HEAT JACKS UP BUTTER PRICES

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Butter prices responded to the weather's heat and advanced 1 cent a pound for all scores except first here today. Butterfat automatically made a similar rise. Decreasing make one butter, together with fear of further loss in churning operations, boosted prices. With a decrease of fresh eggs still showing, basket for eggs continued good for fresh stock at least, although the word "fresh" is not tolerated under the new state law. Trading in the chicken market continued steady generally and no changes were shown in the buying or selling quotations for the day. A few dressed turkeys continued to meet demand.

In Craterian and Holly Shows

"When parents divorce—what rights have the children?" This is the question asked, and answered with dramatic intensity, in "Age of Indiscretion," amazing drama of children of separation and the law courts, playing at the Craterian theatre tomorrow only. The new picture, with Paul Lukas, Madge Evans, May Robson and Little David Jack Holt involved in the main action, is a graphic echo of several famous court cases of recent times. Delving into the intimate facts, it has produced a gripping piece of human interest entertainment touched with high drama. The same program will also be shown tomorrow night at the Holly theatre.

The Ethiopian Situation

By the Associated Press. ROME—Informed circles report Mussolini's policy to be "no compromise at tri-power conference on Ethiopian crisis." LONDON—Lord Robert Cecil urged Britain to show Italy it will uphold League of Nations by force if necessary.

WANT A DEER? LITHIA PARK HAS SURPLUS OF FORAGING CREATURES

ASHLAND, Aug. 13.—(Spl.)—Do you want a deer? If so, just apply to the Ashland Lithia Park commission and your wish will be fulfilled, as the commission has a bunch of deer on their hands in the upper park pen with the aged elk—which they want to give away. They have found from repeated experiences that it is useless to turn them out, as they like their feeding lot there so well that they immediately return. In fact, there are recruits outside the fence almost every evening, applying for admission. One reason the commission is very desirous of giving them away immediately is that the deer have eaten the undergrowth and there is really very little there to eat now. Unless they can dispose of them at once, they will have to make an expenditure for feed. This, of course, does not apply to the deer in the lower park pen, as they are one of the greatest attractions in the park. Local people and tourists and other visitors in the city flock to the lower park pen to view the deer and other animals in the park zoo, but very few go to the upper pen where the deer are kept with the elk.

Rialto's Star

For sheer suspense and ingenuity, the newest of the Charlie Chan mysteries tops all its predecessors and Warner Oland once more registers heavily in his most celebrated role of Chan in "Charlie Chan in Egypt," starting at the Rialto theater today for a three-day run.

The story carries Charlie Chan to the mysterious-land of the Pharaohs. Priceless gold and jeweled treasure have been taken from among those brought to light by the French Historical society's expedition, near Luxor on the Nile, and Charlie Chan is assigned to trace the thefts and the thieves. A killer strikes and, with the shadowy hand of death casting its gloom over the entire family of the expedition leader, Charlie Chan's skill and courage are tested to their limit.

Cord of Thanks. We wish to extend our thanks and appreciation to the many friends who so graciously rendered services during our recent bereavement. —John Peterson and friends.
