JURY CHOSEN FOR WALEY TRIAL

News Behind The News
 By Paul Mallon
 (Copyright, 1935, By Paul Mallon)
 WASHINGTON, July 5.—The treasury gave out an unusually full accounting of its spending for the fiscal year just closed, but naturally it did not add in the costs of the first sixteen months of the Roosevelt administration. If it had, you would have found out that the cost of the new deal so far (to July) has been:
 Ordinary running expense $ 6,462,000.00
 Emergency relief 8,883,000.00
 Total $15,345,000.00
 With that much money you could throw away a $10 bill at every foot of the newest automobile way from here to Los Angeles and arrive there before exhausting your supply (distance 2,950 miles). You could pay a strip of 4 1/2 inch nearly PAUL MALLON twenty inches wide with dollar bills. You could buy every acre of land and water in the large state of California at $150 an acre. If you had that much money thirteen years ago you could have bought the entire states of Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado and Connecticut, and everything in them at high pre-depression prices. (Census bureau estimate of wealth by states in 1922.)
 An itemized statement of what this money has been going for is now available only up to May 31.
 From it you will see that the biggest single item of regular running expense in the new deal has been interest on the debt. About $1,785,000,000 has been paid out in interest by new dealers and all but $607,000,000 was on the old war debt. National defense took $1,218,000,000, of which the navy got $694,000,000 and the army $524,000,000. The veterans' administration took $1,361,000,000.
 If you lump the army, navy, veterans and war debt interest together, you can see President Roosevelt has spent $3,557,000,000 of his money on past and future wars. This is more than one-fifth of his total expenditure, and the end is not yet in sight.
 It only cost him half that much to operate all the rest of the regular branches of government ($1,733,000,000).

ROOSEVELT SIGNS WAGNER BILL FOR LABOR SAFEGUARD

Measure Described by President As Important Step Toward Peaceful Labor Relations in Industry

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(AP)—Signing the Wagner labor bill, President Roosevelt today described it "as an important step toward the achievement of just and peaceful labor relations in industry."
 Among other things, the measure guarantees labor the right to bargain collectively.
 In an accompanying statement, Mr. Roosevelt explained that the new national labor relations board provided by the legislation would serve purely as a quasi-judicial body to assure employees the right of collective bargaining.
 The President expects to name within the month this new important board, replacing the present labor relations board which goes out of existence.
 The statement of the President follows:
 "This act defines, as a part of our substantive law, the right of self-organization of employees in industry for the purpose of collective bargaining, and provides methods by which the government can safeguard that legal right."

STATE ELECTION NECESSARY FOR CAPITOL FUNDS

Federal Grant of 45 Per Cent Promised if State Provides 55 Per Cent—Constitution Is Stickler

SALEM, Ore., July 5.—(AP)—State funds to match federal aid for construction of the new capitol building will have to be voted by the people of Oregon, Governor Martin said today. A definite proposal of financing will be proposed to the board of control meeting here Monday.
 Martin made the announcement following a telegram from Senator Charles L. McNary in which he stated Secretary Ickes had promised a federal grant of 45 per cent if the state from other sources provides the 55 per cent.
 The governor Wednesday wired McNary that the attorney general had ruled financing of the state capitol with rentals was illegal, or that "rental plan with creditor other than the state itself would create state debt in violation of the constitution."
 Constitution Bars
 The constitution permits only a $50,000 indebtedness by the state. The governor advised McNary that Oregon would have to raise the 55 per cent through the legislature or by vote of the people. Today he said he believed the matter would have to be voted upon in a special election.
 McNary's telegram stated: "I immediately arranged for a conference with Secretary Ickes. He promised federal grant of 45 per cent if the state from other sources would obtain 55 per cent of cost in connection with construction of new capitol. The secretary remarked that available money in all probability would be allocated as rapidly as possible and suggested that application for grant be filed with the state director at the earliest possible moment."
 Speed Needed
 Need for speed in obtaining federal aid was stressed by Senator McNary, the governor remarked. In accordance, he requested State Treasurer Rufus C. Holman to outline an immediate plan of raising funds, the figure tentatively set at $3,500,000 for the new building. Holman was not here today but it was understood he would suggest a plan before the board Monday.
 The original plan was for a grant (Continued on Page Eight)

 The sisters were separated after a cyclone destroyed their Illinois home and injured several members of the family.

