COSTS OF LIVING SEEN STATIONARY BALANCE OF YEAR

New Dealers Refuse to Predict Trend in 1936—Business Expert Predicts Wholesale Price Growth

By ARTHUR F. DEGREVE (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(UP)—New dealers anticipate no major changes in commodity prices the remainder of this year, but refused to predict cost of living in 1936. A forecast by Henry H. Stafford, annual national business conference in Wellington Hills, Mass., yesterday that the trend of wholesale prices in 1936 would continue upward, was met with official silence here.

Housewives Protest.

Reluctance of new dealers to speculate concerning future of commodity prices first was evidenced many weeks ago when rumblings of discontent among the housewives over skyrocketing food prices were followed by meat strikes in the midwest and protests by two delegations of women to Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

Official restraint has spread to the White House, where President Roosevelt evaded a direct answer to a newspaper correspondent who inquired whether the chief executive wanted commodity prices to go higher.

No price goal has been definitely fixed by Mr. Roosevelt. But various bureaus directing new deal emergency projects have generally used "average prices that prevailed in 1935."

Gain Shown.

With these prices pegged at an index figure of 100, the labor department reported September 5 that the composite index of all commodity prices for the week ending August 31, 1935, had reached 80.5 per cent of the 1926 average. This represented a gain of 5.1 per cent over the corresponding week of 1934 and 16 per cent above two years ago.

Chief increases, however, have come on farm commodities. Agricultural products on August 31, 1935, had reached 79.2 per cent of the 1926 level, a gain of 3.9 per cent over prices existing on September 1, 1934.

Pood prices had mounted to 86.0 per cent of the 1926 level or an increase of 12.3 per cent as compared with prices on September 1, 1934.

ADOPT SCHOOL BUS SAFETY MEASURE

A new regulation demanded by the Medford school board for buses carrying students to Medford schools has been announced by Supt. E. H. Hedrick. The regulation demands that buses unloading students do so on the side of the street on which the school is located.

In the past, many buses unloaded the charges on the opposite side, forcing the students to cross the street in the face of incoming traffic. Last year the situation was responsible for many near-accidents, so a curb is being put on the practice.

Chief of Police Clatous McCredie announced today that the plan is a worthy one, and will be incorporated as a safety measure applying to private autos also. If all of the parents bringing their children to school will exercise even a little caution and, if necessary, turn so that the children get out on the right side, a definite hazard will have been removed.

There are many times during the year when a student will jump from a car on the wrong side of the street, dash behind the machine and across the street, without giving a thought to oncoming traffic. Other motorists, coming from behind, may also be in a hurry and a serious accident may result, it was pointed out.

LOCAL DRIVERS GET RACE INVITATION

A hint that there may be some southern Oregon competition for the professional auto and motorcycle racers who will compete at the Josephine county fair Friday, Saturday and Sunday has just been received from promoter Bobby Rowe.

Rowe stated that he was anxious to get in touch with any southern Oregon's racers who would like to enter the events. He has stated that he will give all assistance possible to the entries and will show them the ropes in entering.

Some of the fastest times in the state's dirt track history is expected at Grants Pass in the auto races, with a peculiar situation now present in the Pacific northwest auto title dash. Mel Kenesly, Los Angeles star, has been leading the parade for top honors for months. After three months, Jimmy Wilburn, Seattle, finally scrambled into top place Sunday at the Portland speed bowl.

Whether he is able to hold it or not will be shown Friday when Kenesly tries to win at Grants Pass.

ADDITIONAL ROOM CONSTRUCTED FOR LONE PINE SCHOOL

One of the county's most modern school buildings has just been provided in the form of an addition and renovation of the old building at the Lone Pine school. The old red roof which caused the school to be nicknamed "Red Top" bringing forth consternation from the patrons of the district, has been replaced with bright new shingles.

Continuous growth of the community and enrollment in the school for the past two years made it necessary to double the room space.

The new addition was constructed of a combination of stucco and cement, 35 feet long and 45 feet wide, containing two classrooms, a library and full basement. The building is finished in the latest designs, with all modern conveniences, with the objective of providing an atmosphere good for study as well as healthful and pleasant surroundings. The basement provides for the heating plant and has a large playroom for the students during bad weather conditions.

Work on the new building was all done by local contractors and local help. The general contractor was D. R. Smith of Talent; sub-contractors were: Excavation, Sam Bateman and Son, Medford; painting, W. T. Berry, Medford; plastering, E. E. Robinson, Medford; plumbing, Coffeen Bros., Medford; wiring, Electric Wiring Service, Medford. The contractors used some 48,000 feet of lumber and one carload of cement.

The district has not only been fortunate in its active community organization but also in its sturdy, healthy boys and girls. The students have been successful in athletics, both the boys and the girls winning a greater portion of their athletic contests. They have also entered into club work, for several years maintaining a club of their own origin, "The Little Citizens League." During the last year the members transferred to the 4-H club. In June the Rocky Ann 4-H club sent three mem-

The cost of the telephone system was estimated at $316,470 to serve all state activities at Salem and Portland. The project includes eight radio stations to be operated in connection with the state police. The location of the stations had not yet been determined.
