

CROP CONDITIONS IN COUNTY LISTED BY COUNTY AGENT

Harvesting of the field products is now underway in Jackson county and according to a report of County Agent Robert G. Fowler, conditions now appear as follows:

Threshing of wheat is largely completed, and the yield will be 65 per cent of normal.

Corn is now "earing out", and the yield will be 75 per cent of normal. There is a slight shortage of corn, owing to a late, wet spring, and many corn growers being unable to start their crops.

The oat yield will be 80 per cent of normal. The same percentage holds for the barley crop, which has a slightly "higher average than last year." The hay crop is larger than in 1934, "with less weevil damage, and more grain hay."

The tomato crop is held by the county agent to be "an average normal crop, with good quality and condition."

Cantaloupes grown in the valley were also normal and of good quality and size. "Heavy shipments of California cantaloupes are now going north and some may be finding their way into local markets," Fowler observed.

The turkey output for the valley is listed as "slightly more than the 42,000 birds produced last year, with prospects of better condition, when ready for market."

"The turkeys right now are doing well," Fowler reports. "They are on the range where the feed is good and there is more or less feeding by the growers."

In a report received today by the county agent from the state planning board, Jackson county is rated fourth in the state, in value of crops produced.

Picking and packing of Bartlett pears is scheduled to start in most of the orchards and packing plants Monday, August 19, with a few of the earlier orchards starting picking by August 16.

Logging Camp of Shaw Bertram is Swept by Blaze

Blaze had reached here this morning. The mill section of the camp was reported completely destroyed by the rapid blaze. The mill itself was razed and its machinery left in ruins. Green chain, landing and carriage went up with the smoke or fell twisted and broken in the smoldering ashes.

An estimated 60,000 feet of lumber in uncut logs flared like tinder as fire drove over the landing.

A boiler burst with a roar under the pressure of super heated steam, leaving a great jagged rent down its side.

Barrels of oil added their black, suffocating heat to the inferno as the flames leaped up the oil house above the mill.

The camp buildings and stacks of cut lumber in the yards were saved.

Social Security Agreement Seen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Members of a conference committee adjusting senate-house differences on the social security bill reached a complete agreement today by eliminating the Clark provision permitting tax-exempt private pension plans to remain in operation.

The private provision had been holding up an agreement for weeks.

In place of it, the conferees decided to have the respective committees in each house study the question with a view to possible amendatory legislation at the next session.

MEET the WIFE

MRS. ROSCOE TURNER

Roscoe Turner flies through the air with the greatest of ease, but the navigation around the house is done by Mrs. Turner. . . . The gallant colonel cannot remember telephone numbers and he never knows where he leaves anything. . . . Mrs. Turner was Caroline Stovall of Mississippi. . . . She has flown thousands of miles with her husband, but not in the speed dashes. . . . Then the colonel believes he travels the fastest who travels alone. . . . The navigator of the house sits at home and answers the telephone and here is often the harder chore. . . . Mrs. Turner, a tall, willowy brunette, is a musician, playing the guitar and weird string instruments. . . . The Turners have a 400-pound lion, reared from a cub.

GOLD SUIT BAN IN SIX MONTHS PASSES SENATE

The vote by which the senate approved the resolution was 63 to 24. Despite hot attacks on the measure from both sides of the party aisle, it went through with less than a day's debate. Warnings from critics that it would endanger government credit were denied by administration spokesmen yesterday. The final ballot came suddenly today without debate.

The bill is designed to close up the last loop-hole left by the supreme court's gold clause decision. In that cast, the court held that holders of government obligations promising pay in gold could recover if they could show they were damaged by payment in paper money.

Officers Probing Slaying of Youth

PENDLETON, Ore., Aug. 8.—(AP)—An investigation into the death of Roy Hamm, 19-year-old Portland, Ore. boy whose body was found yesterday in the basement of a vacant ranch house near Meachem east of this city, was being pushed today by state and county officers.

No clues as to the identity of the slayer have been announced. State policemen have stated they believe Hamm, who started from Portland for Pocatello, Idaho, in a truck July 28, was killed by a hitch-hiker with whom he might have been "bunking" in the abandoned residence for the night.

KELLY AND KELLY AND COUNTY GIVEN FEHL FUND SHARES

"The balance should be paid to Jackson county, upon the court judgment," in the Klamath county trial.

Kelly and Kelly are directed to prepare a decree in accordance with the opinion.

In the $2000 lien for legal services of Kelly and Kelly, the opinion holds that Feh's contention they acted without his authority, is refuted by letters he wrote imploring them to render legal aid and saying, "I will pay you back when I get out." The opinion further says:

The defendant, Earl H. Feh, seems to have been constantly in need of the services of attorneys, but, according to the evidence showed no disposition to pay for such services.

The opinion denies the claim of Attorney T. J. Enright for $500 and the claim of Niedermeyer, Inc., for the same amount for the same purpose.

The claim of Ted Helmroth of Griffin creek and J. B. Thomas of Ashland, for a title to the Pacific Herald property on Sixth street is denied. "For the reason that they advanced the money as a loan to Feh and any title which they may now have by virtue of their sheriff's deed is held as security for the re-payment of the moneys so advanced."

Helmroth and Thomas loaned Feh approximately $4500 at the time of the sale of the Pacific Record Herald property in January, 1933.

In the claim of Corintha E. Staley, mother-in-law of Feh, who advanced $500 for purchase of the Parr label judgment, the opinion holds, "This judgment was purchased by and for the defendant Earl H. Feh," and Mrs. Staley now holds it "as repayment of the $500 furnished through the sale of her liberty bonds."

The court during the course of the trial, "admonished all old people to consider the Oregon supreme court findings, in which they were warned not to loan their savings to kinfolks."
