

Campbell Wins Northwest Amateur Golf Crown in Hard Battle

EXTRA HOLE PLAY IN DRIVING RAIN DECIDES HONORS

Women's Title Won by Barbara Thompson, Palo Alto Entry—New Champions Come From Behind

By FRANK G. GORRIE
Associated Press Sports Writer
SEATTLE GOLF CLUB, SEATTLE, June 29.—(AP)—It took two sensational extra hole matches in a driving downpour to decide the Pacific Northwest amateur golf championship today. Albert (Scotty) Campbell, Seattle, winning the men's crown for the second time in three years, and Miss Barbara Beach Thompson, Palo Alto, former diving champion at Stanford university, capturing the women's title.

Both Campbell and Miss Thompson came from three holes behind in the last nine of their scheduled 36-hole battles to squeeze out victories at the extra hole. Campbell defeated his fellow townsman, Harry Givan, at the 37th, and the California girl conquered Mrs. Vera Hutchins Ford, of Seattle, six times winner of the northwest title, at the same hole.

A long iron into the bunker cost Givan his match and an out-of-bounds slice from the tee put Mrs. Ford out of commission.

Campbell, twice winner of the Canadian amateur championship, never got ahead of Givan until he won the deciding hole. He was one down at the ninth, all square at the 18th, three down at the 22nd when Givan won three in a row, and only one down again at the 27th.

Scotty armed up the match at the 31st with a par when Harry drove into the woods, lost the 32nd to a birdie, Givan canning a 10-footer and won the 33rd with a par when his opponent three-putted, making the match all square again. They exchanged the next two and halved the 36th in birdie.

With the rain pouring down the necks of 2000 spectators, Campbell put his iron on the green at the extra hole and Givan pushed his into a trap and the match, which was supposed to settle a long-standing argument as to which would win as the No. 1 player in Seattle, was over.

Campbell was two over par and Givan five over for the day. Miss Thompson, who took up golf only two and a half years ago and who had never won a golf crown, became the second California woman to win the championship in the 37 years of competition. Mrs. Brent Potter, also of Palo Alto, triumphed in 1931.

The new champion trailed most of the day, being one down at the 18th and three down at the 27th. On the last nine, Mrs. Hutchins, a veteran in northwest competition, cracked badly, losing the 28th, 29th, 30th and 31st when she began shanking her irons into the woods and traps and Miss Thompson gained a one-hole lead for the second time.

Mrs. Ford missed the square meters at the 34th with a par 5, the California driver flopping two in five and six, and then went to the extra hole, where Mrs. Ford pushed the match and championship out of bounds.

TWO HELENS AND SID WOOD VICTORS WIMBLEDON PLAY

LONDON, June 29.—(AP)—Four Americans remained in the chase for Wimbledon's major tennis titles today as singles fields in the all-England championships were cut to eight in the men's division and sixteen in the women's.

In a way of routine play that produced no particular thrills, Sidney Wood, New York's clever shot-maker, joined Donald Budge, the California red-head, in the men's quarter-finals with a comparatively easy conquest of Harry Hopman of Australia. The two California females, Helen Jacobs and Helen Wills Moody, moved uneventfully into the fourth round of women's competition.

Making it unanimous from an American standpoint, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, top-seeded combination in doubles, reached top form the first time since they arrived in England and moved down the crack Japanese pair, Hideo Nishimur and Jiro Yanoaguchi. In straight sets, Budge and Gene Mako of Los Angeles advanced in the same division.

