REDUCE FREIGHT RATE ON PEARS

One Man Killed in Eureka Sawmill Strike Riot

By PAUL MALLON
(Copyright, 1935, by Paul Mallon.)

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The new dealers have been doing considerable talking out loud lately about enforcing anti-trust laws. The justice department has announced it is going to enforce them strongly, now that the NRA is done. You may have been induced to suspect that the wrath of the federal prosecutor is aroused.

PAUL MALLON

There is no need for any business man or trust-busting senator to wait around for this particular wrath to descend.

The inside on that situation was aptly described by a certain subcabinet officer, who recently said off-the-record:

"If the government were to enforce the anti-trust laws in the rigid way they have been interpreted by courts, it would cost $100,000,000 a year and play havoc with about half of American business."

You may bet your last dollar that a mild and moderate policy will be pursued.

The only anti-trust changes to be expected in the next few months are those directly involving court decrees and codes.

An example is the old 1920 court decree against the American Column and Lumber Co., restraining it from any action to maintain or raise prices. That decree was modified officially when the NRA lumber codes permitted price fixing. Now that the NRA is gone, the decree will again be operative.

There are not many companies in this situation.

The government also may be expected to proceed against some large trust violators, as it has in the past. Such prosecutions show the heart of the prosecutor is in the right place. In fact, the new dealers even now can point to a record showing 25 anti-trust law prosecutions in the first two years and two months of its administration (under NRA) as compared with 26 in the four years of the Hoover administration.

But as for the now general suspicion that the new dealers will embark on a trust-busting campaign, it is out of the picture, and neither Attorney-General Cummings nor the new deal is the trust-busting type (the utility bill to the contrary notwithstanding). The time is not ripe for such things.

Most business men you talk to these days seem to have an indescribable inner feeling that things are better, that continued improvement is inevitable, there are no statistics to prove it. In fact, the standard business barometers (steel, autos) are continuing to fall under the seasonal summer heat.

But it has become suddenly popular for the first time in years to take an optimistic view of recovery. It is no longer popular to be a pessimist.

You will get the best example from the stock market. It has shown con-

$100,000 SAVING TO ROGUE VALLEY SEEN THIS YEAR

Transcontinental Rate of $1.43 Per Hundred to Replace $1.55 Tariff—36,000 Lb. Minimum Carload

At the meeting of the Rogue River Valley Traffic association held yesterday, an announcement was made which is of considerable importance to the fruit interests of this valley.

A number of prominent officials of the railroads were present at the meeting when it was announced that a transcontinental rate on pears of $1.43 per hundred pounds, based on a 36,000-pound minimum, has been proposed, and approved by the eastern lines. The present rate is $1.55 with a 26,000 pound minimum. Steps are now being taken looking to the publication of this rate, and it is believed certain to become effective, if it meets with the approval of the interstate commerce commission. As proposed, however, it will be a temporary rate, with expiration date set at December 31, 1935. It is the hope of all those interested in securing lower transportation charges on fruit from this district that the temporary nature of the rate, when once established, will be changed, and that the expiration date will be extended.

On a 36,000-pound car this would mean a saving of $43.20, and based

LASSEN WAKES UP WITH STEAM PUFF

MINERAL, Calif., June 21.—(AP)—Lassen peak, only active volcano in the United States proper, staged a show today by emitting a puff of steam from its crater while two earth shocks were felt simultaneously in the surrounding area.

The steam puff appeared at 9:40 a. m. Pacific Standard time. Both needles were knocked off the seismograph at Manzanita Lake, Lassen Volcanic national park, by the earth shocks, which registered at 9:17 and 9:20 a. m.

Apparently the epicenter of the quakes was on the north side of the peak, but residences and office buildings in Mineral, about 15 miles from the volcano, were shaken.

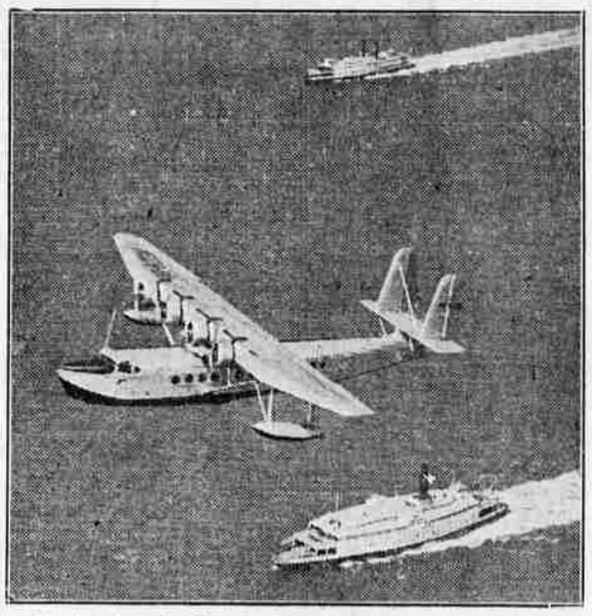
FERRIES SEE CLIPPER HEAD TO SEA



Soaring above San Francisco Bay, the huge Pan American Clipper ship swept over the San Francisco-Oakland passenger ferry boats as it headed for the ocean on its second westbound flight across 2,408 miles of the Pacific to Honolulu, and thence to Midway Islands. The Associated Press cameraman caught the newest in transportation and the old in this air view. The plodding steam ferries will practically pass out of the picture with the completion of the new bridges over San Francisco bay, but the big seaplane is just on the threshold of a new commercial air service to the Orient from California. SENATE LIBERALS IN MOVE TO FORCE WEALTH TAX PLAN

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(AP)—Senate liberals began a movement today to keep congress in session "all summer if necessary" to put through President Roosevelt's new wealth tax program.

