Miss Rose Marie Provost of Ashland Married Here. Miss Rose Marie Provost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Provost, former residents of Ashland who are widely known in the county, became the bride of John Perry of Ottawa, Canada, in a beautiful wedding ceremony which took place Sunday, June 23, at the Sacred Heart Catholic church in this city.

White and pink flowers were massed at the altar, where the bride and groom stood in the strains of the wedding procession. The bride wore a floor-length wedding gown of white silk crepe, made along princess lines. She wore a short white tulle cape, a small draped white hat and white gloves. Her corsage was of white gardenias and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid was Miss Ruth Hanson, who wore a floor-length pink silk crepe gown and a corsage of pink and lavender flowers. Fred Dunn of this city was best man.

The bridal party left following the ceremony for Ashland, where they were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Provost, uncle and aunt of the bride. Fourteen were invited to the wedding dinner, covers having laid at a charmingly appointed table.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry left for Weed, Cal., with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Provost, also uncle and aunt of the bride, planning to continue to San Francisco for a time before returning via Chicago to Ottawa, Canada, where they will make their home.

Downs-Walker Wedding Performed in Medford. The wedding of Miss Louise Anna Downs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Downs of Medford, and Kenneth J. Walker of Grants Pass was performed Tuesday evening in the Seventh Day Adventist church of this city.

Elder Edwin L. Stewart read the service, followed by a solo by Mrs. W. W. Walker, "Oh Promise Me." J. M. Mosser of this city, promoter of the bridegroom, was best man.

A following was a reception which was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. O. O. Alenderfer Gives Bride Breakfast. Mrs. O. O. Alenderfer entertained yesterday morning at her home on South Oakdale as a bride breakfast, inviting guests for three tables. Green and yellow for the decorations formed a charming color scheme.

Prizes at each of the tables were awarded Mrs. W. F. Quisenberry, Mrs. Charles Lemery and Mrs. A. J. Hawk.

Slamless Kittens Born. TORONTO, Ont.—(UP)—Four kittens, joined together with a fifth born separately, are alive and well here, after Dr. J. S. Holm, veterinary, operated on them to separate them. Dr. Holm says all the kittens will live, having survived the multiple operation successfully. The kittens are normal in every respect.

Huge Lemon Grown. MILLVALE, Pa.—(UP)—George Matilka has raised and nursed along a one-and-a-half pound "no house" lemon. Though he had no notion of making the Florida-California controversy a three-cornered fight, he offers the lemon and a half-pound aster as a target for the citrus growers to shoot at.

Does Chores at 160. REDWOOD CITY, Cal.—(UP)—Although he is so old he has lost track of his age—he believes he is 100—Andres Ocasio, a full-blooded Indian, still does his chores daily as a ranch hand. Investigators believe he is close to the century mark because of his recollections of early events and settlers.

SPORT SLANTS

A couple of winters ago Gene Sarazen exploded a fair-sized bombshell when he announced his belief that women golfers could not expect to make any great progress in their golf game until there were women professionals who could teach their sister golfers the fine points of the game.

Sarazen argued that he had to approach his women pupils quite differently than the men he was tried to instruct and even so was not sure he was on the right track. Women understand other women so much better than do men and consequently should be able to use better and more successful methods, he said.

Plenty of male professionals took issue with the lady little Italian and even cautioned him against undermining the very existence of his fellow instructors. Some even went so far as to ridicule the idea that a woman would seek instruction from another female on any subject and above all else—golf.

The day of women professional golfers is here and the time when women will be teaching is no doubt near at hand. There is not the slightest doubt that women like Helen Hicks and Joyce Wethered of England have developed their games to the point of perfection where they could teach not only women players but men men as well.

Joyce a Revelation. The form shown by the amazing British girl in her exhibition matches has been a revelation. With the exception, possibly, of distance of her tee shots, Miss Wethered's game has the finesse and polish that would make any male professional proud. The series of exhibition matches she is taking part in on her 10 weeks' tour of the country will do much to stimulate interest in the game among women players.

Miss Hicks recently made a tour of the northwest and made a most favorable impression with her finished performances. The latest to join the ranks of business women golfers is Mildred (Babe) Didrikson, the wonder girl (athlete) from Texas.

Under the terms of her contract Miss Didrikson will promote the sale of a sporting goods manufacturer's wares and give exhibitions. Babe Comes Up Fast. Miss Didrikson enters the professional golf field with less than two years of golfing experience after an amazing record in track and field sports where she stole the show in the 1932 Olympic games at Los Angeles.

It was after the Texas girl had won her state championship in golf that she developed difficulties over the matter of her amateur status. When the ruling body decided against her, Babe simply, with no fuss or furor, decided to take advantage of an opportunity to line up with the business golfers.

Her golf game hardly measures up to that of Miss Hicks and Miss Wethered but the former track champion has made well high nauticalous progress. At that, her booming 200-yard drives down the middle of the fairway are enough to make any golfer hustle to match.

against other business women golfers, particularly against such top-notch performers as Miss Hicks and Miss Wethered, if the proposed plan to bring these three together in a series of exhibition matches materializes.

SALEM, June 27.—(AP)—C. A. Howard, superintendent of public schools, will leave tonight for Denver to attend the sessions of the National Educational association there next week. Howard expected to be absent about 10 days.

TWO BUTTER GRADES TAKE SURPRISE JUMP IN PORTLAND MARKET

PORTLAND, June 27.—(AP)—Butter market showed an unexpected advance for two scores during the late session of the produce exchange although the undertone of the market remains more or less of weak character. Extras and prime firsts were advanced 1/2c.

Trade in eggs was holding fully steady and with practically no change in values. Receipts were spotted, some reporting an increase while others say they are not able to get their needs.

There was a well held demand for live chickens with prices generally maintained. Offers were of a higher price for old roosters with none in sight.

Only beef was showing a weak tone in the country killed meat trade. Veal, hogs and lambs were in firm position with maintained values but mutton was slow.

First carload of peaches of the season was due to arrive in Portland today from the Penlan, Calif. sector.

Watermelon market firmer at the source than here. Last of the old crop apples out of storage were being offered. Kenith cherries from The Dalles were selling around 5c lb. Fancy Lambert and Bing cherries were 6 to 7c lb.
