

Alfred Perry, Burly Britisher, Keeps Open Golf Title at Home

EQUALS RECORD OF 283 STROKES BY STEADY PLAY

Misses 12-Footer On Final Green for New Mark — Whitcombe's 288 Good for 2nd Place in Classic

MURFIELD, June 28.—(AP)—Alfred Perry, 30-year-old British Ryder cup team player, won the British open golf championship today with final rounds of 87 and 72 for a record-equalling total of 283.

Perry, who previously had failed to finish in the money in the open championship, had a 12-foot putt on the final green to set a new low score for the tournament. He putted boldly for the cup and a birdie three but the ball slid inches past. As it was he tied the winning record score of 283 hung up by Gene Sarazen in 1932 and duplicated by Cotton last year at Sandwich.

The Englishman's victory gives Great Britain a fresh and firm grip on the championship which before last year had been dominated for a decade of years by invading Americans. It was the first time in 14 years Britons have won it two years in a row.

The veteran Charles Whitcombe, a member of the last four British Ryder cup teams, made a grand bid for the title with opening rounds of 71 and 68, giving him the lead at the halfway mark. He maintained the pace with a 73 this morning and then slipped to a final 76 for a total of 288, which apparently was good for second place.

Alf Padgham, a consistent campaigner in the last few championships, stood with a total of 283 for 63 holes, and tied a one-year-old Whitcombe.

Perry, who a few years ago was assistant to Jim Hearn, at former champion, at Walton Heath had virtually a blank record before his triumph today much like Sam Parks, Jr., of Pittsburgh, who came from total obscurity to win the American open title earlier this month. His only previous claim to fame was a triple triumph in the Surrey open championship.

A crowd estimated at 15,000 swarmed around the clubhouse grounds, cheering and making it difficult for Perry to reach the dressing room. After watching the burly Perry sink his final putt, Cotton was one of the first to rush across the green and shake his hand.

Perry was in the thick of the contention for the title from the very start. He opened with a par-busting 69 and then followed it up with a 75 yesterday enabling him to tie with two others for the fourth place.

Clipping three strokes off par and finishing with a brilliant 69 for a new amateur record for the course, William Lawson Little, Jr., of San Francisco, completed the strenuous test with a 72-hole aggregate of 289. The world amateur champion had previous rounds of 75, 71 and 74. Little's father, Colonel Little of San Francisco, was among the gallery.

Picard Cards 292. Henry Picard of Hersey, Pa., the sensation of the last American mid-winter season, shot a last round 73 for a total of 292.

Second place went to Alf Padgham. He shot the last nine holes in 34 for a 71 and a total of 287. Whitcombe moved down a notch to third place, while Little was bracketed with Ben Gadd, a British pro with 289.

All members of Southern Oregon Sportsmen, Inc., are urged to attend the meeting Monday evening, which has been scheduled for 7:30 o'clock at the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce building.

Important plans relative to the extensive program undertaken by the club will be discussed, according to officials. Among one of the phases included in the unit when the organization was recently incorporated was hunting, and those interested especially in this line are urged to attend the meeting.

Due to low water at Emigrant lake, the boat races which were scheduled for the first of this month have been postponed until early next spring.

No Industry Fatalities. SALEM, June 28.—(AP)—Industrial accidents the past week totalled 625, a larger number than in recent weeks, it was reported today by the industrial accident commission.

There have been no fatalities in Oregon industries during the past two weeks, the report stated.

SMART WINE SHOP OPENS MONDAY AT 211 EAST MAIN ST.

A modern, attractive wine shop will be opened Monday at 211 East Main street, the location formerly occupied by Mann's men's store, according to an announcement today by Joe Schuss of Klamath Falls, owner of the new establishment. A crew of workmen and decorators are now completely remodeling the store room, transforming it into one of the coast's smartest wine shops. This shop will be almost a duplicate of Mr. Schuss' store recently opened in Klamath Falls which is considered a model for convenience and attractiveness.

While Mr. Schuss, prominent Klamath Falls grocery store operator, is owner, the new store will be managed by J. O. Johnson with Charles House as assistant. Mr. Johnson and Mr. House will arrive in Medford this week and with their families to establish permanent residence. The concern, which will be known as the Schuss Vintage company, will feature all types of wines both domestic and imported, in addition to such beverages as beer and mixers. Mr. Schuss' plans call for similar stores to be opened in other Oregon communities later.

Included in the modern equipment of the Schuss Vintage company's Medford store will be a Frigidaire cooling unit for the cooling of beer and wines. For the convenience of patrons, evening and Sunday opening hours will be maintained.

