PETE AND ESTES MEET THURSDAY ON ARMORY CARD

Neither of their titles will be at stake, but nevertheless it will be a battle of champions when Pete Belmont, fiery Italian, tangles with Toots Estes, titleholder of the Hawaiian Islands, in the top half of the main event at the Armory next Thursday night. The match was announced definitely today by Promoter Mack Lillard.

Danny Savich, University of Utah star who recently defeated Joe Hubka in Portland, will meet the popular Cornhusker in the other part of the double-barreled feature. In the opener Ruse Riley, newcomer from New Mexico, will tangle for 30 minutes or one fall with Roland Warren, popular Copco engineer from Klamath Falls.

The card, promising to be one of the best all-around menus of music and mangling yet offered here, will be held at no advance in prices and will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

There is a possibility that between today and fight time the promoter will be able to persuade the two champions to put up their belts, but when just approached, Peter, for one, steadfastly refused. The initial appearance of Estes is being greatly anticipated among the fans, as the handsome Islander is heralded as one of the most colorful scientific muscles on the coast. He was a government licensed transport pilot and a racecar driver before winning his title at Honolulu.

Grudge matches in the offing in the Hubka-Savich lineup resulting from Hubka's recent defeat in the Rose City at the hands of the highly-touted Salt Lake City man. Any wrestler who can defeat the speedy Cornhusker is recognized as being plenty capable.

The opening bout will give Ruse Riley an opportunity to prove reports that he is one of the best middleweights in the west.

Fireman Ray Friable will probably be referee.

NEIL CHRISTIAN PRO GOLF WINNER

BOISE, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Neil Christian, pro from Yakima, yesterday came through with a sub-par 71 in the last 18 holes to win the 1935 Idaho state open golf championship with 277, as his rivals from Idaho, Utah, Oregon and Washington fell by the wayside under the 72-hole grid.

Charles Congdon, Seattle pro, won second place honors, while Al Zimmerman, Portland pro, edged into third place ahead of Sid Harmon, Salt Lake City pro.

Al Harrington, Yakima, led the amateurs with a total of 298, 21 strokes behind Christian. For second place Walt Smith, Boise, defeated a fellow townsman, Jack Cumpack.

BAUMAN PITCHES ROGUES TO 5-1 VICTORY AT G. P.

After months of persistent effort, they finally cut the cake! The Medford Rogues yesterday took the Grants Pass Merchant baseball nine down the line to the tune of a 5-1 lacing at Grants Pass, with Bauman doing some of the greatest twirling of the year.

The club gave Bauman air-tight support. Hoffard, in the outfield, turned in two seemingly impossible catches, hurling both in from the far outfield for double plays, the first Hoffard to Arnie to Welton, and the second to Arnie. On the first long one he was back so far that he had to relay to Arnie at second, and Arnie's switch to Welton caught the runner on his way back to first.

Medford scored in the 3rd, 5th, 7th and 9th, with two runs in the 7th. The only Grants Pass score came in the 2nd, when Al Drolette, Merchant catcher, came to bat with the bases empty and whanged out a homer, the only one of the game.

According to Hoffard, he asked the Merchants for another game here Sunday, but Manager Jake Clipe refused, saying that his club was through for the year. There has been no Rogue game scheduled yet for Sunday.

Due to the fact that some of the regular players were working, the lineup was shifted for the game with Welton on 1st, Arnie on 2nd, Cavelli at short and Donovan on 3rd. Hoffard, Kell and Jackson covered the outfield. Jackson, borrowed from the Grants Pass Juniors for the occasion collected one hit, and made two nice fly catches for the Rogues.

CUBS COMPLETE GIANTS DOWNFALL

By Associated Press If the Cubs don't accomplish anything else this season, they can claim credit for being the club that knocked the Giants out of the National league lead. Right now it looks as if the New Yorkers would have a very tough time trying to get back to the top.

