Double Wedding Comes as Surprise To Friends of Couples

Coming as a great surprise to friends and relatives, the double wedding of Miss Patricia Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Urschel Lewis of Central Point to Dow DeWayne Stone, son of Mrs. D. W. Stone and the late Dr. Stone, and Josephine Applegate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Applegate to Charles Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williamson, was solemnized at Ashland Saturday evening at ten o'clock, at the home of Rev. A. D. Benham, Baptist minister.

A reception for the young couples is being planned for the near future, as the sudden wedding left no opportunity for entertainment before the ceremony.

Medford Artists Leaving for Seattle
Miss Mildred Chadwick, contralto, formerly with El Andrews and the Dunbar Opera Company, arrived in Medford Sunday for a few days visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burgess before going on to Seattle, where she will join the Pacific Coast Light Opera Company.

Other locally known people who will join the opera company in Seattle are: Miss Lakelle Beck, soprano, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Olson, Miss Patricia Carlton and Ralph Burgess.

If the public is again in a receptive mood for light opera, this company will make an extended tour of the mid-western territory and back up the coast.

Bridal Shower For Margaret Hensley
Mrs. Moore Hamilton, Miss Golda Boone and Mrs. Claude Thompson were hostesses last night at a lovely bridal shower, honoring Miss Margaret Hensley, whose wedding to Ernest Hestel will be an event of Saturday.

Roses and gladioli were used as decoration, and Miss Hensley was presented with a corsage. Those participating in honoring the bride-to-be were: Mrs. M. E. Olson, Mrs. M. E. Wall, Mrs. Alta Lindsey, Jean Ferguson, Mildred Beeson, Pauline Haas, Mrs. E. C. Ferguson, Mrs. A. C. Butler, Mrs. N. S. Ostman, Mrs. Bert Hestel and the hostesses.

Mulholland Entertain For Visiting Minister
Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Mulholland entertained Tuesday evening with a dinner for eight in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Percy Bartlam, of Houston, Texas. Rev. Percy Bartlam is the son of Rev. E. S. Bartlam, of St. Mark's Episcopal church here, and pastor of the Trinity Episcopal church in Houston. He will be in the pulpit at St. Mark's Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Bartlam have been guests in Medford for the past two weeks, and will leave Monday.

Former Resident Visit With Swings
Mrs. B. E. Haney has been a guest for some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Swing on the Midway Road, and is returning to her home in Portland Saturday.

Mrs. Haney is a former resident of Jacksonville and Medford, and has been welcomed by many old friends and acquaintances during her stay here.

Guests of Mrs. Pickel
Mr. and Mrs. Carter Brandon and daughter Joan of Oakland were guests last week of Mrs. E. B. Pickel. While here they drove to Crater Lake and were otherwise entertained by old friends here.

Also a guest of Mrs. Pickel last week was her sister, Mrs. Kay Brandon, of Portland.

Mrs. Heath Will Entertain Bridge Club
Mrs. Frederick Heath, Sr., will entertain the Thursday Bridge club today at her home on East Main, for their regular weekly meeting.

Miss Luy Returns For Fall Opening Of Dance Studio

Miss Ruth Marie Luy, dance studio director of this city has returned from a two months sojourn in California.

While in Hollywood, Miss Luy took extensive training in all types of dancing at the famous Marco school. Upon completion of her course there she was presented with a certificate of merit for her work, and also honored by being selected as one of a group of girls presented by Fanchon and Marco in "The Spanish Wedding Festival" starting Ecuador and "Prometheus" (Fire Ballet) starring Aida Broadbent and Stowitz.

These ballets were presented as special concerts with the symphony orchestra at the Hollywood Bowl. Miss Fanchon personally took Miss Luy through the Fox studios where they witnessed a motion picture being produced.

Enroute home Miss Luy spent a week in San Francisco as house-guest of Miss Zoe Dell Lantis, a former pupil of hers. Friends of Miss Lantis here will be interested in knowing that she is one of the featured dancers at the Bal Tabarin, a popular rendezvous in the bay city.

Miss Luy has engaged Zelma Luby Sweeney as assistant in the studio for the ensuing year. Mrs. Sweeney has diplomas from Perry Mansfield schools in Colorado and Earl Wallace studio in Los Angeles. She has made a specialty of acrobatic dancing taking special work with Sam Mintz, who has produced many acrobatic novelties for Fanchon and Marco in Hollywood.

Phizle Rinabarger will again assist Miss Luy with the younger children.

The studio will be open for registration the first week of September with classes starting Sept. 8.

