Guests at Salade Home Leave After Visiting Here

Among the summer's most interesting members of the younger set who have been guests in the valley are Miss Marjorie Westcott, Miss Bunny Hunt and Jimmie Beasley, who are leaving this week after visiting for the past two months with their cousin, Miss Helene Salade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Salade, Jr.

Miss Westcott, who appeared last Sunday evening at the Salade country home in a delightful vocal recital, and Jimmie Beasley left this morning on the Shasta for their homes in Chicago. Mr. Beasley will enter school at St. Louis.

Miss Hunt will leave on the United Airlines plane tomorrow en route to Tucson, Ariz., where she will enroll at school this fall.

The guests have been the incentive for several of the season's most important social events for their group of friends in the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Works of Denver, Colo., who have been guests the past week of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Ruhl of Slalyou Heights, will leave this evening for their home. Mr. Works is a brother of Mrs. Ruhl.

Mr. and Mrs. Works were entertained at dinner last evening at the Gordon Voorhies country home, the others present being Mr. and Mrs. Ruhl, daughter, Miss Roxane, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Voorhies and Col. and Mrs. Gordon Voorhies.

Mr. and Mrs. Tobin Join Guests at Nion Tucker Lodge

Rogue's Roost, attractive summer lodge on Rogue river of Mr. and Mrs. Nion Tucker of Burlington, has been frequented during the past few weeks by a number of socially prominent residents of the San Francisco bay district, who were joined this morning by Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Tobin. They arrived on the Shasta and will spend four or five days at the lodge.

The guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Tucker, who are both at the lodge with their children, Miss Nan and Buddy, also include Mrs. Ferdinand Thieriot, Mrs. Robert Hayes Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Weather-was, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Cameron, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Piler, all of Burlington. They plan to return south next Sunday.

Three birthdays were celebrated at the lodge yesterday, when the guests honored Mrs. Cameron, Mr. Tucker and Buddy Tucker.

Upon arriving this morning, Mr. Tobin, who plans to spend much of the stay fishing along the Rogue, said that the group greatly missed the visits of Senator Clark Burgard, now of Seattle, prominent marksman and fisherman who has been a visitor at the lodge on several occasions.

During the war, Senator Burgard, who formerly lived in Burlington, but moved to Seattle following his marriage, was highly decorated by service medals, and was particularly cited for bravery. His visits at Rogue's Roost and at other points along the Rogue will be remembered by many in the valley.

BIG SUM COMING FOR STUDENT AID

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Senator Frederick Steiwer, Portland, Ore., Republican, said today between $117,000 and $126,000 would be made available to Oregon college students under the national youth program during the coming school year.

Steiwer said the amount to be earmarked for high school students in the state had not been determined.

The senator made public the amount following an exchange of letters with Aubrey Williams, national youth director. Steiwer has protested against the proposal that only college students from families on relief be eligible for aid under the program. Heretofore, he said, Oregon has received approximately $13,000 a month for the aid of students, regardless of the status of their families.

LONG LINE FILES PAST CASKET AT MEMORIAL PARK

If they could not attend the funeral service today which space limited to a scant few hundred mourners.

All approaches to the verdant hilltop memorial park were choked with traffic. Still the thousands came. Shortly after the gates opened at 7 a. m., nearly 30,000 persons had congregated at the park.

Buried along by officers, the mourners filed by the body at the rate of nearly 100 a minute. The line of march was kept several feet from the bier. Those who had flowers gave them to attendants, who went and placed them at the base of the casket.

The question of whether Rogers' casket should be open was left to his widow. She decided against it last night.

Roosevelt Represented.

Among those hidden to the private services this afternoon were Rear Admiral William T. Tarrant and Commander Herbert A. Jones, representing President Roosevelt.

The huge Hollywood bowl, seating 35,000, and the community Presbyterian church of Beverly hills were meeting places for the general public. At the motion picture studios, including the one at which Rogers was a star, fellow film players joined in paying him homage.

A proclamation of Gov. Frank Merriam asking a minute of silence throughout California at 2 p. m., the time of the services, was followed by city and federal offices and most business houses here, with flags at half-staff throughout the day.

