

MEDFORD TROOPS GARNER LAURELS IN TRAINING CAMP

By CAPT. C. V. TENGWALD
CAMP MURRAY, Wash., June 19—(Special Correspondence)—Yesterday, Tuesday, all of the troops in camp left early in the morning for an all-day tactical problem.

The country around here lends itself admirably to training problems and with the vast area of ground available it is easily possible to each day select a new area and as a result the maneuvers being carried on are perhaps more interesting than at an area where troops have to go over the same ground many times.

Company A went on guard duty of the camp area yesterday afternoon and will be relieved of this duty today. I was designated officer of the day; Lieut. Moffatt commander of the guard, and Sergt. Clyde Fichtner, sergeant of the guard.

Yesterday afternoon during brigade review Company A and other companies who passed a "very satisfactory" federal inspection earlier in the year, were presented with streamers for their guidons at a colorful and impressive ceremony.

Company A has just about "etched" the regimental pennant for the best mess in camp, having been awarded the battalion pennant daily without a break since arrival in camp.

Private Richard H. Baize officiated as camp bugler yesterday and was complimented on his fine bugling, being considered the best bugler in camp.

Orders have just been received in camp that "taps" will sound at 9:30 tonight, with all men ordered to remain in camp. In all probability this means that the entire camp will be routed out early tomorrow morning.

Where we are going and when we will be back is only known to higher command. Full field equipment has been ordered in readiness and cooks have been instructed to be ready to follow the troops and prepare meals in the field.

We have just been informed that immediately upon our arrival a parade of all of the Oregon troops, not only from here, but also from Fort Stevens, where the artillery is stationed, will commence at two o'clock in the afternoon and will be over by four o'clock.

The regular army troops at the fort will also participate in this review. It is predicted that there will be thousands of visitors from Seattle, Tacoma, Olympia and other nearby cities.

Miss Elizabeth Owen Niece of James Owen Married in Portland

Miss Elizabeth Shepard Owen, daughter of Mrs. Samuel F. Owen of Portland, and a niece of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Owen of this city, was married to William Jones McVay, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. McVay, at a quiet Portland ceremony Saturday afternoon.

The bridal couple, on their wedding trip, were guests in Medford yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. Owen, spending the day here en route to Yosemite national park and Lake Tahoe, where they planned to visit before returning to Portland to make their home.

Miss McVay has visited at the Owen home here on several occasions. Following is a description of the wedding which appeared in the Oregon Journal:

"Miss Elizabeth Shepard Owen, daughter of Mrs. Samuel F. Owen, and Mr. William Jones McVay, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. McVay, made their marriage vows at a quiet ceremony yesterday afternoon at the home in Glenmorris of the bride's mother, The Rev. Oswald W. Taylor read the service at 4 o'clock before members of the families and a few close friends of the couple and a reception followed.

The bride wore a handsome wedding gown of white satin, made with round neck, peacock train and sleeves of Chantilly lace. She wore a full tulle veil and carried an arm bouquet of valley lilies and Dr. Van Vleet roses. Miss Clara Josephine (Peter) Owen, her sister's maid of honor, wore a dress of salmon pink organdie and carried a bouquet of Tallman roses and sweet peas.

The flower girls, Edie Mae and Joan Ferrin, daughters of Mrs. William Nelson Ferrin, Jr., wore pale blue net frocks and carried baskets of roses. "Mrs. Owen wore a dress of beige lace and Mrs. McVay wore a chiffon print. Both wore coronas of gardenias.

"Mr. Barton Sawyer acted as best man. Mrs. McVay. The wedding music was played by John Emmet, Mona Poulsen sang. "Following return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. McVay will be at home in Portland."
