PLANT MORE FISH IN CRATER LAKE

CRATER LAKE NATIONAL PARK, Ore.—(Special)—Adding further assurance for continued good fishing in Crater lake, the planting of 120,000 fingerling silversides and steelhead trout was completed in the lake this week. The fingerlings were obtained from the Butte Falls hatchery and were planted with a minimum amount of loss.

As a result of annual plantings carried on for sometime past, angling in Crater lake during the current season is the best it has been in the history of the park. Limit catches of eight fish per person have been reported with surprising regularity.

One of the biggest fish caught this season was hooked Sunday by Victor Fletcher of Medford. He pulled in a 27-inch rainbow after a battle of 30 minutes. The fish was almost as large as the 14-year-old boy who caught it.

The fish planting just completed was in charge of Chief Ranger Crouch, assisted by park rangers and members of the Civilian Conservation Corps.
