

CATHOLIC CHURCH SACRED PAINTING NEAR COMPLETION

Since its inception many weeks ago it has been the privilege of those interested to view the monumental painting and decorating by Theodore Brasch of the sanctuary of the Catholic church. The scaffolding which has supported the eminent painter in his exacting and inspired labor was removed Friday and now there rests revealed above the main altar in the sanctuary dome the original painting called "The Sacred Heart of Jesus."

It is done in "Heroic" size and reflects Him in the attitude "Come to me all you that labor and are burdened and I will refresh you." In harmony of line and color, in arrangement and in masterly composition, the painter has through the weeks, produced a triumph of religious exaltation. Around and at the feet of the benign Master clothed with red garment of love are angels with pearly crests and wings, while all about is a hovering glory of child angels. A student of the great religious paintings of history is immediately reminded of the never to be forgotten words of the immortal Raphael and Leonardo da Vinci. Decorations below the sanctuary dome are original and executed in the mosaic style especially adapted for churches.

An appreciation of such a painting is incomplete without a knowledge of its creator and neither can we know the man without a specimen of his work. History records that there have been but few religious painters of genius who have not suffered a sort of crucifixion either spiritually or materially. Mr. Brasch, from the cradle, was reared in deep religious circumstances and his quiet charm of manner and keen religious insight are all reflected in the perfection of his painting and in his other religious paintings in many of the principal cities of this country and abroad.

Following important church commissions in Los Angeles and in Denver Mr. Brasch hopes to resume the attainment of his ambition which is the creation of the "Crucifixion of Christ," a religious painting 150 feet long opposite the old romantic mission of St. Fernando near Los Angeles. Model painting for this great work has lately been completed and special buildings will be erected for this purpose. There will likewise be a special chapel that will contain a series of the artist's finest original portraits of the Master. Jesus. His first portrait "The Master Jesus" will be accorded a special niche of honor.

WHEN WOMEN SENTENCED TO LIFE IN PRISON

BRIEF FILED BY PUGH DEFENDERS

The "amicus curiae" brief, prepared by the "American Civil Liberties," in the appeal of Kyle Pugh, Josephine county prosecutor under a five year prison sentence, on conviction under the Oregon criminal syndicalism law, has been filed with the district attorney, Pugh is at liberty on bonds pending final action on his appeal. He was convicted last December.

Pugh was charged with the sale, distribution and possession of communist literature advocating overthrow of the American form of government by violence. He was arrested by the state police a year ago on the Pacific highway near Central Point. He was traveling in a donkey drawn cart.

The brief contends that the verdict of guilty returned by the Jackson county jury was contrary to the weight of the evidence in the case; that the state failed to show conclusively that the pamphlets carried by Pugh, advocated violence, or that the Oregon criminal syndicalism law was violated, and that the court erred in its denial of a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal.

JONES STORE ENTERS RACE FOR CENTRAL PT. HONORS IN BURGLARY

A little late, the Jones Grocery store in Central Point is nevertheless now launched on the trail of the Faber Grocery store there in the business of being robbed. According to statistics, it will be August 16, 1935, when the Jones store is again robbed if it is to equal the Faber record, that store having been entered 20 times in the last 25 years, or once every 15 months.

Last Friday night, at about two o'clock, a man sleeping in a camp trailer behind the store was awakened by the insistent barking of his dog, in time to see a car with headlights off disappear down the street.

The next morning it was discovered that the store had been entered by thieves lowering themselves through the skylight by means of a rope. Apparently they had a sweet tooth that night, for several dozen boxes of candy bars were taken, along with cigarettes, tobacco, two sides of bacon and oleomargarine (they left all the butter, which was stacked alongside). A partially empty bottle of milk standing on a counter showed the thieves stopped long enough to have a drink on the house before leaving by the rear door, after having lifted the bolt which ordinarily holds it secure.

State police are working on the case, but to date have made no arrests.

ROOSEVELT TALKS ON AIR SATURDAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt will speak over the air Saturday night in a speech to the Young Democratic clubs of America in Milwaukee.

His words will be broadcast nationally in the first such talk he has made over the radio in several months.

He will speak from the White House, probably taking occasion to give his views on accomplishment of the closing congress session.

Cliff Woodward of Des Moines, Ia., president of the Young Democrats, arranged the talk in a meeting with the president today. It will begin at 9:00 p. m. Eastern Standard time.

Asked about the political outlook, Woodward at the White House said: "Mr. Roosevelt will carry Iowa by a larger majority than he did before. There is no doubt about the president's re-election in 1938."

He estimated the meeting of the Young Democrats would be attended by 10,000 or 15,000.

Building Permits

Permit issued to Mrs. Boyden Trowbridge to rebuild garage at 328 North Central at a cost of $140.

Becks Bakery granted a permit to build additions to and remodel the bakery at 1410 North Riverside at an approximate cost of $2400.

BECK BAKERY TO REMODEL, EXPAND

Work has started at the Beck Bakery on North Riverside, remodeling and adding to the structure to accommodate increased business. It was stated here today by Mike Beck, owner of the Medford bakery and one in Klamath Falls.

