GIFT TAX CAUSED MUCH LIBERALITY BY CORPORATIONS

John D., Jr. Heads List of Big Givers With 28 Millions—Law Becomes Effective January 1.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Gifts of some $40,000,000 in securities by corporation directors and large stockholders, most of which were made when the program for new and high gift taxes was announced, were disclosed today by reports to the securities commission.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., with donations of $28,000,000 in two months, was the biggest giver.

The bulk of the other large gifts ranged in the hundreds of thousands with a few over a million.

Total gift taxes to be paid under existing legislation—on rough though official estimates assuming market values to be accurate appraisals and that gifts were made to individuals—would be approximately $12,800,000 against $4,500,000 under the new bill, which is effective Jan. 1, 1936.

These figures are probably high, officials said, because many of the gifts are broken up. Rockefeller, for example, reported $27,000,000 in June to individuals and charitable organizations. Figured as one gift the present tax would be $10,000,000 against $12,345,000 under the new bill, but since there actually were several gifts the tax would be lower. The high rates start on the larger gifts.

Gifts in July were more than $5,000,000 on the basis of early reports received by the commission, but this total probably will be augmented later. The total for June, aside from the Rockefeller gift, was about $4,000,000, and for the previous three months about $5,000,000.

Other large July gifts included $1,800,000 by Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury; $1,470,000 by Kate Hanna Harvey of Cleveland; $700,000 by Henry J. Fisher, New York; $600,000 by Charles S. Woolworth, Scranton, Pa.; and $727,000 by Edward Cornell, New York.

These figures do not disclose all the gifts. They include gifts of securities by officers and directors of corporations and individuals holding 10 percent or more of a corporation's stock.

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 30.—(AP)—The British admiralty, confirming tonight the report from Dover that the battleship Ramilles and the German steamer Eisenbach had collided, said no details had been received.

Boats put out from Dover to the assistance of the ships, following a report one of them was damaged. It was not learned which vessel was most or whether anyone was injured.

The Eisenbach, a North German Lloyd freighter, carried no passengers. Warships, led by the Ramilles, passed Deal this afternoon. Weather in the channel was very rough. There was a strong southerly gale, big seas, rain was falling heavily and visibility was poor.

JAILED MAN SAYS HE FIRED SHOT IN LABOR TERRORISM

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Detective Lieutenant Tip Schulpus announced today that Willis Billingham confessed today that he fired the shot which critically wounded Alfred Ertman, non-union woodworker, at his home Tuesday night.

A number of others arrested have been identified as members of beat-up and gun-shooting terrorists gangs active in ousting non-union woodworkers since the start of the Woodworkers' union strike activities, here Schulpus said.

Ertman, shot through the lung, is in a hospital where he is given an even chance of recovery. Schulpus said he would await developments in Ertman's condition before filing charges.

Detective Sergeant Jay Flemming said scientific tests made by Dr. Frank Menne of the University of Oregon medical school revealed powder signs on the right hand of Willis Billingham had even stronger signs on the hand of his brother, Curt, who also was taken into custody for questioning.

The morning preceding the shooting of Ertman he was fired upon seven times by three gunmen who sped past in a sedan as he was working.

New acid tests reveal whether a person has fired a revolver within the past 72 hours, Sergeant Flemming said.

Others questioned by police were Jeral Murphy, pugilist, Joe Bush, ex-convict, Mrs. Willis Billingham, and Jal Lowell, taxi driver who Schulpus said admitted throwing the used guns into the Willamette river.

Gripping Drama on Rialto Bill

If you can picture the monster of "Frankenstein" and the vampire of "Dracula" vying with each other for horror honors, you can anticipate the chills and thrills that are packed into "The Raven" playing at the Rialto theatre today and Saturday. Karloff heads the cast, with Bela Lugosi and Irene Ware.

The plot of the story is purely imaginative, of course, with the symbolism of the raven supplying the motif of the narrative. A mad doctor, Volkm, is suffering from a torture complex and sets out to demonstrate his theories. His principal victim is an escaped criminal who comes to him to have his face changed. The doctor distorts the man's features and makes a slave of him, then he casts a spell over a beautiful girl and when her father tries to save her he is himself caught in the delicious machinations of the mentally unbalanced doctor.

both revolves. Lionel Barrymore adds both comedy and pathos in the principal character role, as the strange old physician, tool of the underworld, and blonde Jean Arthur, with Morris, provides the romantic interest. The excellent cast also features Paul Kelly, Lewis Stone, Paul Hurst and George E. Stone.

The sensational prison break, the stampede of a thousand convicts, the breath-taking operation sequence, where the doctor performs a transfusion in a crook's hide-out, the raid on the gangster stronghold, running battles between fast automobiles, and other exciting details embellish the story as the audience follows the federal men in their dangerous task.

One of the amazing details is the resort of the crook to plastic surgery as a disguise, that, however, falls to elude the vigilance of Uncle Sam's watchdogs.

Coming Sunday

Should a man 40 years or older fall in love with a girl half his age? This age-old problem has been given a unique twist in "Accent on Youth," which comes Sunday to the Craterian theatre with Sylvania Sidney and Herbert Marshall co-starring.

But Sylvania Sidney his secretary, feels differently about the matter. She loves him, wants none of the silly romancing of boys her own age, and does not hesitate to tell him so.

Through a series of witty and amusing situations this delightful pair are brought together. Herbert Marshall is almost won by Astrid Allwyn, and Miss Sidney is nearly lost to Phillip Reed, but the conclusion of the picture sees Marshall and Sylvania Sidney happily united.