MORTALITY LIST IS GREATEST OF PAST THREE YEARS

Midwest Leads With 82 Deaths—Fourteen Listed On Pacific Coast—Most Lives Taken by Autos

By the Associated Press.
 At least 214 deaths and thousands of injuries stood today as the price paid by the nation for the celebration of its 139th birthday.
 The Independence day casualty list, while the largest since 1932, was well under the average for the previous seven years. From 1928 to 1934 the July fourth accidental death toll was 1630, an average of approximately 233 deaths for each year.
 Yesterday's death list compared with the 177 recorded last year, the fewest since 1929, and 483 killed on the fourth in 1931 the costliest in recent years.
 The Midwest, with 82 deaths, led the holiday mortality roll. Only 10 deaths were reported in the mountain states; New England had 10 also; the mid-Atlantic group had 20; the south 28; the southwest 38, and the Pacific coast 14.
 Only three deaths were directly attributed to fireworks, an Associated Press survey showed. The majority of deaths were due to automobile accidents and drownings. Autos killed 63, and 79 were drowned.
 ROSEBURG, Ore., July 5.—(AP)—One dead and six injured was the fourth of July accident toll for Roseburg and vicinity.
 The dead: Robert T. McCulloch, 55, Roseburg, injured.
 Injured: Bevil Miller, 16, Roseburg, fractured skull.

FUSS AT BEAGLE LEADS TO SEARCH

Search for Chester Mulholland, 47, Beagle district farmer, and his four children, missing since last night following an alleged altercation between Mulholland and his wife over another man, ended this morning when he and his children were found safe at a neighbor's home, very much surprised that anyone was searching for them according to the state police and sheriff's officers who aided in the hunt.
 According to the police Mulholland left a community dance about 10:30 last night after becoming angry at his wife, and went home to get his children, a boy 16 years old, a girl 8 years, and two smaller boys of 4 and 2 years. They were at the home of their maternal grandmother, Mrs. Stella Nelson. The father got the children out of bed, and all five of them disappeared. Neighbors investigated a search for them when they did not come home, and notified the police and sheriff's offices.
 Combing of the surrounding territory followed, but no trace of the family was found until this morning.

VIOLENCE FLARES IN WASHINGTON LUMBER CENTERS

By the Associated Press.
 Violence again occurred in two Washington lumber industry centers today when police sought to disperse pickets gathered at mill entrances to halt returning workers.
 A tear gas bomb was either thrown or accidentally discharged at Longview while patrolmen tried to disperse a group of pickets from underbrush near the Long-Bell mill. The pickets were throwing rocks. More than a score were arrested on unlawful assembly and disorderly conduct charges.
 At Aberdeen and Hoquiam six mills and plywood plants resumed operations. Employers said 400 men were at work while union leaders said their check showed less than 210. Two men were arrested for allegedly breaking an automobile window. William Glibreath, Bay City mill tallyman, was beaten by four men after being dragged from a store but went on to work anyway. Weather conditions made tear gas, used by state patrolmen to disperse pickets at the Harbor plywood plant, ineffective.
 In Seattle the Belcom-Canal Lumber company doubted its crew of workmen and four other plants hoped to reopen Monday under police protection.

MAY YOHE 'SON' STORY SCOUTED BY CAPT. SMUTS

BOSTON, Mass., July 5.—(AP)—Captain John Smuts, husband of May Yohe, one-time bride of Lord Francis Hope and possessor of the famous Hope diamond, today described as "too silly to talk about," the claim that a Hollywood actor was her son.
 Dismissing the assertion in Hollywood yesterday of Mrs. E. R. Thomas that Robert Thomas, her 26-year-old foster-son, was born to Miss Yohe in Portland, Ore., Captain Smuts, nephew of General Jan Smuts of Boer war fame, said:
 "It's a bore. I've only known my wife since 1913, so of course I had not met her 26 years ago when this young man was a six-month-old baby."
 "But she's a damned good little scout, and she's trapped with me through the jungles and through the wars in India and Malay and she couldn't have had a son in 1909 without my knowing it."
 "This is obviously a common publicity stunt and it's too silly to talk about."
 "We have lived in Boston for the past 13 years and people all over the world know it. It certainly seems strange, to say the least, that nothing was heard of the matter until now."
 Miss Yohe, who lives in a modest section of the city with her retired cement-importer husband, who was once a British army officer, was too ill to speak for herself.

