

$700,000 OFFER IS CONSIDERED BY WILLAMETTE 'U'

Special Board Meeting Is Called to Hear State's Proposal for Capitol Site—Hinges On PWA Grant

SALEM, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The board of trustees of Willamette university went into executive session shortly before noon today to consider the state's offer of $700,000 for the purchase of the university campus, the offer being contingent upon arrival by the state legislature and the federal government, from whom grants for the purchase will be sought.

About 30 members of the board of 49 were present at the special meeting here today and listened to the 2500-word report of the governor's committee on the proffer of the state, as written by Governor Martin and read by Oscar Hayer of Dallas, chairman of the committee.

Hinges on PWA Grant.

Bishop Titus Lowe of the Methodist church, present at the session, declared that the proffer for purchase may stand or fall upon the details of federal PWA provisions in the construction of new buildings. He stated the board should consider thoroughly first what was recommended by the committee, and then the state's offer, which negotiations may stand or fall. This is very important and should be thoroughly considered by the board.

The board's proposal, as interpreted by the committee, would be to purchase the campus, including the 67-acre site in Bush's pasture, including $50,000 donation by the Bush estate, $50,000 by Salem and $50,000 by the university.

That the university proceed immediately to vacate the property when final approval is obtained.

Need for Haste Told.

In addition the governor stressed the need for haste, explained the procedure adopted to date, cited the basis for the sale price, emphasizing it was not a trade proposal, and recommended that all might share in the greater development of the state.

In conclusion Governor Martin declared:

"My associates (Spill and Holman) and I wish you to know that we approach this critical, important matter without the semblance of rancor and with complete objectivity. . . . I know of Willamette university's glorious history. Before Oregon was a state, it was a mission. It is in the history of the United States has the history of a university and a commonwealth been so intertwined. Each has a tremendous impressive history. Both are great. Each trusts a more glorious future.

"I have high hopes for the growth and improvement of Oregon. Our educational and cultural developments must not lag. I envision with you a Willamette university and a state of Oregon, each proud of the traditions of the past, but each bold, courageous, pioneering, willing to take in 1935 in the last century, the future, willing to grow and to pioneer. It is in this spirit that I approach you today."

LEONARD SERVICE STATION IS SOLD

Jack Hughes and Fred Underwood, both well known here, where they have been affiliated with service stations for the past several years, today announced that they had purchased the interest of Chet Leonard in the service station at the corner of Sixth and Grape streets, and will run it themselves in the future.

Their station is one of the newest and best equipped in the city. Hughes has managed it for Leonard for several years. Underwood became affiliated with the station early in the year, after a long service with the Firestone station as a brake and lubrication expert. Both young men have taken training in proper auto maintenance, and their friendly service is well known.

The regular line of Texaco products will be continued. Firestone tires will be handled as in the past, and car washing and polishing will also be featured. Bob Lewis, well-known attendant who has been at the station for several months, will continue.

STAR-EYED JOAN SENDS ROMANCE TO CUTTING ROOM

Marriage With Cameraman Failed to Click—He 'Wasn't Nice, Actress Explains to Hollywood Judge

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 5.—(UP)—Joan Blondell, star-eyed film blonde who loved her cameraman-hubby so much she wanted to change her movie name to Barnes, yesterday sent her romance to the cutting room.

She got an unexpected divorce from George Barnes, film photographer, joining the ranks—distinguished by Jean Harlow—of movie actresses who married their cameramen and couldn't make it click.

Miss Blondell's reasons for divorcing Barnes were quite simple.

"He wasn't nice," she explained to Judge Frank M. Smith.

Specifically, she charged Barnes wouldn't answer her questions, refused to greet her guests in her home, got drunk and "frightened her half to death" by insisting on driving their car, wouldn't pay household bills and was "completely indifferent."

They got married in Phoenix, Ariz., January 9, 1933.

Their 9-month-old son, Norman Scott Barnes, was born the following November. Miss Blondell was so tickled she got into a fight with her studio over her desire to change her film name to Barnes. She lost the decision.

The pair separated last month.

Miss Blondell arrived in court dressed soberly in a navy blue ensemble, with white gloves and dark blue slippers.

Leigh Harline, girlhood chum of the actress in the days when Joan was a traveling vaudeville performer—before she became "Miss Dallas of 1927"—accompanied her to court and corroborated the actress' testimony.

"He would sit with a book and a highball glass, and say nothing for hours. At first I thought it was a personal feeling toward me, but later I learned he treated everybody that way, including his wife."

Miss Blondell was given custody of Norman. A property settlement was arranged out of court.

PORTLAND BUTTER STAGES ADVANCE; EGG TRADE ACTIVE

PORTLAND, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The looked-for advance in butter prices in the local market became effective at an meeting of the produce exchange late Wednesday when cube extra and standards went up one-half cent.

Butterfat prices also advanced one cent, making the quotations 29 cents for Portland delivery and 27 cents at country points. Tone of the butter market is good, and storage stocks are being withdrawn in fairly liberal amounts to fill local and shipping orders. Receipts are moderate in volume.

Trading in eggs were active today and the light receipts were being cleared readily. No changes were made in jobbing quotations. Top quality fresh goods were limited and demand was excellent.

Poultry prices are on the upgrade. Heavy hens were bringing 16 and 17 cents a pound wholesale, with leg-horns at 13 1/2 to 14 cents. Springs are now at 18 cents, all grades. They weigh from 2 to 3 1/2 pounds.

A few live turkeys were sold today at 18 and 20 cents a pound. The market has not really been established for the turkeys.

Beef demand is comparatively slow on the local market. Bulls were cheaper and canner cows were bringing $4.50 to $5.00.

Wall St. Report

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Stocks surged upward today with the buying demand pushing many issues to new highs for the year.

Brokers thought that good business news, combined with the growing volume of idle money in the country, helped to spur the upturn. Advances ranged from fractions to 3 or more points. The close was irregular. The transfers approximated 1,900,000 shares.
