MARTIAL LAW IS POSSIBILITY IN PORTLAND AREA

demobilization after two weeks' training at Fort Lewis.

"Have you anything else to announce?" newspapermen asked him. "That is all I will give you now," he replied.

Neither Pray nor Moody would comment upon the conference, but the latter's presence was interpreted to mean the governor had made all arrangements to declare martial law there on a moment's notice if it was deemed necessary. It was further reported that not all the guard would be demobilized following the review today, but the report was unconfirmed.

Last night, following the governor's conference with both mill operators and Abe W. Muir, strike leader, Martin announced he would assist local authorities in keeping peace if the mills would reopen. Seven sawmills announced intentions to definitely open on Wednesday.

Promised Law and Order

The governor stated further he had informed both sides that he was "not interested in the issues involved in the strike, but only in the maintenance of law and order." He informed mill operators to seek protection from city and county officials and he would assist with the state police and national guards if the situation gets out of control.

Prior to his return to Salem, the governor had conferred with Governor Clarence D. Martin of Washington on Saturday, Sunday and yesterday, and stated both were in accord in their determination to maintain order. The governor was at Olympia and Port Lewis over the week-end to review the 41st division of the National Guard, of which the Oregon companies are a part.

TACOMA, Wash., June 25. (AP)—Tacoma's strike situation remained much the same today, with fresh troops from Camp Murray on hand to keep traffic moving and disperse crowds.

Guardsmen utilized tear gas only once early this morning when a large group of men refused to move on. Mills continued to operate.

Indications were that command of the situation was being centralized in the National Guard, with state police stationed in the more quiet sectors of the city.

A vigorously worded protest to the President, in which the aid of the army was asked for "protection" against the "lawless activities" of state police and National Guard troops, was union labor's answer today to the use of troops here in protecting lumber mill workers returning to work, with attendant disorders.

General Strike Dropped

No talk of a general strike in protest, however, was heard at last night's meeting of the Central Labor council, several hours after tear gas and fixed bayonets had been used by troops in clearing the streets. One crowd of 2,000 was dispersed.

Many spectators and strike sympathizers alike today were suffering from the after effects of the gas. The state patrolmen made about 16 arrests.

An order to the members of the Longview Sawmill and Timber Workers' local to return to work was also forthcoming from A. W. Muir, executive vice-president of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, with their expected refusal to do so, considering the repudiation by the majority of the union of Muir's leadership and his "Muir plan" of settlement of the giant northwest industry strike. He planned to institute new locals, he said.

A definite split in the ranks of the lumber strikers was evident at Aberdeen and Hoquiam, observers said, with the announcement by George Westey, former chairman of the Aberdeen strike committee, of the forming of a new union. He said between 200 and 300 members of the old union would join and it was hoped to resume work shortly.

The encounters between state patrolmen, national guardsmen and the crowds were spectacular, but no serious injuries resulted.

DEMOCRATS FEAR COALITION REVOLT AGAINST TAX PLAN

finance committee said today a three-way tax program to raise $340,000,000 through inheritance and gift levies, higher taxes on big incomes and a graduated corporation tax would be added to the pending measure to continue $300,000,000 of "nuisance" taxes another year.

After a conference with treasury experts, Harrison said the program would be offered even though it would mean the nuisance and excise taxes might temporarily lapse at the end of this week.

The new inheritance tax Harrison said, would begin on net inheritances of about $300,000, under the tentative program mapped out by the experts.

House ways and means committee Democrats threatened to kick over the traces on the wealth distribution tax program agreed to last night by President Roosevelt and congressional leaders.

Speed Rush Says McNary

Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, termed the administration decision as one of "very unseemly rashness" if it was intended to seek final action this week.

"Congress should approach such an important question with calmness and devote itself to a study of the problem," he said.

He added the new tax proposals "should originate in the house as prescribed by the constitution," although he conceded it was in order to try to amend the pending resolution to extend $500,000,000 of nuisance and excise levies a year from June 30.

The house situation was such that Speaker Byrns was called in to talk with the committee Democrats in a secret session this afternoon, urging upon them the idea of extending existing nuisance taxes for 30 to 90 days so the senate could go ahead and draft the new wealth distribution tax schedules.

Unless the nuisance taxes are extended before June 30, the government will lose more than $1,500,000 a day in revenue.

Offered as Amendments

Harrison, explaining the parliamentary procedure to newspapermen, said the house "nuisance" tax resolution would be left on the senate calendar and not referred to the committee. If the committee approves the new program it will be offered on the floor as amendments.

"We are going to put these onto the joint resolution if a majority of the senate votes that way, no matter how long it takes," Harrison said. "Every effort will be made to get it through before this week is over. But if we don't pass it this week, the government will lose from one and a half million to two million a day until it does pass."

Harrison said he did not believe the committee would hold public hearings on the program, but would get all available advice from the experts. They will attend the session today.

The committee chairman did not disclose the new inheritance tax rates.

They would be supplemented by a gift tax on inheritances paid by the receiver, as the present gift tax is levied on the giver, to protect the existing estate tax.

Three Items First

Harrison said he understood the president would insist only upon enactment of these three propositions at this session, and that his "long range" proposals, including a constitutional amendment to eliminate tax exempt bonds, would go over to the next session.

Harrison emphasized that all the rates and exemptions proposed in his outline were tentative and subject to further study.

He said the tax on inheritances of $300,000 and more would begin at a small rate, rising in a swiftly graduating scale.

DOCTOR SAID SHE NEEDED "BULK" FOR HER CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief to Mrs. Maneely

"Up to five years ago, I knew no end of suffering caused by constipation. I used all kinds of laxatives but only found relief till I got used to them. My physician told me to get some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and instructed me how to use it.

"I did just as I was told by my doctor, and today I send my highest praise for what your ALL-BRAN has done for me."—Mrs. J. V. Maneely, Jr., 9 Kilburn St., Valley Falls, R. I.

"Due to insufficient 'bulk' in meals, ALL-BRAN provides gentle 'bulk' to help overcome common constipation. It is also a good source of vitamin B and iron.

The 'bulk' of ALL-BRAN is often more effective than the 'bulk' in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoonsful daily are usually sufficient. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

Isn't this food much pleasanter and safer than picking patent medicines? Get the red - and - green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