"I am glad to become identified with the business circles of Medford," Mr. Schuss said today before leaving for Klamath Falls. "I will spend a portion of my time in this city and members of my organization will take part in the activities of this splendid community. The public will be cordially welcomed at our opening here Monday."

ILLNESS NECESSITATES TRIAL POSTPONEMENT

Trial in justice court of H. L. Bromley, charged with driving an auto while intoxicated, was postponed this morning until July 9. Bromley is confined in a hospital and will undergo a minor operation, necessitating a delirium. Bromley is represented by Attorney Charles Reimann.

BELCASTRO, WOLFE GRAPPLE DRAW IN CLEAN, FAST BOUT

Reputations were all that Pete Belcastro, Italian wrestler who surprised fans by going clean, and Les Wolfe of Texas were grappling on in the latter part of their main event bout last night at the Armory, when both were so tired after splitting two falls that they lolled around the ring like a pair of comical dying gladiators as the match ended in a draw.

Handing out some of the cleverest grappling seen here in a long time, Belcastro restrained from his usual meanie tactics and proceeded to give the supple southerner as well as the fans a few pointers on scientific and brainy matwork.

He started the fracas with a pair of wild-eyed drop kicks that knocked the Tegan for a couple of loops before the latter could gather his wits, but on the third attempt Belcastro came sailing through the air with the greatest ease and landed squarely on the back of his stomach with such a smack that it nearly put him out of commission for the rest of the tussle.

From then on Pete was careful about trying drop kicks, but he plainly proved via clever grappling that he is going to be something for Saroldi and all the rest of the big-time wrestlers to reckon with if he keeps up his astonishing improvement.

In a mass of blood from Belcastro's nose, the first fall ended after 30 minutes when Wolfe used his wily legs to apply a bottom-up rolling scissors.

Both tried and failed with Indian death locks during the middle tumbler, which was featured by Belcastro's clever exhibition of how to evade a Boston crab hold by pivoting on his neck. Pete took the fall in 16 minutes with drop kicks and a press. Pete weighed 197 and Wolfe 190½ pounds.

Al Stecher, 191, veteran grappler from Canada, used his favorite hammer lock to win two out of three falls from Herman Olson of Sweden in the 45-minute semi-windup.

The former Canadian middleweight champ had too much experience for the young Swede, and stood for no rough stuff, battering and eye-gouging his opponent down for the final fall in less than 30 seconds. Olson gouged eyes to take the middle tumbler in nine minutes.

Referee Ray Fribble was forced to take part in the opening bout, and when he was trying to pry the two contestants apart, Johnny Soos, Indiana matman, took advantage of the referee's turned back and slugged Babe Smolinski of Poland on the jaw. The blow knocked the chubby Polek flat on the canvas, and Soos piled on with a body press to win the one-fall bout in 18 minutes.

Al Stecher, Awful Al Karasick and Joe Hubka each issued a challenge to the winner of the main event, but as it ended in a draw, the lineup for the next card will have to be thrashed out by the promoter.

Because next Thursday will be July 4th with many out-of-town attractions, Promoter Mack L. has decided not to stage a wrestling program next week.

LONG COUNT REFEREE JAILED IN CONSPIRACY

CHICAGO, June 28.—(AP)—Dave (Long Count) Barry, former prize fight referee, was sentenced to one year in the Cook county jail today by Judge Michael Feinberg, for his part in a conspiracy to embezzle $30,000 from the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank.

Original union demands were for 75 cents an hour minimum, 30-hour instead of 40-hour week, and closed shop.

TRAP BOYS SHOOT AT CLUB SUNDAY

Sunday will be Annual Trap Boys' day at the Medford Gun club, when the boys who loaded and pulled the traps at the big state shoot recently will change places with the Gun club members and enjoy the sport of shooting blue rocks while the club members load and pull the traps for the boys.

Prizes will be awarded the winners on a handicapping system that will give the poorest shooter an equal chance with the most expert.

The local Gun club is noted all over the country for its progressive ideas and rapid growth and the "picnic shoot" for the boys who work at the club is an innovation believed to be original with the Medford organization. Ammunition and targets will be furnished free to the boy shooters. The program will start at 10:30 o'clock.

LOUIS WILL FIGHT LEVINSKY, AUGUST

NEW YORK, June 28.—(AP)—While New York promoters debate whether Max Baer or Max Schmeling will be his next metropolitan opponent, Joe Louis is making hay while the sun beams down.

As a tune-up for Baer or Schmeling, the "Brown Bomber" has agreed to take on the redoubtable King Levinsky in Chicago in August. In line with their "right a month" policy, his managers say they are not averse to another tilt sometime in July.

