Nick Carter, a miner, called as a witness this morning in the suit of George M. Roberts and others, as shareholders in the "Lucky 13" mine, in the Siskiyou, against W. E. (Jed) Hittson and wife, for an accounting of gold assertedly taken from the property, testified that he had received his share of seven ounces of gold, at $29 per ounce.

Orris Crawford, cashier of the First National bank, identified receipts for gold sent to the U.S. mint at San Francisco, last December.

Both witnesses testified the transactions occurred last December and January.

The mining property is located in the Blue Lodge district, just over the California line, and a number of residents there were in court as witnesses and spectators.

Yesterday was devoted to hearing of arguments between counsel on legal points involved, covering the question whether the gold was removed from the "Lucky 13" or the "Ruby" claim, group, which adjoins.

The testimony and arguments also covered the question of title, which changed hands several times since its original filing.

The case is being heard before Circuit Judge Carl E. Wimberley of Douglas county.

The plaintiffs claim that Hittson removed the gold without authority, or consent of other stockholders. The amount involved in the present action approximates $16,000.

A similar action, involving the mine and gold removed therefrom is pending in the superior court of Siskiyou county, Calif.

RELIGIOUS HATRED SPREADS STRIFE IN IRISH FREE STATE

demonstrations marked the strife both in north and south.

Dock workers at Limerick on the Shannon river in the southwestern section of the Free State, called on strike, refusing to unload a cargo from a vessel owned by a Belfast firm.

Agitation arose for another strike in Belfast, where shipyard workers returning from vacations were attacked. After a brief skirmish, the workers finally reached the shipyards with only one casualty.

Clergy urged thousands of workers inside the shipyards to throw their support to the cause of peace, and the workers consented to stay at their posts.

Windows were smashed in several sections of Ireland. Among the buildings destroyed by fire was a Protestant church in Kilmallock, County Limerick, Irish Free State.

With nine fatalities already registered here, Coroner Thomas Alexander held an inquest after which murder indictments were returned naming "persons unknown."

The coroner denounced the ten days of disorders, following the Protestant Orangemen's celebrations of the battle that made Protestantism secure as the religion of the north, as "all so wanton and meaningless."

"Bigotry is the curse of peace and good will," he said.
