SHE THOUGHT BOY WAS PEEPING TOM IS SLAYER'S ALIBI

LOS ANGELES, July 10.—(UP)—A giggling, red-headed girl, twisting a handkerchief as she smiled nervously at members of a coroner's jury today why she killed a 16-year-old boy when she saw him walk past her bedroom window.

The girl, Kathryn Parks, 17-year-old stage dancer, was held in custody of juvenile officers, charged with manslaughter for "wilfully and unlawfully slaying without malice" Glenn Dreyer, in spite of her insistence she thought he was a "peeping tom." She was held in $2000 bond for hearing July 17.

It was only after Police Chief Harold Atkinson of Huntington Beach, a suburb, where the shooting occurred, said he would hold her in custody until unexplained details of the case were inquired into, that the girl slumped dejectedly into her chair.

The case, at first believed to be a case of shooting at a supposed "peeper," became complicated when a neighbor, Mrs. J. R. Hale, said she saw the boy walk across the lawn of the Parks residence at the moment he was shot, "but at no time did he stop to peek in."

Miss Parks, snickering frequently as she told her story, said she "looked through the bathroom window and saw a man standing there."

"I shot downward," she said, "for fear the bullet might hit a neighbor—but I didn't intend to hit the man—only flash him away." The bullet drilled through Dreyer's left temple.

She said he was three feet away, whereas Mrs. Hale's testimony was that the boy "cut across the lawn" and did not stop walking.

The jury reported it was "unable to determine whether the shooting was justifiable."

"Let 'Em Have It" Starts Thursday

Taking a different slant from "G-Men," the first federal agent picture show here a few weeks ago, "Let 'Em Have It" opening tomorrow at the Craterian theater, delves into the heretofore carefully guarded secrets of the "why," "how" and "wherefore" of the government agents in their war on crime.

Richard Arlen, Harvey Stephens and Gordon Jones play roles of G-Men on the blood-spattered trail of Bruce Cabot, whose portrayal of Public Enemy Number One, is one of this capable players' foremost screen achievements.

MATHEMATICAL FEATS OF FRENCH GIRL MOST ACCURATE ON RECORD

PARIS.—(UP)—The metaphysical Institute of Paris has just announced after extensive tests that it has discovered the most accurate mathematical memory on record in the brain of a girl of 22 named Belle Oeka.

Miss Oeka can raise a number to its tenth power by mental arithmetic, and can extract the root of a number of the same power in less than a minute. Twenty persons may each give her orally a number running into billions or trillions, and after she has heard them all, she will repeat in any order desired, their numbers, if you would like to know the number of days, hours, minutes and seconds you have lived, give her the date of your birth, and she will tell you almost instantaneously, with due allowance for leap years.

MAN CONFESSES TRIPLE MURDER. SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 10.—(UP)—Francis plea of his supposed paramour that he "saw them all to hell" drove Karl O. Bichey, 50-year-old carpenter, to drive Mrs. Pearl Margaret Equina and their two illegitimate children over a cliff March 27, 1934. Bichey charged with the gruesome "triple skeleton murder" after he confessed to the year old crime, spoke in a low trembling voice, his watery eyes focused on guarded hands in his lap.

HOLLYWOOD DIVORCES HOLD BAD INFLUENCE FOR IOWANS, IS VIEW

DES MOINES, Ia.—(UP)—Marital troubles of Jean Harlow and other Hollywood stars probably have increased Iowa's divorce rate, Dr. E. G. Lockhart, professor of applied psychology at Drake University, believes.

Lockhart made his conclusion after studying a report compiled by R. V. Malaren, head of the Iowa department of vital statistics, which showed that of every four marriages legalized in Iowa during the past five years, one ended in the divorce courts.

BUNGALOW SLAYING BELIEVED CLEARED. LOS ANGELES, July 10.—(UP)—Warren A. Russell, 50, was taken into custody today after an autopsy indicated a murder, instead of a suicide, in the mysterious death of Mrs. Marion Brown, 45, whose nude body was found sitting in a chair of her apartment.

Cemetery Guarded Against Expansion. CHICAGO, July 10.—(UP)—Determined that Evergreen Park cemetery shall encroach no further on city land, Mayor William T. Conrad and his guests maintained vigil in Evergreen cemetery today. They will stay until tomorrow, when an ordinance preventing further extension of cemeteries takes effect. Mayor Conrad said.

PIERCE EXPLAINS INSURANCE FORMS

"Liability Insurance" was the subject expertly treated by Max Pierce in an informal address before the Kiwanis club at their regular meeting Monday noon. He explained all the different business hazards to be met every day, and each kind of insurance specifically designed to protect the business man. The address was not only instructive, but was also pronounced very interesting and entertaining.

A new member was taken into the club at the meeting, James K. Hoey of the Brill Sheet Metal company. He was promptly appointed a member of the committee to arrange for a Kiwanis picnic to be held in the near future, to serve under Everett Troutbridge, who was named chairman. Gene Thomas will be the third member of the committee.

Guests at the luncheon were Tom Dettell of Klamath Falls and Dr. T. Ruddy from Los Angeles, who was the guest of Dr. W. W. Howard.
