

ARMY RECRUITER GIVES LONG LIST OF INDUCEMENTS

Editor's note: The following article, pointing out advantages which young men may find in the United States army, was written by Sergeant W. M. Kleinschmidt, recruiting sergeant, with offices in this city. He will be glad to answer any inquiries regarding enlistment.

The United States army consists of infantry (which includes the tanks), cavalry, field artillery, coast artillery, air corps, corps of engineers, chemical warfare service, medical department, quartermaster corps (which includes motor transport service), ordnance department, finance department, army motion picture service, signal corps, military police, and various administrative and executive branches of the war department.

Pay varies from $21 to $137.50 per month. All must start at the lowest rate of pay. Any raise received is determined by their worth to the government. Good men are certain to receive promotion and increased pay. In addition to the base pay enlisted men get an increase of 5 per cent for over 20 years. Many privates and privates first class may be appointed specialists on account of their knowledge and practice of special trades, and receive monthly additional pay from $3 to $30 extra. Pay of the army and additional allowances, is comparatively the same as any other branch of military service.

The government provides room, board, clothing, medical and dental care, and recreation without cost. Equal opportunity for physical and mental development which will be of benefit to the soldier in later life, will be found in the army.

The government furnishes free, excellent food, well prepared, palatable, served in abundance and calculated to build strength and health.

The government furnishes every soldier with an ample money allowance for all clothing needs. By using care a soldier may save a portion of his three-year allowance, and this saving, in cash, is paid to him upon his discharge.

In case of accident or serious permanent injury while in the army, due to no fault of the soldier, which incapacitates him for active service, he will be discharged and instructed to apply for a pension. Pensions vary in amount, depending on the degree of disability, and run until the disability is removed.

After 30 years' service in the army soldiers are retired, some very young, on three-quarters of the pay they were drawing at the date of their retirement, plus special allowances, for the rest of their lives.

Medical and dental treatment are furnished the soldier whenever necessary, hospital care is also included. It is the big effort of the army to train men mentally, morally, and physically, so that they will make better and stronger citizens when returned to civil life.

Nowhere in the world can a man get better physical training than in the army. This training is calculated to build up the moderately weak man and strengthen the stronger man. Medical authorities lay great stress on army physical training. Some of them go so far as to say that on account of the training, one enlistment will add from three to five years to the life of the average young man.

There are usually a few vacancies in the army bands for qualified men who possess musical talent.

Uncle Sam has troops stationed not only in every section of the continental United States, but also in Panama Canal Zone, Hawaiian Islands, Philippine Islands, Alaska, and China. Generally speaking the applicant for enlistment can dictate the destination on his own travel order, particularly with reference to Panama, Hawaii and the Philippines.

Enlisted men under 22 years of age who pass the necessary examination, may receive an appointment to a cadetship at the United States military academy at West Point.

Enlisted men may likewise be appointed commissioned officers on examination.

SCOUTS ON FINAL LAP OF JOURNEY AROUND COUNTRY

By Irwin Doty
"Westward Ho!" was the cry of Greater League Scout troops today as they started on the last lap of their journey.

After breakfast Saturday all marched to the Bureau of Printing and Engraving building in Washington. The boys were given a chance to see millions of dollars in currency. They were shown how every denomination of currency from the one dollar to the $100,000 bill, also they were shown how postage stamps are printed and made ready for the public.

Following the visit to this building the scouts were given free time in which to buy some souvenirs or to see some other buildings in Washington, D. C.

Before train time all the scouts went to see the United States justice building, one of the most beautiful buildings in Washington, D. C. It is constructed of pure white marble, which is so bright when the sun shines on it that a person can hardly look straight at it.

The train, bearing the scouts pulled out at 4:30 p. m. headed for Chicago as the first stop. States passed through on this stretch, included: Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

At Chicago, the scouts checked their baggage at the Knickerbocker hotel and after breakfast marched to the Shedd Aquarium and the Field Museum of Natural History. Several hours were spent in these two buildings. Main attraction was the aquarium.

At 2 p. m. a bus picked up the scouts from the museum for a two and a half-hour tour through the city. Many historical sites and parks were seen. Anybody that has not seen these parks has missed part of Chicago. There are about 200 altogether.

The aquarium and museum are located on the former World's fair site. All that remains of what was the World's fair is one of the large sky-ride towers. This is now being used for an observation tower from which Chicago and parts of four states can be seen.

At 9:30 p. m. the boys entrained for San Francisco.

Riding across 30 miles of trestle on Salt Lake gives one a peculiar sensation in the stomach. The scouts of Greater League Council today rode across this wide stretch of salt water and it took about one hour to go the width of briny water.

In the past two days, the train has taken the boys through the following states: Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and into California. During this time the scenery has been mostly flat prairie country. In Utah the boys saw the real cattle country with chapsarral and "badlands."

All the scouts are anxious to get to San Francisco because a day is to be spent there as guests of the scout executives and also the Standard Oil company. The oil company will take the boys, as they leave the train, on a sight-seeing tour throughout the city. Also the company will give the boys a free swim. Lunch on this day will be eaten at a beach hotel.

In the afternoon the scout executives of San Francisco are planning a hike for the boys. From the list of things to be done in San Francisco, you can see why they are anxious to get there.

Mr. Hull got a telegram at Cochrane, Nevada, from the Standard Oil company, in San Francisco, telling just what they are going to do.

The boys passed their time in many different ways when traveling on the two-day stretch of flat country in the mid-west. In one seat you might see Chris Baker asleep. Here is Reed Cox polishing shoes, or there is Walter Kresse arguing with Dale Throckmorton about a certain game in which

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE FOR COMMUNITY CHEST APPOINTED FOR YEAR

MARCONI WILL HEAD WAR COMMUNICATION

GENOVA, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Giuglielmo Marconi, inventor of wireless telegraphy, will direct the telegraph, telephone and wireless communications of Mussolini's armies in east Africa, intimates of the inventor said today.

They said Marconi had already volunteered for east African service, but his enlistment has not yet been published because he plans to go to Brazil first as that nation's guest at the inauguration of an ultra-powerful radio station at Santos.

MISS GAYLORD TO LEAD STATE H. E.

CORVALLIS.—(Spl.)—Miss Thelma Gaylord, for five years home demonstration agent in Clackamas county, has been recommended by Vice-Director F. L. Ballard to be acting state leader of extension work in home economics, effective September 1.

Miss Gaylord succeeds Miss Claribel Nye, who resigned to enter the California extension service.

Miss Gaylord is a graduate of Montana State college who taught in high schools several years before entering the O. S. C. extension service. Her record in Clackamas county is considered outstanding. A successor for her in the county position has not yet been selected.

With the change in state leaders will also take place some expansion in extension work in home economics, made possible by receipt of additional federal funds and through county cooperation. As soon as a qualified personnel can be obtained a new specialist in home management and another in child welfare and parent education will be added, as will one or two district home demonstration agents and one or two county workers if counties co-operate financially, says Ballard.
