TURKEY GROWERS CO-OP SETS FINE FIRST YEAR MARK

Seven cars of turkeys were shipped from Medford last year. It was revealed at a meeting of the Southern Oregon Turkey Growers Saturday.

The birds averaged 86 per cent of the best record for the first year of any unit in the state. The birds shipped by John Anderson, a member of the group, were rated 100 per cent, an unusual record.

The state association, with which the local organization is affiliated, reported that their business was doubled in the past year.

H. A. Thieroff, vice-president of the chamber of commerce, delivered the initial talk of the meeting, and pledged the whole-hearted support of the chamber. I. R. Kline of Eagle Point made the response.

B. J. Holmes, San Francisco sales agent for the Northwest Turkey Growers' association, a man of long experience in this type of work, pointed out to the turkey growers that the trouble in selling is away from the consignment system, only 40 per cent of last year's crop being marketed that way. The federation has so stabilized the price that the grower now feels safe in holding his birds in cold storage, waiting for a better market.

"Confusion in Production Problems" was the theme of H. E. Crosby, extension poultryman from Oregon State college at Hermiston, who reported a successful meeting and an attendance of about 40. Mr. H. C. H. manager of the Jackson County Cooperative.

Musical Revue Now At Craterian Wins Pleased Audience

Mexico, with all its beauty and color, its haunting music and exciting dances, came to Medford yesterday, when "In Caliente" had its local premiere at the Craterian theater.

"In Caliente" is a musical with a real plot, replete with humor, action and romance, and introduces several production numbers that most spectators will agree exceed any of the previous efforts of Eubel Berkeley, who staged the dances for this picture.

The action takes place in Agua Caliente, that "made-to-order" Mexican resort near the California border, and concerns the adventures of Pat O'Brien, who is lately of the military or naval service, and who, in the role of a hardboiled magazine editor is kidnaped and taken to the resort on a sobering up expedition by his publisher, Edward Everett Horton.

There he runs in Dolores Del Rio, a Spanish dancer, who dances him away from Glenda Farrell, again portraying a blonde menace.

Leo Castillo has the role of Miss Del Rio's rascally uncle who tries to cash in on her charm. Others in the cast who do excellent work are Phil Ragan, who has a special song number; Dorothy Dare, Winifred Shaw, who also sings one of the big production songs; Luis Alberni, George Humbert, William Davidson, Harry Holman, Florenz Demare, Herman Bing and Florenz Demare.

The Demares, famous dancers, make their film debut in the picture and another novelty is the specialty singing number of the Canova Family.

One of the outstanding features of the picture is Edward Everett Horton's characterization of the befuddled publisher. If it weren't for so many good things in the film, Horton could be said to "steal" the honors.