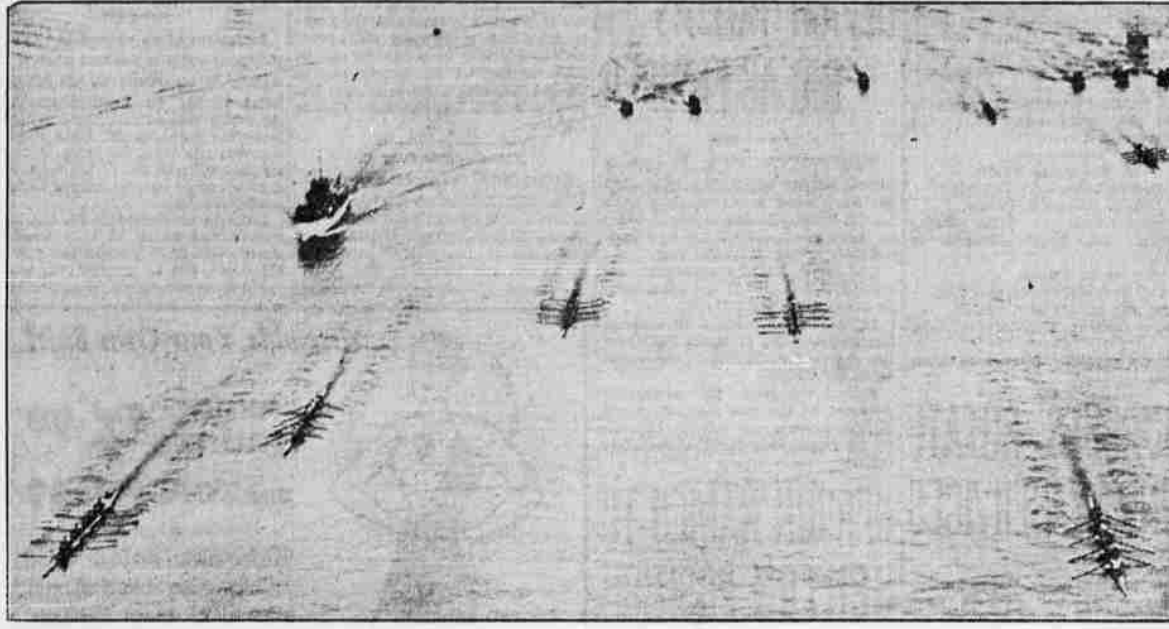

Wood, generally rated the most formidable of Fred Perry's challengers, played carelessly and listlessly against Hopman, but he had no real trouble in taking a 6-1, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 decision over the Australian. In each of the three sets he won Wood lined up a 4-1 lead at the outset and never was in any danger of elimination at any time.

DONKEY BASEBALL GAMES SCHEDULED

When prominent Medford business men climb aboard donkeys at Van Scover field and play a game of baseball, local hat fans and fun-lovers will be given the opportunity of seeing this city's debut of America's newest and most comical sport. The series of donkey baseball games, scheduled by Medford 20-30 club, has been set for July 8, 9 and 10, and plans are being made to select teams from the chamber of commerce, the Elks lodge, the Eagles lodge and other local business and fraternal circles. The exhibition of the baseball game with the obdurate animals will be made possible through Jack Bartlett, who is traveling the country with a herd of the beasts that he used for similar exhibitions at the World's Fair. All the players will be mounted except the pitcher, catcher and the shortstop, and as the donkeys are unshod so as not to injure the players and are trained for all sorts of comical stunts, the series promises unique entertainment.

ROGUES TO PLAY CAVEMEN TODAY

The Medford Rogues—big shots, or has been? That's the question that faces the team today, when they swap luges with the Grants Pass Merchants in the Cave city. A win over the Merchants will be a feather in their caps, but can't put them very close to the top, but a loss will nix them even more firmly in the league cellar, and they have already practically won permanent possession of that position, by virtue of having been there most of the year already.

NO GRAPPLING ON FOR THIS WEEK

Pete Belcastro, belligerent Italian grappler who proved one of the most versatile and polished matmen seen here in a long time when he grappled to a draw last week at the Armory with Lee Wolfe of Texas, is planning to make his headquarters in Medford, and will possibly purchase a home here. Promoter Lillard announced last night before leaving for Portland to open negotiations for the next grip and grapple card. Due to the fact that next Thursday is the Fourth of July, the next bouts at the Armory will be presented July 11.

