

TOURIST THROG FILLS HOME TOWN OF QUINTUPLETS

5000 Visit Hospital On Sunday - Many Sleep in Cars to Get Early Morning Glimpse of Sisters

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Dionne quintuplets are bringing a boom to this part of northern Ontario.

Tourists from all provinces of Canada and the United States head by thousands for the Dufresne hospital, 12 miles from here.

Traffic police estimate 5000 have visited the hospital on a single Sunday preceding a holiday, and about the same number on the following day.

On an average Sunday, they estimate, more than 3000 visit the hospital. The average daily crowd is placed at more than 1000.

Resort proprietors and others dependent on tourist traffic are experiencing the biggest season since this business became a major factor in the commercial life of the district.

Dr. A. H. Dufresne, physician to the famous babies, reported there was no accommodation for tourists last night anywhere in the district between Huntsville and North Bay.

Some 50 automobiles were parked on the streets of Chalmers through-out the night, motorists trying to get some sleep before they went out to see the first of the babies "four-a-day" shows at 8 a. m. today.

A. McDonald, clerk of the North Bay board of trade's tourist information bureau, estimates tourist traffic has shown a 35 per cent increase over last year.

McDonald said that of all the tourists who inquired at his bureau, about 40 per cent ask about the quintuplets.

Many tourists have driven from as far as California and Florida for the express purpose of seeing the babies, and then return home without a stop-over.

Other sources reported that the province of Ontario is enjoying a revenue of at least $300 to $400 a day, or nearly $12,000 a month, in gasoline taxes paid by visitors to the quintuplets' home.

NOTED WRITERS IN ATTENDANCE AT CONVENTION

By Maud Pool
Col. Robert A. Miller of Portland, southern Oregon pioneer, and well known for his painting and poetry, was among the 75 writers from all sections of the Pacific coast, here this morning for the 9th annual convention of the League of Western Writers which opened at Hotel Medford.

Col. Miller was busy greeting old friends, and without sufficient time to express his wish to "meet the girls."

Only a small number of visitors registered this morning, although a large enrollment is expected by tomorrow. Professor Lawrence E. Nelson of Redlands University, Cal., is among the noted visitors here. He has published two books of poetry and is president of the Los Angeles chapter of the Writers League which has a membership of 500 noted writers.

Prof. Nelson will appear on the program as will Prof. N. H. Comish of University of Oregon, whose recent book, "Trend of Business," written from the viewpoint of the manufacturer, is filling a great need in the business world. Prof. Comish has just returned from a manufacturers' meeting at San Francisco.

Ben Field of Los Angeles, editor of Overland Monthly, magazine founded by Bret Hart, is here for the convention, and is the author of "The Sculptured Courtroom," 150 page book of poems being brought out in Philadelphia at present, and which will be on sale in Medford.

Mrs. Agnes E. Hines of Forest Grove, well-known writer of poems, songs, and motion picture productions, is also registered.

Others registered are Maud Ella Graham, Pearl Woodbridge, Pamela P. Jones, Miss Bertha Mautermann, Margaret Rose Anderson, and Fannie E. Randall, Seattle; Miss Jesse B. Hertz, Tacoma; Miran L. Condon, Edna Wilkins, Mary Ada Heuley, Anna Holm Pogue, Minnie Roof Deo, Clara C. Ingham, Mrs. Victoria Judson and Mrs. Neale Meyer, Portland; Mrs. J. C. Nelson (Pen Name, Anna Van Horssen), Mrs. Viola Price Franklin and P. O. Franklin, Salem; Ruth M. Hemm, Los Angeles; Clio Lee Ayodott, Hazard, Cal., officer of the San Joaquin chapter, and Mrs. Wm. Roe, Presson.

The Colonel Crashed Jail

Now He's New Salvation Army Head

SAN FRANCISCO.—(AP)—As a result of his effort "to crash" jail 43 years ago, young George H. Davis joined the Salvation Army. Now, at 61, he becomes director of its world wide evangelistic work.

Col. George H. Davis

He is Col. George H. Davis, chief secretary for the army's western United States territory, who has been appointed "international spiritual specialist" by Gen. Evangeline C. Booth, one of the highest posts received by an American officer.

His conversion came at 15. It was a Methodist revival conducted by a Quaker minister.

"Boy Preacher" in 1892
Young Davis turned from the status of a "boy preacher" in Pittsburgh, Pa., to that of Salvation Army soldier in 1892, he recalls, as direct result of arrest of the army's captain for preaching on a street corner.

"I thought that as a good Christian I ought to go to jail too," he says. "I was afraid the police might make up as I was, as I bucked on a drum so I couldn't be missed."

It took persistent courage to conduct street meetings in those days. "We were beaten, pelted and made victims of riots," he remembers. "We used to have to look arms with our women folk inside a square and go out into mobs howling and shouting they would kill us. It went on until one old man was killed. He died in my arms."

"I'll Be a Bum"
His new work will carry him all over the world. "I'll be a bum," he laughs, "just a wanderer on the face of the earth."

His orders call for him first to spend three months in New Zealand, for which he will sail from here August 20.

Salvation Army work seems to go with his family too. His wife was formerly an officer, and one of his two sons is now one of its captains.

JUDGE MAHONE, HEAD OF WRITERS LEAGUE, STARTED AS EDITOR

By Maud Pool
Judge L. D. Mahone of Portland, president of the National League of Western Writers, and author of numerous books, obtained his early experience in the journalistic field as editor of a country weekly at Harvill, West Va., when he was 15.