CONVICTS VICTIM IS KNOWN HERE

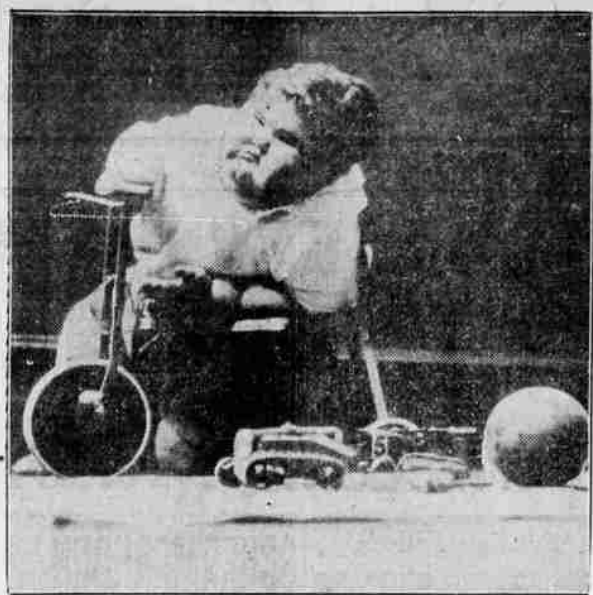

Hamilton Marnell, sentenced from this county for forgery, a year ago, was one of the three state prison inmates employed in the prison library, bound by Albert W. Reed of Denver, Colo., and two other convicts, in an abortive attempt to escape late Tuesday. Marnell pleaded guilty to passing worthless checks upon the Rex Cafe, the First National bank, and other business houses, after he had induced a local woman to endorse them.

Marnell posed as a military man of financial means, and was rated by the authorities as a "good walker."

Reed, serving a life term for the slaying of Victor Knott, Ashland policeman, up to the escape try was a "model prisoner." Local authorities give as their opinion, "Reed has started out to show the warden he is a tough guy," and has lost hope of parole or parole. Shasta County, Calif., authorities two months ago served a warrant on the warden, for the custody of Reed, on a burglary charge, in the event he was granted freedom. The governor recently denied a plea for clemency following a hearing.

PITTSBURG, Kan., Aug. 29.—(UP)—Melvin Morgan, 19, chose to copy the United States constitution in longhand rather than serve 10 days in jail for drunkenness. Today, his mother delivered the finished copy. —Melvin was in Girard jail for drunken driving.

FATTEST BOY IN THE WORLD?

The claim for this lad is that he's the fattest boy in the world. Only three, Leslie Bowles weighs 142 pounds, has a 39-inch waist, a 45-inch chest and is three feet, three inches tall. He has an American rival in Joe Randazza, Jr., of Gloucester, Mass., who weighs 135 pounds and is three years old. (Associated Press Photo) from state prison today, on a pardon granted yesterday by the governor and the state parole board, will arrive home today, after serving a year of a three-year sentence for conviction of ballot theft.

SCHERMERHORN PARDONED, WILL RETURN TODAY

Friends of Schermerhorn said that after a short stay here, he intended to return to New York state for a visit with relatives, and scenes of his boyhood.

At the same time a pardon was granted to Schermerhorn. Freedom was denied to Walter J. Jones, former mayor of Rogue River, serving four years for vote-stuffing. Jones was regarded by the chief executive as leader of the ballot-theft. He was also a "key witness" in the airtight presented by L. A. Banks, local agitator, in his trial for the slaying of Constable Prescott.

The release of Schermerhorn leaves only Jones, Fehl and Banks behind prison bars. All figured prominently in the turmoil fanned by Banks. Jones and Fehl will be subject to release next April, when they will have served their minimum time, with time off for good behavior. Jones has been a model prisoner.

The pardon of Schermerhorn met with general approval in Jackson county. He has always been regarded as a "dupe" of Banks and Fehl, and a victim of their poor advice. The pardon was granted upon recommendation of Judge George F. Skippin, of Linn county, who presided at the trial, and Assistant Attorney General Ralph E. Moody, who prosecuted. It was also urged by many local residents, some of whom had known Schermerhorn for years.

GAS CORPORATION OFFICIALS NAMED

The appointment of D. E. York of San Francisco as vice-president and general manager of the Southern Oregon Gas Corporation has just been announced by J. A. Ward, president of the company.

Mr. York has been in southern Oregon in charge of construction work for the company since February, and is very glad to make this his permanent home. He was formerly chief engineer for the Republic Management company, who operate public utility companies in Oklahoma as well as on the Pacific coast.