More than 20 senators were said to have signed a declaration to that end.

Senator LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.) and Borah (R., Idaho) and others were the leaders in the drive.

Late in the day they were said to have members on both Republican and Democratic sides of the aisle lined up behind the move.

Democratic leaders have indicated the program, or most of it, would go over until next session.

LaFollette lost an attempt in the finance committee yesterday to incorporate some of the new taxes in the house resolution extending for one year about $500,000,000 of nuisance levies expiring June 30.

He announced he would renew his efforts on the floor when the resolution comes up, probably tomorrow.

SENTENCE SALLEE TO SEVEN YEARS IN STATE'S PRISON

Petroff Given Five Years—Both Men Convicted of Molesting Young Girls — Others Hear Sentences

Melvin Franklin Sallee, 28, Yankee Creek district resident, found guilty by a circuit court jury of a statutory offense involving a 7-year-old Central Point district girl, was sentenced this morning to serve seven years and six months in state prison by Circuit Judge H. D. Norton.

Because of a previous conviction of a felony, Sallee will not be subject to the parole laws, the court stated.

Basil oPtroff, 45, of Ashland, who entered a plea of guilty to a statutory offense against a 6-year-old Ashland girl, was sentenced to serve five years and six months in state prison. Petroff comes under the parole provisions.

Sallee, in a brief statement before sentence was passed, declared:

"I am not guilty of this crime."

The court in passing sentence characterized the crime of Sallee as "ranking with abduction in its depravity."

The court further stated: "There is no question of your guilt. The court went to great lengths to permit the introduction of evidence. You have had a fair trial — a thorough, expensive and extensive trial."

In passing a lighter sentence on Petroff, who refuted a signed statement admitting guilt, the court said Petroff has never been in trouble before and bore a good reputation.

Before passing sentence upon Sallee, the court denied a motion of his counsel for a new trial, setting aside of the verdict and arrest of judgment.

The court also forbid any long statement by Sallee's counsel on the

TORNADOES STRIKE MIDWEST REGION

KANSAS CITY, June 21.—(AP)—Storms that in places reached tornadic violence left many sections of the middle west checking new weather-wrought damage today.

Lightning killed Mrs. Mert Hunter, 46, near Joplin, Mo.

Two persons were injured slightly near Fairfax, Okla., when a twister hurled their home 150 yards. The same storm killed 155 head of cattle on one ranch, and a 55,000-barrel storage tank of crude oil was destroyed by a lightning-ignited fire.

There were about a dozen storms, just under tornado force, in scattered parts of Nebraska, and various sections of Kansas and Missouri suffered additional damage from high winds, hail and torrents in small streams.

WALEY GIVEN 45 YEARS; WIFE'S CASE DEFERRED

TACOMA, Wash., June 21.—(AP)—Forty-five years in McNeil Island penitentiary, not many miles from the home of 9-year-old George Weyerhaeuser, was meted out in federal court here today to Harmon M. Waley, confessed kidnaper of the scion of the wealthy Weyerhaeuser family.

Action on the case of 19-year-old Mrs. Margaret Waley, wife of Harmon, was deferred by Judge E. E. Cushman until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Waley entered his plea of guilty to the kidnaping and conspiracy charge without qualification or flinching, but asked leniency for his wife.

Immediately after the opening of court, both the Waleys entered guilty pleas, but the plea of the wife was set aside by the judge when both her attorney, Stephen J. O'Brien, and Waley insisted she knew nothing of the kidnaping until the boy had been held for several days.

When Mrs. Waley was asked by Judge Cushman if she cared to say anything for herself before he passed judgment on her plea of guilty, her attorney, Stephen J. O'Brien, stepped forward and called attention to her youth and to her claim that she knew nothing of the kidnaping until several days after the boy had been abducted.

"On your statement, I refuse to accept a plea of guilty," Judge Cushman said. "I will not accept an unqualified plea. The plea of guilty will be set aside and the cause put over until tomorrow at 10 a. m."

The judge then turned to Waley and asked him if he cared to say anything.

"All I have to say is for my wife," Waley began.

"Maybe you won't be here when her case is discussed," countered the judge.

"She never knew until the Sunday after the kidnaping that we had the boy," Waley resumed. "We were in a car and I told her we had kidnaped the boy. She rented the house in Spokane."

