

Wrestling Champ of Hawaiian Islands Will Meet Belcastro Tonight

3 NEWCOMERS TO EXHIBIT WARES ON CARD AT ARMORY

Weed Wildcat Refuses to Put Up Junior Title — Savich and Hubka Match Touted for Fast Action

Pete Belcastro's Pacific coast junior heavyweight championship belt is remaining on the shelf again tonight, but the temperamental Weed wildcat is determined to show the fans that he can whip Toots Estes of Honolulu anyway, when they tangle in the top match of the wrestling card at the Armory tonight.

Although Estes was willing to put up his title as champion of the Hawaiian Islands, Pete refused to make a championship match out of it on the grounds that he should have a chance first to find out what the handsome islander is like. The coveted coast championship buckle is going to hold up Belcastro's pants as long as Pete has anything to say about it.

The appearance of Estes, as the first of three newcomers scheduled on the card, is stirring up great interest among the fans. He is rated as one of the most versatile matmen in the west today, specializing in a variety of grip and speed. Before taking up the ring, he had the marks of a grudge fighter.

Savich, highly-touted by coast promoters, recently defeated Hubka in a Portland match, and the defeat rankles in the mind of the well-liked Coghruker. Tonight, Hubka promises to renege himself in short order.

Russ Riley of New Mexico, as the third newcomer in the lineup, is scheduled to meet Roland Warren of Klamath Falls in the 20-minute opening engagement. Riley brings with him a reputation for colorful matwork with a specialty for leg holds.

Ray Friable, Medford firefiddler, will be third man in the ring.

Hawaiian Champ

Toots Estes (above), champion of the Hawaiian Islands, will be initiated into local wrestling circles by Wildcat Pete Belcastro when they meet tonight in the top bout at the Armory.

SOUTHERN OREGON TOURNEY EVENTS START ON FRIDAY

Qualifying Rounds for Men and Women Golfers First — Local Players Urged to Speed Up Entries

The full schedule of events in the seventh annual Southern Oregon golf tournament was announced today by Pro Jack Husson, listing qualifying rounds for both men and women for Friday, opening competition in the various flights for Saturday, second rounds and consolation flights for Sunday, and semi-finals, finals, feature events and awarding of trophies on Labor Day.

Don Clark, chairman of the tournament committee, stated this morning that while registration for the first few flights is most satisfactory, indicating a field more than equal to previous tourneys, there is an unnecessary delay on the part of local high handicap players in entering. Clark urges every golfer of the district to register at once regardless of whether or not he is a member of the club.

The committee has set a precedent this year in selecting prizes for the higher flights, in an arrangement whereby every player has a chance to win a trophy regardless of his handicap, as he will be matched with players of his own ability.

Portland Stars Coming.

Of special interest to all golfing fans is announcement today by the tournament committee that several Portland stars will definitely participate. Entry cards have been received from Cecil Stevens, Eddie Halseth and George Sarchet, and it is expected that others will arrive in time to qualify late Friday.

Stevens and Halseth, who entered last year, have records that indicate they are a real threat to other potential winners. Stevens carries a three handicap and Halseth and Sarchet are five-handicap men. Other Portlanders expected to arrive include Ben Dolp, member of the famous golfing family, Ben, always a threat in any championship event, has held the Oregon left-hand championship for several years.

Harry Ravizza announced today that he received a wire advising him that Homer Lamons of San Francisco will enter the tournament. Lamons, a member of the Castlewood and San Francisco clubs of the bay district, is considered one of the outstanding left-handed golfers in central California, and has been winner of many tournaments. Harry McMahon, president of Rogue Valley club, announced that it is possible that a special exhibition match will be arranged between Bob Hammond, Sr., Ben Dolp and Lamons.

Jack Ashby Here.

Jack Ashby, former Stanford star, has already arrived from Oakland, and is expected to be heard from among the winners. Arnold Imman, well known Alderwood club and McMinnville golfer, who has been practicing over the course all week, apparently is assured of a place in the championship bracket. Bob Near of Eugene, a favorite of the gallery, arrived Wednesday with the announcement that his brother, Doc, Sid Milligan, John Koke and several other familiar figures were expected to arrive from Eugene today. Ashland and Grants Pass contingents have been practicing daily, and more golfers are expected from the Eureka and Arcata clubs.

The complete tournament schedule follows:

BEARS AND STARS BATTLE TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—(AP)—It's up to the Chicago Bears tonight.

Once more they will attempt to prove something they couldn't do a year ago—that a good professional football team can whip a prize band of college stars. Last year they tried to prove it at the expense of a select aggregation of 1933 greats. To their great surprise and greater chagrin they had to settle for a scoreless tie.

Tonight at 7:30 (central standard time) they will tackle the college all stars picked by the fans as the senior standouts of the 1934 campaign before a throng of 85,000 on the scene of their failure of last year. Soldier Field, and their task figures to be no easier than it was a year ago.

Arrayed against the professionals will be everything in the way of talent for which a coach should ask. All parts of the country have sent their greatest stars.

Both coaches indicated that wide open football would be used and each predicted a free scoring battle.

MISSION RAMPAGE HUMBLER INDIANS

(By the Associated Press)

The San Francisco Missions may sometimes be slow in warming up—but when they do warm up they're hot. The Seattle Indians found this out in a Pacific Coast league game last night.

The teams were tied at 8-all at the end of the regular playing period. Four innings more they battled scoreless until the Missions came to bat in the 14th. Then this happened: Mike Frankovich slammed a homer into the bleachers. Fred Berger easily another one over the left field fence. Clyde Beck singled. Ray Mort singled. Eddie Joost singled, scoring Beck. Joost later came home on a bad throw for the fourth run, to clinch a 12-8 win.

The victory secured the Missions in second place, but the San Francisco Seals already had made sure of the top spot by beating Oakland 4-2.

The third place Portland Ducks slipped down the percentage column when they were blanked, 2-0 by the Hollywood Stars.

Sacramento and Los Angeles staged a wild batting spree, with the Senators coming out on the long end of a 12-10 score.

EGAN TO ATTEND TITLE GOLF PLAY

H. Chandler Egan, Medford architect, golfer, and designer of golf courses, is leaving today for a month or six weeks, during which time he will visit the national championship golfing matches in Cleveland, Ohio.

From Cleveland, he is to inspect the progress of the new golf course there which he designed. Work has been in progress on the course since early in the spring, and Egan is desirous to be present before the finishing touches are added.

Before going to Cleveland, he will stop to spend a few days with his mother at Hyland Park, Ill., on the north shore of Lake Michigan. He will return to Chicago from Atlanta to attend the wedding of his daughter next month.

THIRD JUNIOR GAME POSTPONED BY RAIN

GASTONIA, N. C., Aug. 29.—(AP)—The third game of the "little world series" between Gastonia and Sacramento, Cal., for the American Legion junior baseball championship was postponed today because of wet grounds.

Gastonia needed but one more game to clinch the pennant after taking its second straight victory from Sacramento, the western champions, 3 to 1, yesterday before 7000 fans. Bobby Lee Hamilton's four-hit pitching was too much for the visitors.

STARS HURLER BEANED BY PORTLAND PITCHER

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 29.—(AP)—"Trader" Horne, Hollywood pitcher who was hit on the head by a pitched ball that "got away" in the baseball game with Portland last night, was resting easily at a hospital today.

Following the taking of X-rays, Horne will be released this afternoon, it was stated. He received a gash on the side of his scalp when struck by one of the deliveries of Bill Rosedell, Portland speedball hurler.
