Joseph Angell and Mary Warner Wed At Albany Is Word

Of interest to numerous friends in Medford and Phoenix is the wedding at Albany, Ore., August 18 at 4:00 p. m. of Joseph Angell, formerly of Phoenix, and Miss Mary-Jean Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Warner, of Albany.

The wedding took place at the arbor on the beautiful lawn of the Warner residence, with the bridegroom's father, Rev. Joseph W. Angell, officiating. Mr. Angell Sr. was pastor of the Phoenix church for four years and for the past six years has been pastor of the Gold Beach Community church. Late in June Mr. and Mrs. Angell moved to Pacific Grove, Calif., as their home, from which they came last week to Albany for the wedding, stopping over Tuesday of this week for a day with friends in Medford and Phoenix on their return to Pacific Grove.

A simple but very impressive ring service was used for the wedding. The bride and bridesmaid were attended by Miss Dorothy Smith of Albany as maid of honor, and Cyrus A. Dolph II, of Portland as best man; with the bride's father, H. J. Warner, accompanying her.

About twenty Portland friends of Miss Warner and her family were among the out-of-town guests present, including Mrs. Cyrus A. Dolph II, and Miss Jane Dolph, Robert Warner, Mrs. Warner's brother, of Idaho Falls, Idaho, on the staff there of the Daily Post, was present, as were a number of guests from Eugene, including Dr. Edward Giesch of the university and Mrs. Sheldon, wife of the dean.

Miss Warner, of the class of 1933 in the university, was a prominent member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, and eight of her sorority sisters from Eugene and McMinnville, served at the reception immediately following the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Angell left at once by automobile for a leisurely trip to San Francisco and will go later in the week to Pacific Grove, Calif., where they will visit with Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Angell.

From there they will leave about September 1 for New Haven, Conn., driving through by automobile. Mr. Angell has arranged to continue his study there in Yale university for his Ph. D., having already received his M. A. from the University of Oregon, in which he has taught for the past three years as graduate assistant and instructor in English.

His thesis for the M. A. degree, entitled "Matthew Arnold's Indebtness to Renan's Essai de Morale et de Critique," was published in the October, 1934, issue of the "Revue de Litterature Comparee," a leading international magazine published in Paris, France.

Mr. Angell was graduated in 1930 from the College of Wooster, Ohio, (the alma mater also of Mr. and Mrs. Angell, Sr.) The head of the English department at Wooster, Dr. Howard Lowry, is connected also with the graduate school of Yale university, and is the American editor for the Oxford University press of England. He has asked Mr. Angell to collaborate with him in the research and preparation of a new book soon to be published by the Oxford Press for him on "Matthew Arnold's Relation to French Thought and Culture."

BLACK WIDOW'S BITE IS FATAL
TURLOCK, Cal., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The first death here from a black widow spider bite this season was on record today.

Pete Ellis, 56, of Atwater, died at the Lillian Colton hospital yesterday from the bite of one of the poisonous insects. He was brought to the hospital for treatment Sunday but his condition did not become critical until late Monday.

Nineteen other persons have been treated by Turlock physicians this year for similar bites. They all recovered. Physicians said Ellis apparently lacked the strength to throw off the poison.

MEDFORD SCOUTS REACH NEW YORK ON JOURNEY EAST

By Irwin Doty

Many of the boys of Crater Lake council trip realized one of their dreams when today he arrived in New York City. Following breakfast at the city of Niagara, the scouts assembled and marched to a spot at the Niagara river where Niagara falls could be seen.

These falls are the most beautiful of all nature's creations. They tumble over a rocky ledge many hundreds of feet down onto rocks below, causing a fine mist to fly. The water is a greenish color when it approaches the brink of the falls; after going over the falls it turns to a white roaring torrent.

The Cataract hotel is quite an important and old hotel and many famous men have been there to stay. Among them: Abraham Lincoln, Grover Cleveland, Marquis de Lafayette, John D. Rockefeller, and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

After viewing the falls, the boys got aboard a train and started for New York. Many important towns were passed on this trip. They were: Syracuse, Schenectady, Albany and Troy.

The Erie lake could be seen from the train and it was an item of interest to the boys because many had never seen a large lake before and too, this lake was the start of the Erie canal.

In the middle of the afternoon we came to the Hudson river. This river also proved of interest because of the many events in history centered around it.

On the Hudson river were many types of boats. Most of them barges loaded with supplies for factories. Some of the boats were pleasure boats. While there were also many fishing boats.

The scouts arrived at New York City at 7:00 p. m. We marched from Grand Central depot to the Hotel Times Square. This hotel is on 43rd street and two blocks from Broadway.

Nothing much has been happening in the ranks of the troop. But Don Price is thinking quite a bit about some girl in Medford. Come on unknown girl, and write Don a lot more letters!

Jerry Vawter tried to bribe the reporter of this article to not put in about the time he looked out the train window in daytime, and could not make up his mind which way the train was going.

The group is in New York now and there will be lots of news and experiences to write about.

SCHERMERHORN'S PLEA UNANSWERED

Though no official word has been received from Salem, it is taken for granted by county officials that the last meeting of the state parole board ten days ago failed to grant a parole to Gordon L. Schermerhorn, former sheriff of Jackson county serving three years in state prison for conviction of ballot theft. Schermerhorn's minimum sentence expired a week ago. It was the earliest date at which he could be paroled under the law.

Assistant Attorney General Ralph E. Moody and Judge George F. Shipworth of Lane county have recommended parole of Schermerhorn, in accord with their promise to him at the time he departed for the penitentiary. Final decision rests with the governor.

At the last meeting of the state parole board but two paroles out of 18 applications were granted. Twelve were held over for future consideration.

FEHL'S CREDITORS PLANNING SUIT TO OBTAIN BUILDING

Suit is contemplated by Ted Helmroth of Griffin Creek and Jesse B. Thomas of Ashland against Earl H. Fehel and Electa A. Fehel for title to the Pacific Record-Herald building on Sixth street, which they now hold as security for a loan to Fehel. Attorneys for the two said papers were being prepared today in the action.

Thomas loaned Fehel $3,900 and Helmroth loaned $1,400 to purchase the property at a sheriff's sale in 1933, and took Fehel's note, deposit-ing the certificate of sale in escrow. Fehel furnished $72 of the purchase price.

In the decree filed in the Niedermeyer, Inc., interpleader suit it is held that Helmroth and Thomas are not entitled to any part of the supreme court award to the Fehels, and that the building constitutes security for their money.

The forthcoming action will seek to quiet title to the property in their behalf.

The decree in the Niedermeyer, Inc., suit was filed yesterday and holds that they shall pay $9,473.91, to be distributed as follows:

Two thousand dollars to Kelly & Kelly, attorneys, for legal services, constituting a first lien;

Three thousand, nine hundred and sixty-two and twenty-five cents to Jackson county as costs for the trial in Klamath county of Fehel for vote stealing wherein a jury returned a verdict of guilty in the record time of 12 minutes. The Jackson county claim constitutes a second lien.

The balance, if any, the decree provides, shall revert to the Fehels.
