

ICE CREAM CODE CLAIMED UNFAIR

SALEM, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Briefs upholding the Multnomah county circuit court's decision that the state agricultural adjustment act was unconstitutional, were filed in the state supreme court today by attorneys for Fred Meyer, Portland chain store operator.

The suit was originally brought against Meyer to restrain him from selling ice cream at a price below the minimum set by the code, and Circuit Judge Winter held the code unconstitutional. The case was immediately appealed to the higher court.

In the brief filed today Meyer contended that the code was formed by manufacturers and distributors, and that it raised the price of ice cream from 28 to 40 cents a quart, and "The farmer received only one cent of the increase."

Building Permits

T. T. Goldtrap, 208 North Riverside, received a permit today for the construction of an open shed.

A permit was granted to the Signal Oil company of 345 North Front for the addition of a landing platform.

BUTTER DECREASE CAUSES SHORTAGE

PORTLAND, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Decreasing make of butter was again suggested in the general trade here today with resulting shortage of top score. The latter is showing a generally steady tone, although here and there some weakness is showing for lower grades.

There was no change in price for the day.

The egg market remained unchanged, with demand good for real quality and slow for inferior stuff. Scarcity of light weight broilers continued and prices held relatively high. General live chicken trade was practically unchanged.

Boom in tomato market prices here was the result of inability of the trade to secure its increasing needs. Sales were made to $1.20 box.

Editorial Comment

Dan Kellaher

The fireworks have only begun. In our opinion, in the arrest of Dan Kellaher, former state parole officer charged with agreeing to receive a bribe, Kellaher was notorious when parole officer in seeking the release of prisoners. Fortunately a number of cases were overruled in the governor's office but altogether too many hand-boiled, dangerous criminals were released because this soft-hearted, cunning Irishman recommended freedom. The expose of his $50,000 contract with L. A. Banks under which he was to seek executive clemency for the Medford murderer, gives the Marion county grand jury ample opportunity to dig up the facts about pardons and paroles granted during Kellaher's regime.

Kellaher came to Salem as one of the old George Joseph crowd, a man who could always be counted on to deliver the north end of Portland when Joseph was carrying out his political plots. Governor Meier appointed Kellaher out of sympathy for his deceased friend. Kellaher did incalculable harm to the state and it now appears that he sought to feather his own nest in doing it.

The pardon and parole racket, is a vicious one in any number of states. Clever lawyers use friends and relatives of prisoners as dupes and shake them down for sizable sums. Sometimes they "spring" the prisoners, frequently the money is pocketed and the prisoner stays behind the bars. The latter cases have a bad rebound and it is from such cases that the district attorney of Marion county can get witnesses. We have no sympathy either for the parole officers or the attorneys who connive such plots. A full exposition of their actions is due and the law should be salutary in punishment if they are proved guilty.—(Sheldon F. Sackett in Coos Bay Times.)

Scandal

Oregon has had no scandal of recent years comparable to the revelation in Salem at the Banks hearing concerning Dan Kellaher. This man, while still in the pay of the state as parole officer, is said to have bargained with a prisoner for payment of a large sum of money for obtaining his release.

It will be recalled, first that Kellaher was a Meier appointee, and secondly that an unusually large number of pardons was issued during the Meier administration. It is not easily conceivable that a man would stoop so low as to carry on a traffic in pardons but the record, under the circumstances, needs a thorough investigation.

One of the interesting phases of this case is the fact that the hearing demanded by that home-made radical, Dick Neuberger and his associates was completely smothered by the stench of scandal. It was an ill-conceived affair from the outset.—(Roseburg News-Review.)

Two More Services By Evangel Olsen

With only two services remaining in the series of special meetings being conducted by Evangelist Evelyn Olsen at the Pull Gospel church, Pastor Leonard Weston urges everyone to make a special effort to attend tonight and Sunday night.

"Miss Olsen's ministry here has been a blessing to many souls," says Mr. Weston, "and it is our sincere desire that many more friends will enjoy these closing services."

Tonight Miss Olsen will speak on the subject, "Riding the Camels."

"Do you have your 'ups and downs'?" This message will help you to understand your case. Come with your burden, go home with a smile," says Rev. Weston.

OHIO FLOOD TOLL NEAR $3,000,000

ZANESVILLE, O., Aug. 9.—(AP)—The toll of destruction from Ohio's worst flood in 22 years mounted higher today as the crest of the swollen waters here moved on toward the Ohio river.

With two persons known to have drowned, another missing, and three others dead as indirect results of the flood and the series of storms that preceded it, unofficial estimates of property damage ranged upward today from $3,000,000.

FLYING LIFEBOAT AIDS NURSE AT GIRLS CAMP

PORT ANGELES, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The "flying lifeboat" of the Port Angeles coast guard station made its first rescue today.

Piloted by Lieut. Carl G. Bowman, the big amphibian coast guard plane, recently assigned to the station here, flew to West Sound on Coos Island and picked up Miss Jo Hansen, 28, of Bellingham, a nurse at a girls' camp who was suffering from what was believed to be an attack of acute appendicitis. The plane was equipped to handle stretcher cases on vessels at sea.
