SHUPECK TO FACE LEZAR IN MAIN GO ON ASHLAND CARD

Bill Shupeck, 185-pound outliner from Camp Coe Head near Marshfield, will meet Rudy Lezar, 155, South Fork, in the main event on the C.C.C. fight card at Ashland on July 4.

Shupeck is the answer to C. Iain William C. Ryan's search for an opponent tough enough for the South Fork slugger. He hails from Cicero, Ill., and arrived with the last enrollment of men. He won his first western fight with a third-round knockout on a card at Marshfield last week.

With the main event definitely matched, plans are going ahead for the supporting bouts on the 42-round card, which will be featured in the Lithia park amphitheater in Ashland on the afternoon of the Fourth. It will be the first daylight card the C.C.C. fighters have staged in this district.

Another fight which promises to rival the main event for thrills is the semi-final, which will bring together Russ Lobel, 155, the "Terrible Telephone Operator" from headquarters detachment, and "Tiger" Curran, 168, Oak Knoll, who knocked out Harold Davis of Kerby in the first round of their semi-final go on the Elks' picnic card.

Neither of these boys is an experienced fighter, but both are willing to get in and mix it, and it is improbable their fight will go the full distance.

Jack Savickay, 130, South Fork's pint-sized "Frankenstein," who fights like a robot in the ring, will meet the flashy Harvey Snyder, 131, of Upper Rogus in another featured event.

Snyder kayled Leo Ruston of Oregon Caves in the first round of their picnic card here, but in Savickay he will find an opponent worthy of his best attention.

The curtain raiser will again feature Man Mountain Farmer, 103, of Upper Rogus, versus "Terrible Tom" Alves, 100, of Oak Knoll. These little boys are anxious to get at each other's throats again after their heated set-to two weeks ago.

Nine other bouts are being arranged for the big card which will feature 13 fights.

O'DAY CALLED OUT BY GREAT UMPIRE

CHICAGO, July 2.—(AP)—Hank O'Day, whose ruling as a National league umpire once cost the New York Giants the league and world baseball championship, died early today at Presbyterian hospital after several months' illness of bronchial pneumonia.

O'Day was umpire in chief of the National league until his retirement in 1931. Baseball records indicated he was 74 years old but he never would admit his age.

His austere countenance gave him the name of "The Reverend" in baseball circles.

O'Day was a player or an arbiter of the game for approximately 30 years.

O'Day umpired the famous baseball game in 1908 when Fred Merkle failed to touch second base and O'Day ruled that a run that crossed the plate didn't count and that the New York Giants hadn't won the National league championship. The Chicago Cubs won the playoff game and the flag.

GRAPPLE FANS FORCE DECISION FOR ELLIOTT

PORTLAND, July 2.—(AP)—Harry Elliott was declared the winner of the wrestling match with Bulldog Jackson last night when a hostile crowd forced itself in the ring and all but compelled the decision after Jackson had twice tossed Referee Hagen over the ropes and otherwise gained the ill-will of the spectators. The falls were even when the referee gave Elliott the match on a foul.

Other results: Larry Tillman won on a foul from Pug Ryan; Del Kunkle won a straight-fall victory over Ray Lappman.

ROGUES WILL BE BUSY IN COMING HOLIDAYS

The Medford Rogues' baseball nine will be a busy aggregation over the holidays. They play the highly-rated Crescent City R. P. team at Crescent City on the 4th, remain in that city overnight, returning to play the Grants Merchants on the 5th. On Sunday, the 7th, they again meet the Grants Pass outfit here.

Carnival of Fun Promised

When Jack Bartlett's famous World Fair donkeys appear at Vanuocoye field next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, mounted by members of local service clubs, merchants and city dais, Medford folks will witness a carnival of comedy. Beginning at 6:30 o'clock each evening, a series of donkey baseball games will be played, with regulation baseball rules governing the players and their long-eared, obstinate steeds. The 20-30 club, sponsoring the event, will soon announce the line-ups.

WOLFE SIGNED FOR NEXT WEEK'S CARD

Although there will be no wrestling card at the Armory Thursday night, due to the Fourth of July, grappling enthusiasts are looking forward to the following week, assured by the promoter that lean Les Wolfe of Texas will be one of the main event contestants.

Wolfe is now in the south, wrestling at Oakland, but is scheduled to return here for a bout that may find him in action against Pete Belcastro, with whom he wrestled to a draw last week. Joe Hubka, whom he defeated the previous week, may get a chance for a comeback, according to the promoter, and a third line-up would be with Artful Al Korastik of Russia, who recently returned to the Pacific northwest.

Fans are welcoming the news that Belcastro intends to make his home in Medford, using this city as a headquarters for appearances throughout northern California and southern Oregon. Pete surprised his followers last week by staying clean, and put on one of the best exhibitions of wrestling seen here in a long time.

KIRKWOOD SNEERS AT BRITISH PURSE

LONDON, Eng., July 2.—(AP)—Joe Kirkwood, who came a cropper in the British open golf championship at Millfield last week, sneered into town today and let loose a blast about the small prize money offered the open contestants.

"It seems ridiculous that the men who attract the crowds should gain such small benefits," he said. "Until the British idea of prize money is revised, American golfers will stay in America."