Mr. Ward also announced the appointment of Foster C. Come as sales manager and Evan Chappius as auditor of the company.

Mr. Come has been with the company in the Medford office, and Mr. Chappius was formerly auditor for the Needles Gas and Electric company located at Needles, California.

Hepburn, Fearing Lost Illusions, Would Duck Introduction to Garbo

By Rebbin Coons
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—You are going on a journey, and midway someone places a hat on your head, and then after a while the same hand takes off the hat and you go along, not missing it.

At least, Katharine Hepburn wants not to miss it—the "hat" of movie stardom—when it is removed by the public that put it there. And that, she says, is one of the reasons she is the way she is. She wants to be the same under the "hat" when it is taken off as when it was put on.

"This doesn't last long," she says, "but while it does one can lay the foundations for unhappy old age. I don't want to do that. I won't be photographed and interviewed now when I go across the country. Later, nobody will want to take my picture. If I did all that now, I might be terribly unhappy when that time comes. As it is, I won't care. I'll be the same person I was when I came to Hollywood."

Requires Energy
Another reason—and this is Hepburn in a burst of explanations after long silence—is her belief in the importance of illusion. She admires Garbo but has no desire to meet her, and would walk around the block, if need be, to avoid meeting her—for fear the illusion might be destroyed. It is the same with other screen favorites of hers; she wants not to know them.

And the third reason Hepburn in like Hepburn is that in acting she requires "terrific energy," wants to devote all her energy to the task in hand, and does not want it distracted by extraneous matters such as the business of being a star on parade.

Dungarees For Comfort
"I never have put on an act," she declares with a trace of indignation. "When I came here I was afraid I'd fail, and most of all I wanted to make it possible for me to go back to the stage unhandicapped by any great ballyhoo preceding a failure. I began wearing dungarees around the lot after I saw that everyone else was wearing comfortable clothes—but anyone who knew me before I came can tell you I always did wear dungarees for comfort."

Hepburn, with her hair cut short like a boy's for her role in "Sylvia Scarlett," may be the heroine of Max Reinhardt's production of "Twelfth Night" in the Hollywood bowl this summer—but I hate to mention that because my picture may not be finished in time, and then it would be said I got cold feet and backed out. No, even after my experience on the stage in "The Lake," I'm eager to do this—I'm a glutton for punishment. I usually agree with my critics, only I thought I was worse in "The Lake" than anyone said I was."

She agreed also, before the picture was made, with what critics later said of "Break of Hearts," but she thinks "Alice Adams," her latest, is a good picture—and that the veteran Fred Stone, whose photograph incidentally is the only actor's she owns, will be sensational in it.

SINCLAIR LEWIS PENS MORE IRONIC NOVEL
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Sinclair Lewis is unexpectedly springing a new novel on his public, it was disclosed today.

Lewis' book is titled "It Can't Happen Here," and is, according to the publishers, as ironic as "Main Street," "Babbitt" and "Elmer Gantry."

CHURCH CLUBS TO GIVE TWO PLAYS

Two plays will be presented tonight at eight o'clock in the gym at the First Methodist church by the institute clubs of Medford and Grants Pass. Presentation will be in the form of a contest between the two clubs, the Grants Pass club playing "Cornfed Babies" and the Medford group giving "Who Says Can't." Besides the plays, there will be a musical program by Medford and Grants Pass artists, with numbers by Robert Groover, Mr. Vimont, Dorothy Gore, Alice Ernst, Elinor Paffenbarger, Margaret Coan, Mr. Cooke, Joyce Banish, Luella Corn, Olaf Severson Jr., and Marvin Burk. Miss Dolores Durker is in charge of the music. The same program will be presented tomorrow night in Grants Pass. Admission charges of ten and twenty cents will be same both nights.

Pilot Spots Fire In Hood Forest

THE DALLES, Ore., Aug. 29.—(AP)—A United Air Lines pilot spotted a forest fire 15 miles southeast of Medford in the Mount Hood national forest late yesterday and radioed the information to the North Dalles airport, which informed Wasco county authorities.

Forest lookouts also spotted the fire and forest service officials quickly dispatched men who controlled the "two alarm" blaze.

He wanted to kiss her

—Emily saw it in his eyes, and her face, turned hopefully toward the man her parents wanted her to marry, was suddenly alive and vivid.

He leaned swiftly toward her—then as swiftly caught himself and stopped....

"He's like everything else I've ever known," reflected Emily. "Careful and safe—I wonder if all my life is going to be that way."

But that was before she met David Carroll and found that it could be thrilling and reckless and glorious. You'll like