Workmen will be busy for another month building a new room, 30 by 50 feet square as additional storage space and new equipment will be installed as soon as the room is finished. An expenditure of $2400 will be made. Today a new truck was placed in service, Beck stated.

Beck started in the bakery business in 1912, coming to Medford in 1926, and was for one year located on South Riverside, at the site now occupied by Valentine's cafe. In 1927 he built the present plant on North Riverside, near the city limits.

As soon as work is finished on the Medford plant, approximately the same amount of improvement will be made in the Klamath plant, Beck said.

SISKIYOU HIGHWAY CONTRACTS LISTED

Two contracts for work on the Pacific highway improvements over the Siskiyou will be let next October, and one contract will be let in November, the state highway commission has informed the county court, giving hope that the work will be completed within the year. The contracts to be let in October and November amount to approximately $400,000. This will leave about $500,000 for completion of the work.

The county court journeyed to Portland last week to confer with the state highway board on the new road right-of-way law. Eighteen county courts attended the meeting, which the rights of way for roads, which heretofore were paid for by the counties, nothing being required from the counties but their formal consent. The new law will lessen expense for the counties, and insure security of routes.

Jupiter and Mars

To the Editor: For those who take time occasionally to look at the stars there is a movement of the planets now easily to be seen which is quite interesting. When darkness comes on look to the southwest and the largest of all the planets is the most conspicuous object in the sky. Jupiter. A short distance to the west is a smaller, red-colored star, the planet Mars, of which we hear so much talk. Some people think that some day we will have transportation between Earth and Mars, but it is a safe bet that I am not one who is going on the first trip. But those who aspire to go may note now the end of the journey. It will be well also to note carefully the way back home.

But what is especially interesting now is the fact that Mars is moving very rapidly towards Jupiter, as we see them. In fact it is moving so rapidly that the change in position can be seen from night to night, and before the end of the month a line drawn from the north star through one will also pass through the other; or as the astronomers say, the two stars, planets rather, will be in conjunction. After that date, which will be the 27th, Mars will hasten on eastward soon leaving Jupiter far behind. For Jupiter is also going in that direction. But Jupiter is much farther from the sun, and the rule is that the further from the sun, the slower the motion in its orbit.

Recalls Rogers Verse

To the Editor: At this time it seems appropriate to recall the little verse which Ogden Nash wrote about Will Rogers some time ago.

"I worked with gun and grin and lariat
To entertain the proletariat,
And with my Oklahoma wit
I brightened up the earth a bit.
I'd brighten Heaven with my expertise—
But strikes, the Lord don't read the papers."

CHICAGO BROKER WHO TRIED 'CORN CORNER' BARRED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The grain futures commission today barred Thomas M. Howell, member of the Chicago board of trade, from trading privileges in all contract markets in the United States beginning Sept. 15.

Howell was found guilty of having violated the grain futures act by attempting to manipulate the price of grain and by concealing his transactions in the market by making false reports and by failing to report.

He was accused of attempting to manipulate the price of corn in violation of the law in the summer of 1931.

Government attorneys, in a hearing before the commission in June, charged that through the purchase of almost 9,000,000 bushels of July futures in 1931, Howell caused an increase in price of 14 cents a bushel.

The law requires that a trader must report to the grain futures administration the purchase of 500,000 or more bushels of corn in any one future.

KEY SECTION OF GUFFEY COAL ACT GIVEN APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The key section of the Guffey coal stabilization bill, declaring that the mining of coal has a "direct effect" on interstate commerce, was approved today by the House.

Urged by President Roosevelt to place the soft coal industry under federal control and test the government's powers under the constitution, the measure leans heavily on the theory that congress has power to regulate anything directly affecting interstate commerce.

After approving the bill's statement that coal mining does have such an effect, the House considered various amendments under an agreement to finish action on them today but to postpone the vote on final passage until Monday.

LONG NIGHT TRIP RETURNS SCOUTS TO GOOD OLD USA

By Irwin Doty.

A feeling that ran through the Scouts as they crossed the international boundary line could be expressed in the words "Back to the good old U. S. A."

After the boys had arrived at Winnipeg they marched to the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool and went swimming. They got back to the train just in time to get aboard and pull out for St. Paul, Minn. The boundary was crossed at about 6:00 p. m. The customs officers inspected the suitcases of the boys.

Finally train left for a long night's journey. The group on the train passed through the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul at 7:55 the next morning.

After traveling through miles and miles of corn country in Minnesota, the train passed into Wisconsin. The farther the scouts traveled into this state, the greener became the scenery, until we came to a part of the state where trees grew in great numbers and the foliage was of the prettiest green. Among the trees growing along the railroad tracks were oaks, maple and firs.

Passing from one community to another, a person is sure to note the farms. Large wheat and alfalfa fields were most abundant, followed close by large herds of dairy cows, grazing on the green pastures.

Two rivers of importance were passed in this day's travel. They were the St. Croix river and the Black river. Both these streams are very muddy and sluggish in their movements.

Finally near the end of Wednesday, the train approached Chicago, where the Scouts of Crater Lake council were to stay overnight at a large hotel.
