

BANKERS RETURN FROM CONVENTION OF OREGON ASSN.

Bankers of Medford were represented by B. E. Harder, president of the First National Bank, and J. A. Perry, president, and George T. Frey, cashier, of the Medford National Bank, at the thirtieth annual convention of the Oregon Bankers' Association at Salem Monday and Tuesday. They returned to Medford yesterday. Mr. Harder with the distinction of having been elected vice-president of the state association.

The convention was termed by the Medford delegation as not only the largest, there being more than 200 bankers present, but also the most effective convention, in ironing out state banking problems and discussing the nation's banking structure, in the 30 years' existence of the association.

Outstanding feature of the two two days' program, according to the Medford delegates, was the address "The Banking Act of 1935," delivered by Albert C. Agnew, counsel, The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco. They said Mr. Agnew gave an enlightening disinterested study on the three titles of the proposed banking act of 1935, from which opinion was formulated among the bankers afterwards expressed in passing a resolution in the closing session of the meeting. The resolution supported titles 1 and 3, but asked that congress defer action upon title 2, until a study of the act had been completed. Fear that an unwarranted proportion of the banking resources of the nation would come under the control of one body of men, and that these men would become a political body, was given as reason for deferring action on title 2.

Mr. Harder, chairman of the executive committee of the association, presided over the opening breakfast conference Monday morning at the Marion hotel, where all meetings were held. This meeting included committee reports and a general discussion.

Frederick Greenwood, president of the association, presided over the main session Monday, and also over the session Tuesday when interesting talks were given in a round table discussion.

The program also included the annual dinner, meeting of members of the American Bankers' Association, and an entertainment program consisting of a ladies' golf tournament, a bridge tea, men's golf tournament and the annual ball at the Marion hotel. Mrs. Harder was a member of the hosts committee.

Mr. Frey is a member of the public education committee of the state association, and Eugene Thorndike of the agricultural committee.

CHOATE WILL QUIT AS LIQUOR RULER

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Out of a clash over liquor control there emerged today the news that Joseph H. Choate intends to resign as soon as possible the post in which he bossed the liquor trade.

Choate, chairman of the federal alcohol control administration which was destroyed in the NRA wreckage, went before the house ways and means committee last night to criticize a bill creating a new control agency.

He said putting the agency in treasury jurisdiction was a "fatal defect" that would destroy "efficiency" and "prestige." When Representative Fuller (D. Ark.) asked him if he wasn't "more worried about prestige" he answered "I'm not worried about prestige for myself because I won't be here long."

Later he said his resignation "is subject entirely to the president's convenience."

Medford Visitor—Among Medford visitors today was Mrs. Loula Kohlhauser of Roseburg, who arrived this morning on the Oregonian. She is registered at Hotel Jackson.

GOLD DREDGE STARTS OPERATION AT ROGUE RIVER NEXT FEW DAYS

ROGUE RIVER, June 20.—(Sp.)—A drag-line gold dredge, the first to be used in southern Oregon, will begin operations in the Rogue river just above this city about June 26, if present plans of its builders materialize. The Oregon-organized Rogue River Dredges, Inc., of which J. D. Vance is president, will operate the plant.

Possibilities of increased dredging activities in the Rogue have been noted in options reported taken along the river above Grants Pass and in test operations contemplated for about August 1.

The drag-line outfit will have a capacity of 200 cubic yards every 24 hours, and will employ 10 or 12 men in three shifts, explained H. C. Mitchell, manager of the plant and dredger of experience in several states. Equipment will be sent from San Francisco ready for installation, he said.

The entire unit will be powered with electricity, and is the same as that widely in use in the Oroville and Lincoln districts of northern California.

Working with the crew will be E. L. Reeves, mining engineer and graduate of Syracuse and California universities. He was a lieutenant commander in the United States air forces during the war, and has had about 25 years mining experience.

The company is declared to be a closed corporation.

GIN FLAVOR MYSTERY REVEALED AT LAST!

Secret of Uniform Quality is Hiram Walker's Unique "Controlled Condensation"

And that's why Hiram Walker's Distilled London Dry Gin has become the national favorite during the past year. Drink mixers—amateur and professional—have discovered that it's the gin you can always depend upon. You don't have to change your recipes to atone for changes in gin!

It Costs You No More

Hiram Walker's London Dry Gin is finer gin because it's distilled from the finest grain spirits with the finest herbal ingredients. It's the only completely uniform gin, thanks to Hiram Walker's "C. C." Process. Yet it costs no more. Try it—today!

America waited 13 years for Repeal—but the world had to wait more than 300 years for completely uniform gin! Until the opening of Hiram Walker's Peoria distillery, a year ago, it was considered impossible to produce a gin which would never vary in flavor.

But "Controlled Condensation" eliminates this variation by regulating the actual flavor of the herbal ingredients—not just the quantity. They are distilled into the grain spirits at different proofs according to the exact requirements of the famous Hiram Walker formula.

How "C. C." Differs from Ordinary Distilling

Ordinary gin distilling processes regulate only the quantity of juniper berries, coriander seeds, sweet orange peel and other herbal ingredients. And because these ingredients constantly vary in quality it is inevitable that the finished gin should also vary in flavor.

Every Bottle Has the Same Perfect Flavor

The result is perfectly balanced gin. There's no chance of any flavor "going haywire" because nothing is left to chance! Every single bottle has the same perfect flavor and smoothness—whether you buy it in Massachusetts or California!

Packed like silks..it takes patience and care to prepare Turkish tobacco for Chesterfield Cigarettes

Size, color, texture, condition... all these have something to do with aroma and flavor

Leaf by leaf, the sun-ripened Turkish tobacco is selected or rejected to get just the right kind for Chesterfield's milder, better taste.

And just as much care is taken to pack the tobacco to preserve the delicate aroma during its 4000 mile journey to this country.

So important is the preparation of Turkish tobacco in making Chesterfields, that Liggett & Myers have their own modern leaf handling plants in seven important tobacco centers of Turkey and Greece.