He stated this morning in giving a brief review of his life's work. It was contact gained at that time with men considered "fatal to reporters" which enabled him to gain interviews with prominent men of West Virginia on which he based one of his books now in press.

Judge Mahone's first book was "Destiny of the Republic," the outcome of a trip to South America. "Blazing of New Trails," the result of interviews with prominent men of this country, will be published next month. Judge Mahone served in the senate press gallery in Washington, D. C. from 1900 to 1901, and has written many short stories in his earlier life. He was president of the old Oregon Writer's league.

In speaking of the present League of Western Writers, Judge Mahone said the entire program is being revamped, and with no connecting link between the national presidency and the work of individual chapters. Each state will have its own president, appointed shortly after convention.

The Judge will go to Mexico soon for court duty, handling cases in which Americans are involved.

VINGIE ROE AMONG AUTHORS PRESENT

Vingie E. Roe, colorful western writer who made her home on a ranch near Eagle Point from 1910 to 1912, returns to old haunts and old friends on her visit to Medford for the annual convention of the League of Western Writers now in session here.

From her big ranch near Nampa, California, she drove to Medford to speak before the convention at the E. Church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock on "Arizona Uplands With Saddle and Pack." Tomorrow afternoon she will sit in open round-table discussion, answering questions on the technique of novel writing.

She has many western books to her credit, as well as magazine stories, and several of her stories have been filmed. Her latest books are "Sons of the Uplands," and "Black Belle Rides the Uplands."

Vingie Roe will spend only two days at the convention, the press of business at her California ranch being too great to allow a long stay, she will visit many old friends while here.

Simple Home Treatment For Swollen Veins
If you or any relative or friend is worried because of swollen veins or bunches, the best advice for home treatment that anyone in this world can give is to get a prescription through a doctor's dispensary for an original two-ounce bottle of Rubensol Oil (full strength) and apply night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins. Should you should notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are no longer troublesome. Rubensol Oil is a powerful, yet harmless, inhibitory antiseptic—returning circulation if unobstructed.

SCOUTS IN CAMP AS PRACTICE FOR JAMBOREE VISIT

By Irwin Doty
Amid the teasing aside, the scouts and the chafing crew, the scouts of Crater Lake council went into their Pre-Jamboree camp at Jackson Hot Springs yesterday.

All scouts gathered at Boy Scout Headquarters at 7:30 a. m. to load the truck with supplies for the camp. Then boys then reported at the camp site for work. They were divided into groups. One group had charge of cleaning the grounds, another took care of sanitary conditions of the camp by digging a garbage pit. A third erected the kitchen fly and the fly over the dining tables.

After lunch the different appointments were made. They were: Troop reporter, Irwin Doty; troop scribe, Don Price; wain leader, Bob Gail; song leader, Bob Gail; patrol leader for Rogie, Box, Larry, Schade, Jr., Klamath patrol leader, Bob Gail; Shasta patrol leader, LaVern Dalenberger and Caves patrol leader, Howard Grover.

Members of Rogie patrol are: Larry Schade, Chris Barker, Irwin Doty, Robert Mullin, Bob Nixon, Walter Kresak, Jack Martin and Jack Heyland.

Those in the Klamath patrol include: Bob Gail, Warren Bayless, Jim Weeks, Wayne Rungerting, Don Price, Ed Warren, Milton Augley, and John Harding.

Scouts in Shasta patrol are: LaVern Dalenberger, Robert Horde, Norman Lorenzen, Gordon Alphonse, George Bibby, Reed Cox, Bill Holloway, and Douglas Burk.

Members of Caves patrol are: Howard Grover, Dale Throckmorton, George Lewis, Jerry Vester, Glenn Mitchell, Richard Schuhard, and Gage Sanden.

The patrol flags are very unique in that they have names written on them that signify certain sections of northern Oregon and northern California. These names are: Rogie, Klamath, Shasta and Caves.

The camp at Jackson Hot Springs is arranged to the exact scale as it will be in Washington, D. C.

The explosion totally wrecked his sedan, valued at $120, Russell H. Kones told police. Firemen soon put out the garage blaze. He is a time-keeper at the Wheeler-Osgood plant.

The fresh outbreak of attacks on mill workers at the north end mill came as men were punching the time clock at 4:30 last evening preparatory to going home. From a crowd of 100 men outside the plant about 30 rushed inside and a general fight ensued in which half a dozen non-union workers were attacked.

Exempt from the inheritance and gift taxes are amounts which go to political subdivisions for public use, to religious, scientific, charitable, literary or educational institutions not operated for profit, fraternal societies, war veterans organizations and community chests.

The existing tax on the giver of gifts is changed to allow corporations to deduct from their taxable income up to 5 per cent of its total for gifts to charitable organizations.

HANSCOM'S PLEA FOR PARDON HAS OPPOSITION HERE

Hanscom is the third murderer of a woman, according to the authorities, over whether one of the women would dance with Hanscom.

In a sudden and violent fit of temper, the evidence showed, Hanscom, a powerful man, struck Tingleaf, pulled him from the auto and unmercifully beat him with his fist and kicked him. Tingleaf died the next day from the injuries.

Pleaded Guilty.
Hanscom, two weeks after the attack, entered a plea of guilty to second degree murder, and was sentenced
