle units added a martial air to the three-hour long procession.

Even street cars were rerouted to clear a path for their 70 bands and martial drum corps and scores of drill teams. Grandstands and bleachers, to which spectators flocked early, lined the avenue. Schools were closed to let children see the show.

Red, yellow and green banners, and emblems bearing the scimitar and crescent, dangled from buildings and floated from festoons of colored lights.

Today's parade was for the ostensible purpose of escorting Shrine-dom's imperial potentate, Dana E. Williams through the lavish "pavilion of Omar" erected in front of the White House.

It will be duplicated at the Shrine's "official parade" tomorrow night, while Thursday night's program calls for a huge illuminated pageant as a climax to the 61st annual conclave.

Try Out Payment
Practically every temple tried out the Washington spectacle and found the weather hadn't become hot enough to make it sticky.

The president's greeting, read by Attorney General Cummings, praised the shriners for their "devotion to the maintenance of hospitals for crippled children and to other enterprises of philanthropic endeavor."

Adding his own welcome, Cummings told the nobles their interest in crippled children permitted him to mention "an interest which the department of justice has in children, too, although of somewhat different character."

"The recent kidnaping on the Pacific coast, which I rejoice to say is moving toward a complete and satisfactory solution," he said, "has brought us once again a tragic reminder of the menace that threatens one of the tenderest relationships of life. Terrible as it is, the crime of kidnaping is but one of a series of crimes with which the federal government is seeking to deal."

The attorney-general said if congress granted his request to establish a bureau of crime prevention, with the aid of two existing bureaus—investigation and prisons—he hoped "to integrate a well-rounded structure to deal with the problem of crime in all of its principal aspects—first, cause and prevention; second, detection and apprehension; third, punishment and rehabilitation.

Urges Shrine Support
"When that structure is completed, I trust that its work will commend itself to your interest and support, for without the expression of a sustained and informed public opinion in this field, no permanent accomplishment is possible."

In speaking of their hospital work, Mr. Roosevelt told the visitors that "you do not thus carry, as mere duty, your share of the social load; you appreciate that the problems of life are too serious always to be taken seriously; and you practice the belief that safety of spirit is a healthful reinforcement to the things that make life sane and sound."

Addressing the delegates as "fellow nobles"—Mr. Roosevelt is a member of the Albany temple—the executive told them that Washington is the Mecca, "not only of the 100 temples of your organization, but of the more than 100,000,000 of our citizens whose interest, cooperation and loyalty are vital to the successful functioning of our American democracy."

FOUR FINED FOR AUTO VIOLATIONS

Two autolists were assessed fines and costs for operating machines without red rear lights and two for non-possession of operators' licenses in Justice of the Peace William R. Coleman's court yesterday.

Roy Luke McCoy of Ashland was fined $5 and costs on his plea of guilty to no red light in the rear. He was given until July 15 to pay the $4.50 costs, when the fine will be revoked.

Wendell Allen Colby of Grants Pass, charged with the same offense, was fined the same and given until August 1 to remit.

Luther P. Staton, a recent arrival from California, was fined $5 and costs for no operator's license. The arrest was made on the streets of Jacksonville.

Harold Eugene Flynn of 26 Portland street, this city, was assessed $5 and costs for operating an auto without a driver's license.

MRS. ALICE HINMAN OF PIONEER S. O. FAMILY PASSES IN PORTLAND

ASHLAND, June 11.—(Sp.)—Mrs. Alice Farlow Hinman, widow of Dr. Alanson Hinman, passed away at Emanuel hospital in Portland last Friday evening. Mrs. Hinman was a member of a pioneer Ashland family and has several relatives in this city, including one niece, Mrs. Elda Anderson, and two nephews, E. J. Farlow, and Otto Miller.

Mrs. Hinman had been a frequent visitor in Ashland since moving to Forest Grove in 1905.

She was born in Ashland, the youngest daughter of Hiram and Lucinda Farlow, pioneers from Illinois. Her girlhood was spent at the old family home of the Farlows, on Church street. Mrs. Hinman was named Alice Applegate Farlow after the late Mrs. Alice Applegate Sargent, pioneer resident of Jacksonville, and an aunt of Mrs. Emil Peil of Ashland.

Before her marriage she was employed in the Ashland postoffice with her uncle, E. J. Farlow, postmaster at that time.