24 INJURED WHEN CRACK G. N. TRAIN STRIKES WASHOUT

BAINVILLE, Mont., July 5.—(AP)—The Great Northern Railway's Empire Builder, transcontinental passenger train, plunged into a washout and was derailed early today, injuring 24 persons, at least 20 seriously.
 Eight cars of the 16-coach train jumped the tracks, four of them rolling over. The engine remained upright.
 The accident occurred at 2:20 a. m. shortly after a cloudburst washed away one thousand feet of track.
 First reports were that a wall of water swept down a hill, just ahead of the westbound flyer, preventing the operation of the block signal system.
 The train, traveling at a moderate rate of speed, lurched at a jolting stop, according to passengers. Many persons sleeping at the time were hurled from their berths.
 The injured were taken to the undamaged coaches where three doctors, a nurse, among the passengers, administered first aid.
 The injured were taken to William, N. D., about 60 miles from here. Doctors there said the more seriously injured included a 12-year-old boy and the brakeman.

Schuler announced today that he has sold his interest in the Medford warehouse, and wholesale wire products business that he has conducted there for several years, to Lorenz company, wholesale hardware and mill supply company of Klamath Falls.  The deal was completed on Friday, June 28, and the Lorenz company took over the business on July 1. Mr. Schuler stated today that he intends remaining in Medford, at least for several months.
 Mrs. C. W. Palm, and Miss Gertrude Werks also own a part interest in the Medford warehouse.

STIFF JOLT FOR DRUNKEN DRIVER

A stiff jolt was handed Wm. Albert Bauer, 27, Hill, Cal., by Justice of the Peace Coleman this morning on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, when he was given a $100 fine, 30 days in the county jail and costs of $4.50. He started to serve the sentence this morning.
 According to the city police who made the arrest, Bauer was driving west on Main street and turned into Central, striking the car of W. J. Burbridge. A complaint had just been made to the city police by a man who said he had been attempting to pass the Bauer car for 10 miles, unsuccessfully. Bauer admitted to city police, they said, that he had been drunk for four days.

Archduke Otto Hinted For Austrian Monarch

By the Associated Press
 Rumors of an impending restoration of the monarchy in Austria today brought into Europe's spotlight the Archduke Otto, 22 years old, and his 20-year-old fiancée, Princess Maria.
 Otto is pretender to the non-existent Austrian throne. He is the son of the late Emperor Karl, the last Austrian king.
 Princess Maria is the youngest daughter of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena of Italy.
 Otto was only six years old when the Austrian revolution at the end of the World War ousted his father. Since then he has lived in exile in Belgium where he is known officially as the Duc De Bar. Throughout his brief life he has been carefully trained for kingship.
 His numerous tutors and servants have paid him homage ordinarily accorded a reigning monarch. He is handsome, dignified and scholarly.
 Princess Maria's engagement to Otto was arranged last September at a conference of former Empress Zita and the Italian sovereigns in Villa Regatta, Italy.
 Maria, rarely seen in public, is fond of music, swimming, skiing, and dancing. She is beautiful, dark-eyed, and speaks several languages, including English, fluently.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

STAMFORD, Texas, July 4.—Cowboy sports and contests are about the most popular thing there is, especially where they know what it is all about. I had often heard of the great time this little city holds every year. It's called a cowboy reunion and it is put on by real ranch hands.
 This is the heart of the old Texas ranch country. The outfits send in their chuck wagons and they have a great time. Lots of good horses and lots of good ropers. Grass is high and cattle are a good price and everybody feeling fine.
 If Mr. Brisbane don't want to use his old slogan any more I will take it: "Don't sell America short."

Retail Business Grows; Wholesale Trade Slows

NEW YORK, July 5.—(AP)—Retail distribution showed some gain during the past week, said Dun & Bradstreet today in their weekly summary of business conditions.
 In wholesale markets and in most lines of industry business was slow because of seasonal factors and the holiday. Regarding the major reduction in the summary, commented that "although the recession in many cases was not seasonal, nearly all of the lines that charted the course of the leading industrial indices either flattened out or turned downward."
 The improvement in retail sales which began during the last ten days of June was extended rapidly during the week, due to the warmer weather prevailing in most parts of the country and the most elaborate preparations for celebration of Independence day that have been made in years.
 In spite of the record breaking hot wave which prevailed a year ago, the improvement over the good showing of retail sales for that period ranged from 8 to 25 per cent.
 Warm weather and special pre-holiday promotions were sufficient to overcome seasonal retarding influences in the southwest, as retail sales were up 8 to 12 per cent from the week preceding, and 20 to 30 per cent in excess of the corresponding 1934 total.
 Continuing the gains of the week preceding, retail sales in the mid-west averaged 8 to 15 per cent higher than a year ago.