Simultaneously Claremore, Okla., which Rogers called his "home town" was holding memorial services and at nearby Chelsea, the Rev. Argus J. Hamilton, classmate of the humorist, was to deliver a eulogy.

Theaters Darkened.

Motion picture producers and distributors of America previously had announced that more than 12,000 theaters over the country would be darkened for two minutes during the services. The variety club of Minneapolis, and St. Paul honored Rogers with a theater program and in Des Moines, and Ames, Iowa, carillons tolled, while at the Iowa state fair a silent tribute was paid.

At the request of the family the casket was unopened as Rogers' body lay in state from 7 a. m. until noon within the gates of Forest Lawn memorial park in Glendale. And at their wish the private funeral services at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather at the park were kept brief and simple.

At these services the Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, associate pastor of the Glendale Baptist church and intimate friend of Rogers, was to read the funeral oration, and John Boies, motion picture star and singer at the same studio where the comedian worked, was to sing.

Services Brief.

The service, according to Mrs. Rogers' wish, was timed to last little more than 20 minutes.

Promptly at noon the cemetery gates were ordered closed.

The vast motion picture industry came to a complete standstill as the services began. Tribute was paid in special rites planned at every studio in Hollywood, with stars, "extras," executives and laborers joining in the ceremonies.

At Rogers' home studio, Twentieth Century-Fox, where his name for years topped film attractions shown throughout the English-speaking world, George Jessel, New York stage star and friend of the comedian for 25 years, delivered a brief eulogy.

The most impressive service was arranged in the Hollywood bowl. Massed thousands filed into the amphitheater long before the services were to open.

Tibbett Sings.

There Lawrence Tibbett, noted opera baritone, was to sing John Masfield's "By a Bier Side"; Conrad Nagel, actor friend of Rogers long before the advent of talking pictures, was to read a prose selection, and Rupert Hughes, the writer, was to read the eulogy.

Mrs. Rogers and her three children, Will, Jr., Mary and James, returned here yesterday from the east, riding in the private car of Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, long a close friend of Rogers.

Other relatives of the family here for the funeral include Mrs. Tom McSpadden, a sister of the humorist, of Chelsea, Okla.; Paula McSpadden, her daughter; Miss Theda Blake, sister of Mrs. Rogers; Mrs. D. W. Quisenberry, another sister, of Joplin, Mo., and Bruce Quisenberry, nephew, and Dr. J. C. Bushyhead of Claremore, a cousin.

Special guards kept all but intimate friends of the family out of the spacious grounds of the Rogers ranch in Pacific Palisades.

DEADLINE ON PWA APPLICATIONS IS SET FOR SEPT. 16

They will ever again be opened. Labor is now relieved, men are back at work, and the purpose of the project has been fulfilled. After the federal grants are no longer available, if industry cannot pick up of its own accord after three years of federal aid, there will be time to try some other method, and the PWA will not be used," Hockley stated.

The state director pointed out to a group meeting with him in the city hall here today that in submitting their estimates they should take into consideration the prevailing wage scale of the district in which the work is to be done, and not try and lower the wages of labor.

The prevailing wage on present PWA contracts is 50 cents an hour for unskilled labor, 75 cents for semi-skilled and $1.20 for skilled, he said.

When Hockley received notice from Washington of the curtailment of PWA work, he started out immediately to interview as many of the interested parties in the state as possible, with the view of speeding up applications. He was definite in his statement, however, that his trip was not an effort to sell projects and asked the public bodies who will make the submissions not to ask for things that they do not need.

Any unnecessary projects will tend to deprive more worthy ones of their rightful consideration, he stated.

In order to speed up work, he told those present that in case an election for bonding a project be held, it would not be necessary to await the outcome of the election before applying for grants.

Mr. Hockley, accompanied by his wife, left this afternoon by motor for Gold Beach.

Observations made at Hankow, 600 miles from the mouth of the Yangtze river, China, show that 5,000,000,000 cubic feet of sediment are carried past that point every year, to be deposited at the mouth of the river.