It was the Cubs who put the skids under the Terrymen when they took four straight out in Chicago last month. They completed the task yesterday by knocking off the Giants for the third time in four starts, 5 to 4, to put the erstwhile leaders a half game behind the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cards did their share by trimming the Dodgers twice, 10 to 3 and 8 to 1 behind the Dean Brothers.

OHIO STATE RATED POTENTIAL CHAMP OF 1935 FOOTBALL

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Dirke Houligate, football statistician, came out today with the selection of Ohio State as the potential intercollegiate national championship team of the impending grid season.

He rated Stanford, second; Princeton, third; Tennessee, fourth; Temple, fifth; Alabama, 1935 Rose Bowl winner, sixth; Minnesota, seventh; University of Washington, eighth; Illinois, ninth and Fordham, tenth.

He adds that Temple is apt to be the surprise of the season. Houligate's second ten includes Rice, Pittsburg, Columbia, Tulane, Louisiana State, Notre Dame, Santa Clara, Colgate, Nebraska and California.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—(AP)—William Spaulding, Sr., University of California at Los Angeles football coach, who seldom is given to overstatement, said today with pardonable fatherly pride that William, Jr., one of his halfbacks this season, is one of the best pass throwers in the Pacific coast conference.

The U.C.L.A. mentor lists his son along with Ed Goddard, Washington State and Bill Howard of the University of Southern California.

Bill, Jr., suffered a knee injury which kept him out of play during the major portion of the 1934 season, but will be back in the lineup this fall.

Spaulding classes Goddard and Elmer Legg, Washington, as the leading punters in the conference and names Bobby Grayson of Stanford as the best line plunger.

He picks Stanford to repeat and take the conference title.

RECORD TURNOUT IS PROMISED IN S. O. TOURNAMENT

Entrants in the Southern Oregon golf tournament, which opens next Friday at Rogue River valley course, are rolling in, indicating a field larger than even last year's record number of contestants, according to Homer Marx, club secretary.

The course was thrown open today to all contestants, who are being given all playing privileges by payment of an entry fee. The fee is $2.50 for men and $1.50 for women.

A chance at the beautiful championship trophy, and at the many other prizes that are being offered in the various flights and in feature events, is expected to draw not only the best golf talent of this vicinity, but many top-notch players from clubs in the northern part of the state. Marx announced that he has received many letters from golf stars who played last year and from new players who will enter this summer for the first time.

Qualifying rounds will open Friday morning for both men and women, the women's rounds scheduled to be completed during the morning. Due to the fact that a faster field than usual is expected this year, it is expected that a better score than last year's 83 will be needed to qualify for the championship flight. The players will be divided into six and possibly seven brackets.

Eddie Simmons, 18-year-old Medford player, will defend the men's title, but Anna Mae Fuson, women's titleholder, will be unable to return from Hollywood to play in defense of the trophy she holds.

SABIN WINS NET CROWN EASTERN WASHINGTON WALLA WALLA, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Wayne Sabin, Portland tennis star, won the eastern Washington clay courts single championship yesterday by defeating Elwood Cooke, defending titlist, 3-6, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2.

FISHERMEN MAKE BIG HAUL SUNDAY

Jack salmon ranging from two to seven pounds, 12 of them, a seven-pound steelhead and a twelve-pound chinook was the reward yesterday of Bert Peck, Ray Wyatt and C. T. Hamilton of Central Point, and Moore Hamilton of Medford, on the Rogue.

The jacks were all fine fish, and the chinook was perfectly bright. The men were using eggs, with remarkable success. Other fishermen the length of the river were reporting good luck, with an unusual number of steelhead for the time of year. For several weeks now the fishing has been rather slow, with but indifferent success falling to those using eggs, spinners and flies alike.

There is apparently a new run of chinooks in the river, for a good percentage of those taken yesterday were bright and clean. Trout fishing is also reported as improving.

Dick Bartell, dashing Giants' shortstop, underwent a 20-minute-at-bat baseball famine just when the New Yorks were losing their lead to the Cardinals.