No opponent is barred. The only stipulation is that the price must be right.

Just when or under whose auspices the Levinsky fight will be held is undecided. Nate Lewis and Joe Foley, rival promoters, are bidding against each other, and Louis' managers have asked Mike Jacobs, promoter for the Twentieth Century Sporting club, to decide. Jacobs will go to Chicago Monday to award the plum.

NEED HURLER FOR ROGUES' INVASION OF GRANTS PASS

When the Medford Rogues storm the Grants Pass citadel Sunday they will have to depend upon their old artillery. Their new ace gun, Roy Chesterfield from Kelso, will not be on the firing line. Manager Hoffard received a telegram from Chesterfield this morning, stating that his wife is in a hospital and that he will be unable to be here for some time.

This puts the Rogues right smack back into the rut they have been in all year—sans pitchers. They can wait for infield that will run circles around the opposition, an outfield to make the mouths of the big league scouts water, and an array of sluggers from here to there, but to their disgust they have found that they can't get along without a good chucker in this league.

Frankie Earhart, ace hurler for Grants Pass, who injured a tendon in his leg some time ago, may open the barrage against the locals, but Manager Gipe will probably not let him play long. He has been in the hair of the locals all year.

There is some possibility that Les Wolfe, rangy Texas wrestler, may chuck for Medford. Wolfe states that he hurled one team to a championship in Texas, and feels as though he can duplicate that performance Sunday. Hoffard had intimates will emerge will let the wrestler try his arm at whiffing the Merchants, providing Pete Belcastro didn't pull it clear out of its socket last night.

With a worm's eye peek at the cellar hole for most of the season, the Rogues have become bored with the white and claim they will emerge with a roar, using Sunday's game as their springboard. The game will be at Grants Pass and has been called for 2:30.

Ashland will tangle with the Klamath outfit at Klamath.

'STORMY WEATHER' IS YACHT RACE WINNER

BERGEN, Norway, June 28.—(AP)—"Stormy Weather," a yawl owned by Philip Le Bottillier of New York, arrived in port early today and was declared the winner of the trans-Atlantic race which started from Newport, R. I., on June 8.

The yacht passed Marstenen at 11:27 p. m. yesterday, and won the race as the Ketch Vamarie, owned by Vilam S. Markoff of New York, which finished earlier, was required to give "Stormy Weather" a 43-hour handicap.

The yawl's journey took 19 days, five hours, 28 minutes and 10 seconds.

Retired Grappler Owns Fine Estate

RAVENNA, Neb.—(AP)—John Pesek, the Ravenna farmer who won fame and fortune in the wrestling ring as the Nebraska "Tigerman," has turned his home into a garden spot.

Under Pesek's direction, three artificial lakes, the largest of which covers two acres, have been excavated and filled by water from natural springs. The largest of the lakes is nearly 40 feet deep.

The wrestler, who maintains a kennel and training ground for racing hounds at the farm, plans to use the lakes for recreation and training quarters.

AQUATIC SPORTS AT LAKE O' WOODS

Speedboat and swimming races will be the feature of the day at Lake of the Woods on the 4th of July, according to C. G. Smith, manager of the lake resort, who was in Medford today. Racers from Klamath Falls, Yreka and Medford, as well as from other points in southern Oregon and northern California, will compete, Smith stated.

Joe Marshall of the Southern Oregon boat club has announced that that organization will co-operate in the speedboat events and also in the swimming races. The Lake of the Woods has always been a popular vacation spot, and this year an even greater number of people are expected, Smith stated, due to the fact that good roads have lessened the trip materially.

EVENING TRAIN TO LEAVE LATER

A reduction in the schedule of Southern Pacific northbound passenger train No. 330, operating from Ashland to Portland, will take effect on Monday, July 1, according to a Southern Pacific announcement.

Under the new schedule the train will leave here at 7:35 p. m., instead of 6:58 p. m., as now applies. Arrival time in Portland will be 7:55 a. m. as at present. The southbound schedule will be unchanged.

With the new schedule in effect the Oregonian will leave stations in this vicinity at the following times:

Ashland—6:50 p. m.
Talent—7:01 p. m.
Medford—7:35 p. m.
Central Point—7:45 p. m.

FIRST "Anti-knock" MOTOR OIL

TRITON MOTOR OIL

TESTS prove Triton will cut down excessive carbon deposits formed by other oils and reduce or eliminate "pinging." It assures continued "new-car" knockless performance—a smoother running motor that will last longer, cost less to operate.

The reason: Triton is 100% PURE Paraffin-base—made by Union's PRO-PANE Solvent process.