Enthusiastic residents of one Japanese community recently named a new-born rascal after the country's leading actress.

MAX BAER WEDDED TO CAFE MANAGER, CEREMONY QUIET

De-crowned Pugilist Springs Surprise—Bride Is Brunette and Fond of Home Life.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(AP)—Max Baer, the playboy pugilist, proclaiming himself "a very fortunate young man, indeed," today was married in comparative secrecy to Miss Mary Ellen Sullivan of Ithaca, New York.

Calling back over his shoulder to all and sundry to come on "over to the hotel and we'll have a party," the newly de-crowned heavyweight champion and his bride arranged to leave shortly thereafter by plane for New York.

The marriage ceremony, plans for which were a surprise until the early hours of this morning, was performed in mid-afternoon by Justice F. Dickenson Letts of the District of Columbia Supreme Court. Members of the Letts household peered through the windows of their own home to catch glimpses of the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Baer, 32, a smartly dressed brunette, who until this morning was manager of the Willard Hotel Coffee Shop here, had as her attendant, Mrs. Claire Wagner of Washington. Baer's best man was Jay O'Brien of New York. They were the only witnesses.

When photographers swarmed around them after the ceremony, the newlyweds obligingly kissed again and again.

The newly de-crowned champion, object of many a breach of promise threat, preaced his walk to the altar with the expression of a desire to have "A little girl or a little boy." He had no children by his first marriage.

He jotted down a terse description of Miss Sullivan, which seemed to fit: She is 32; a brunette, fond of home life, doesn't drink, doesn't smoke, he has known her for two years, his mother knows her and approves of the marriage.

Baer said they would make their home in California, where he is building a home.

NEWARK, N. J., June 29.—(AP)—Max Baer, former heavyweight champion and his bride, Mary Ellen Sullivan, arrived at Newark airport by plane from Washington at 7:17 P. M. (EST) today. The ship, an eastern air liner, was 27 minutes late.

Baer, at the behest of photographers, kissed his bride a dozen times. She had little to say, but Max was loquacious as always. He said he would stay in New York until Tuesday, when he and his wife will go to Asbury park.

They may shortly go to the west coast, Baer said. He expressed a desire to make the trip by ship through the Panama canal, and said he was eager to get to California since he wishes to get on with the building of his new home.

He wore a white linen suit. His bride was attired in a white silk suit, a blue blouse, blue shoes and gloves and a blue picture hat.

BEST CCC FIGHTERS MEET ON ASHLAND JULY 4TH PROGRAM

Joe Shvick, 130, the diminutive "Frankenstein" who fights like a robot in the ring, will be pitted against Harvey Snyder, 131, swarthy knockout artist. In one of the feature events of the CCC fight card at Ashland July 4.

Savickel is the lad who decimated Ted Petropoulos of China Flats on the Elks card May 23, the scrap which was probably the most thrilling ever staged here. The South Fork boy never takes a backward step in the ring, moving forward relentlessly from the opening gong to the finish. His expressionless face while in action gave him the "Frankenstein" moniker.

Russ Lobel, 155, the "Terrible Telephone Operator," will meet Tiger Curran, 164, OakKnoll, in another fight that promises plenty of thrills. Lobel will be making his first appearance on a CCC card here although he will go into the ring with plenty of experience behind him.

Curran scored a first round knockout over Harold Davis of Kerby in the semi-final of the Elks picnic card in Medford July 14, and is craving more action.

"Man Mountain" Farmer, 163, of Upper Rogue, and Alvo, 100, the "Terrible Turk" of Oak Knoll, will again serve in the curtain raiser. These little boys will have to fight each other again as there are no other "vacuum weight" scrappers in the district.

Captain William C. Ryan, district officer, is still seeking a main event opponent for Rudy Lezar, South Fork's 168-pound "killer," who battered De Shields of Oak Knoll to a