Dr. Hinman, Forest Grove dentist, passed away about two years ago. Surviving her are two daughters, Mrs. Ralph Jones of Portland, and Mrs. George Williams of The Dalles, and one son, Dr. Alanson Hinman, a dentist at Forest Grove, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in her home city this afternoon.

LIEUTENANT CRAFT KIWANIS SPEAKER

Lieut. Roy Craft, assistant welfare officer at the district OGC headquarters, was the principal speaker at the Kiwanis club luncheon Monday noon.

Lieutenant Craft told of the expansion plans for the summer, when the Medford district will grow to 33 camps. Normally, the district would be smaller in summer than in winter because of the movement of camps to Idaho and Montana, but with the OGC being doubled in size, the district is to be nearly twice as large as originally planned.

BLACK CHANNEL MINE APPEAL IS PLANNED

Notice of appeal to the state supreme court from the findings of the lower court in the case of Margaret Bates Lund against J. F. Lund, F. A. Bates and the Black Channel Mine, Inc., has been filed with the county clerk. The lower court held in favor of F. A. Bates when he satisfied obligations against the mining property, and held that he should be entitled to title.

The Black Channel mine has been involved in litigation for nearly five years in one phase or another. During the Banks-Fehl agitation, the property and its aged owner were cited frequently to promote turmoil.

SOLITARY PUPIL ATTENDS CLIMAX

The Climax school, with a lone pupil, Norma Jean Wertz, is the only summer school, according to the county superintendent of schools.

Graphs and records of the county superintendent's office show Norma has the educational age of 16 years in her studies, though but 10 years. She is regarded as one of the bright pupils of many in the county.

Mrs. Fern is the teacher. The length of the school term at Climax is indefinite. Because of winter weather conditions, the summer term is held.

LIONS DANCE STUNT TAKES MAIN PRIZE AT STATE CONCLAVE

The Medford Lions club, in convention in The Dalles a short time ago, was awarded both first and second prizes in the stunt division for their clever dance act, put on by the Ted and Evelyn Schrader dancing studio of this city, according to Victor Tengwald, secretary of the club.

On the stunt evening, which was outstanding for the clever acts put on by the various Lions clubs of Oregon, the Medford numbers were acclaimed as some of the cleverest ever presented at such a convention.

The dances were grouped into three classes: Professional, juvenile and comedy.

The program presented included Betty St. Louis and Jack Moran, Jr. in a comedy tap dance in the first number. Irene McClellan, 9 years old, followed with a combination tap and Indian acrobatic, and Floradale Campbell presented an acrobatic waltz. In the professional class, Ted and Evelyn Schrader presented an eccentric and mysterious number.

The convention was a decided success, Tengwald stated, with plans being made for the coming year.

INFANT DAUGHTER OF J. L. ROBERTS BURIED

The two-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Roberts, 112 Columbus avenue, passed away yesterday. The funeral was held at 1 o'clock this afternoon from Peril's Funeral parlor. The little girl was buried in the Old Fellows' cemetery here.

ROLLATOR REFRIGERATION
MAKES ICE FASTER
AS THE WEATHER GETS HOTTER

...because it is powered to make "MORE COLD THAN YOU'LL EVER NEED"

Only a surplus-powered mechanism makes such performance possible. The Rollator—Norgé cold-making mechanism—is powered to make more cold than you'll ever need—to do it on a minimum of current—to keep on providing dependable refrigeration for years and years to come.

Cabinet style, thoughtful interior arrangement, convenience features are obvious advantages of Norgé. Less obvious but more important is the mechanical superiority of the Rollator. For it is the basis of food and refrigeration economy—savings up to $11 a month, reported by Norgé owners.

LAKE CONGESSION SUED FOR $5000 PONDER ACTION IN LOWER TAX PLEAS

Alice E. Vroman of this city, in a complaint filed in circuit court yesterday, seeks $5000 alleged damages from the Lake of the Woods company for asserted injuries to her left leg, received last July.

The plaintiff sets forth in the complaint that while stepping from the float to the wharf, a distance of 16 inches, the action of the lake waves caused her to fall, striking her left leg on the edge of the float and causing painful burns.

Nine counts of alleged negligence on the part of the recreational concern are cited in the complaint. Mrs. Vroman, through counsel, further avers that as a result of the injury she was confined to her bed for a long period, incapacitated from housework, and suffered "pain, shock and mental anguish."

Civic leaders of the city and county appeared in behalf of the lumber company in an effort to perpetuate the payroll and industry here. The mill is scheduled to definitely close this summer. It is in the hands of the bondholders.