BARTLETT CROP 200,000 TONS

SACRAMENTO, Calif., June 21.—(AP)—The Pacific coast Bartlett pear crop will not exceed 200,000 tons this year and will not greatly exceed the California crop of last year, in the opinion of a committee from the California tree fruit agreement which returned yesterday from a survey in the northwest.

The committee reported 75,000 to 85,000 tons in the northwest and the tree fruits agreement survey of June 1 reported prospects for California of between 115,000 and 125,000 tons.

Arrangements were made by the committee to cooperate with the Oregon-Washington pear bureau in exchange of information regarding crop, sales to canners, shipments and prices, so growers over the entire coast will be properly informed.

JAIL 90 RADICALS AFTER WILD MELEE AT HOLMES MILL

Trouble Starts When Pickets Attempt to Keep 300 Employes From Going to Work—Police Are Stoned

EUREKA, Calif., June 21.—(AP)—One unidentified man was killed, two others critically wounded and four police officers, including Chief Geo. Littlefield, injured in a wild riot at the Holmes-Eureka Lumber company mill here today.

Outgrowth of the protracted Pacific coast lumber workers strike, today's conflict, Chief Littlefield said, started when a group of pickets sought to prevent the 300 mill employes from going to work.

In the bitter two-hour hand-to-hand battle, the pickets and mill workers soon transformed the mill area into a riotous melee with bricks, stones and chunks of cement flying in all directions.

A riot call summoned five special police, under Chief Littlefield. Their car was stoned, and officers then fired into the crowd, one unidentified man falling, mortally wounded. Two others, also unidentified, were removed to a hospital.

Chief Littlefield and Police Captain Thomas Ruttledge were hurt by flying glass and stones. Peter Carroll and Harry Albee, policemen, were mauled by the rioters, the chief said, but emerged from the fracas without serious injury.

Local police, hastily rounded up 90 reputed communists, who were jailed as ringleaders. Charges will probably be lodged against them later today.

The rioting was the climax to five weeks' picketing, the chief declared.

Six nets and three boats were seized for evidence and the court will be asked to confiscate the fishing gear.

The officers, leaving Roseburg at 2 a. m. today, reached Scottsburg before daybreak, and, according to their report, were in hiding when the fishermen took their nets from the river above the highway bridge at Scottsburg, this section of the river being six miles above the commercial deadline. The fishermen were arrested as they docked with their fish.

Invention by Lindbergh Keeps Heart, Lungs Alive

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor.)

NEW YORK, June 21.—(AP)—The mechanical genius of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, switched to science, inaugurates a new cycle in medical progress announced today.

He has perfected a new mechanical heart and lungs at the Rockefeller Institute, where he has been working for several years in seclusion of his own choosing.

It enables surgeons to remove a whole organ, such as kidneys, heart, spleen or glands from an animal's body, and keep it alive indefinitely, growing independently, in an artificial chamber.

The mechanical heart furnishes artificial blood. It revives organs an hour after death of the animal from which they came.

This reaches a goal medicine has sought 123 years. The goal is to make whole parts of the body live in glass chambers where scientists could see them and learn at first hand how they fight disease and how they secrete the sinews of health.

Heretofore the handicap has been that the removed organs died—they caught bacterial infections just like a person. Lindbergh's new apparatus has wiped out the infections.

His part of the contribution is the mechanical side. He teamed with Dr. Alexis Carrel, and with him signed the announcement made in science. Dr. Carrel won the Nobel prize for achievements in keeping tissues alive outside the body. But this new work is in no sense the old tissue culture.

"Its techniques, as well as its purposes," the announcement said, "are quite different."

"Its ultimate purposes are the manufacture in vitro artificially of the secretions of endocrine glands, the isolation of the substances essential to the growth, differentiation and functional activity of those glands, the discovery of the laws of association of organs, the production in vitro and the tratment of organic and arterial diseases, etc."

To date 36 experiments have been made. They include kidneys, spleen,

Further Trade Upswing Reported by Bradstreet

NEW YORK, June 21.—(AP)—Further indications of an advance in trade this week were noted today in Dun & Bradstreet's weekly review of business and industry.

"Strengthened by the further widening of merchandise distributing, the surprising stability of manufacturing operations, and the accomplishment of the major readjustments which had consituted a disturbing factor in recent weeks, trade now reveals more indications of going forward," the survey declared.

"There has been a gradual breaking down of hesitation, which had made headway difficult, and sentiment is being bolstered by the abundance of money seeking investment, unfilled consumer needs which run to the largest proportions in years, and the possibilities for gearing industrial output to a higher speed, without disturbing current levels of operating expenditures inordinately."

"Retail trade swung with more surety into its summer stride," it said, adding: "The most outstanding feature of the week was the broadening of consumer interest to the inclusion of items other than those falling within the narrow range of urgent seasonal requirements."

Wholesale buying, the survey found, followed closely the inclining trend of retail sales, with the enlarged volume the result of hurried calls for gift specialties, vacation requisites, travel accessories, and summer apparel.

"The release of long-deferred orders for fall merchandise was the outstanding development of the week in many of the wholesale markets," the review said.