"I saw 10,000 people at Millfield the last day, each one representing a half crown (about 60 cents) yet Alred Perry, the hero of that vast gathering, got just 100 pounds (about $500)."

Kirkwood pointed out American golfers must realize approximately $2,500 to make the trip worth while.

SALEM SOFTBALL TILTS PROVE HECTIC AFFAIRS

SALEM, July 2.—(AP)—Two players were painfully injured and an unidentified woman fainted from excitement as the two leaders in the Salem softball league, Kay Woolson Mills and Pede's Grocery, were both trounced by second division teams last night. One player was knocked out by a thrown ball and another wrenched a knee in fielding the ball.

ROGUE STEELHEAD TOPIC OF TALE IN SPORTS MAGAZINE

In the September issue of "All Star Adventure Fiction," magazine published in Chicago and with editorial rooms in New York, will appear an article in the hunting and fishing department, entitled "Rogue River Steelhead." An advance copy of the issue has been received here, and indicates the interest in fishing on the Rogue engendered by the closing of the river to commercial fishing.

Some time ago the magazine asked for information about the river. This was supplied by A. H. Banwell, manager of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce. Much of the information supplied at that time is reprinted in the magazine, and the editor added:

"A million thanks to you, Mr. Banwell. Indeed, it is good news. It always seemed a shame to us that commercial fishing in the Rogue wasn't stopped long before this. We're a long way from Oregon at this moment, but we can close our eyes and picture the thrill we experienced the first time we hooked a 12-pound steelhead and fought it out with him for 50 minutes with a light fly-rod."

"Which reminds us that here's a chance to start a good argument. Mr. Banwell has called the steelhead a salmon. The Oregon game commission has classified it as a trout. Frankly, we don't know, but we'd like to hear from book experts on the subject."

"No matter whether he's a salmon or a trout, he's got more fight in him per pound than any other fresh water fish."

The magazine, of the pulp variety, has a tremendous circulation, and is read by sporting enthusiasts all over the world. The article printed in regard to the river's closure is but one of many, but serves to illustrate the tremendous interest that is being taken in the matter by those who have either fished here in the past, who have heard about the river, or who intend to come here some time in the future.

HACK WILSON TO JOIN BEAVERS LAST OF WEEK

PORTLAND, Ore., July 2.—(AP)—E. J. Scheffer, president of the Portland club, late yesterday announced that Hack Wilson, former major league star recently purchased from the Albany club of the International league, would join the Beavers at Seattle Thursday or Friday.

PORTLAND, July 2.—(AP)—Twenty-five patternmakers were on strike for higher pay and union recognition here today. Labor temple officials said the strikers were "key" employees and that the "walkout," if prolonged, would affect scores of other workers.

RIVAL HELENS LOOM AS FINAL OPPONENTS IN WIMBLEDON PLAY

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 2.—(AP) Dorothy Rounds, England's top-flight player and defending champion, passed from the all-England tennis championships today in a quarter-final upset, but America's Helens — Mrs. Moody and Miss Jacobs — gained the final with a strong likelihood that they will renew their long-standing rivalry in the final.

Joan Hartigan of Australia, displaying one of the most powerful forehands seen here in years, conquered the favored Miss Rounds in three sets, 6-5, 6-4, 6-3.

The Australian player, seeded eighth, will meet Mrs. Moody in the penultimate round. Mrs. Moody was in her old-time form as she disposed of Mme. Rene Mathieu of France in straight sets, 6-3, 6-0, running her opponent ragged from corner to corner with deep baseline drives. Miss Jacobs romped through the first set against Mile. Jadwiga Jedzina Jowaka of Poland and then had to apply all the pressure at her command to substitute the Polish player, finally winning, 6-1, 6-7.

The fourth player to gain the semi-final and Miss Jacobs' opponent in that round was Flauelin Hilda Krahwinkel Spirling of Germany. Flauelin Spirling took the measure of

DUSKY DYNAMITER SHUNS LIMELIGHT

DETROIT, July 2.—(AP)—Joe Louis, Detroit's negro heavyweight sensation, has his own ideas about how these home-coming celebrations should be run off.

Joe returned from his knockout victory over Primo Carnera in New York ahead of schedule, and in so doing eluded the brass bands and the welcoming committee of frock-coated dignitaries who had planned to make his return a Roman triumph he would long remember. Instead, only the white-toothed grin of his friends, the redcaps, greeted him. The welcome committee found him as he was seated at his mother's table.

MAIL TRIBUNE'S NEXT SERIAL

READY MADE WIFE

—BY CORALIE STANTON—

BUSINESS efficiency and emotional appeal — Mark Albery saw them perfectly combined in Laurie Moore, his attractive secretary. Surrounded by "yes" men, he admired this girl with a mind of her own, the courage to back her own judgment even when it clashed with his. He liked that especially in her.

But there was more than admiration for her business sense in Albery's mind when he looked at Laurie. . . . Only one thing, he reasoned, accounted for her reserve, kept her unattainable. How could he erase the tragic memory of Rex Moore, lost in an ocean fight sponsored by Albery's plane factory, where Laurie now worked?

You'll like "Ready Made Wife," Coralie Stanton's new serial.
