

GOVERNOR FAVORS ACQUIRING CAMPUS FOR CAPITOL SITE

Salem and State Should Cooperate for Real Civic Center Is Word—Special October Session Hinted

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Governor Charles H. Martin, returning here from a short vacation trip to Bremerton, said Wednesday he was in favor of the state's acquisition of the Willamette campus or adjoining property for an adequate capitol grounds, as this was the time the city of Salem and the state should make a "real civic center" out of the present location of the capitol, the federal building and the Marion county court house.

New P. O. Spurs Talk
Word from Washington that Salem was allocated funds for a new federal building and postoffice spurred the governor to express his views regarding a "perfect and timely situation" to do some civic work. "What we must depend upon, however, is a citizenry with vision into the future," he added.

Martin declared that with additional grounds, particularly the Willamette campus, the state could make a fine capitol location. The new federal building, the old, and with reports of a new court house the entire district in which the three governmental structures would be located would make a fine civic center, he said.

Board Studies Site
The state has proposed a $3,300,000 capitol building to replace the old structure destroyed by fire April 25. A 45 per cent grant from the federal government has been requested and compliance has been assured by Senator Charles H. McNary. The matter of acquiring the Willamette campus at a cost between $600,000 and $1,000,000 is before a joint committee of the board of control and the board of trustees of the university. The governor did not indicate when he would call the special session of the legislature, but it was believed it would not be before the first of October.

MATANUSKA PIONEERS ASSURED OF MARKET FOR INITIAL PRODUCE

PALMER, Alaska, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Prospects of ready markets and satisfactory prices cheered the government's land settlement colonists in the Matanuska valley today while they made ready to harvest their first crops.

Don R. Irwin, colonization director for the Alaska rural rehabilitation corporation, predicted the modern pioneers would receive prices considerably above those prevailing in mid-western market centers.

He believed, too, that a cooperative marketing and sales organization planned for the development will prevent financial failures suffered by many former Alaska homesteaders. Potatoes in excess of what the colony will need for its own use during the winter will find a quick market ranging from $1.50 to $2 at Chicago, depending on grade, Irwin said. Fresh vegetables of which there appeared little probability of a surplus this year could be sold for nearly double their price in Seattle. String beans, eagerly accepted by restaurants, brought around 7 cents a pound at Anchorage at the same time they sold for 3 to 4 cents wholesale in Seattle.

OREGON WPA PROGRAM READY START ROLLING SOON SAYS CHIEFTAIN

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Oregon's work progress administration is about ready to "start rolling."

The Oregon office has recommended to Washington 219 projects calling for expenditure of about $1,600,000. Administrator E. J. Griffith said today. The endorsed projects would provide an estimated 22,000 "man-years" of labor.

"I noticed in the paper that the first allocation for Oregon WPA projects was made yesterday," Griffith said. "However, I have not been advised yet which projects were approved."

"At least double the number of projects recommended by the Oregon office have been submitted or suggested and are being considered. Most of the WPA projects are limited to $25,000, but some are for more."

"We make no announcement as to which applications are recommended to Washington," Griffith stated. "The applicant is notified, and may make announcement if he desires. Announcement will be made when funds are allocated for projects."

Ask Better Road Provolt, Murphy

WILLIAMS CREEK, Aug. 15.—(Spl.) A petition, requesting the hard-surfacing of the road between Provolt and Murphy, has been placed in the Williams store and is being rapidly filled with signatures. This road is used by the trucks of several sawmills on Williams creek, also the trucks of the Oregon Lime Products Co., besides the cars of almost all the residents of the valley who shop and transact business in town, who would go more often if the road were better.
