Brothers Di Maggio Head Small but Classy Group of Coast Rookies Aiming at Majors

By RUSSEL NEWLAND (Associated Press Staff Writer) SAN FRANCISCO.—(AP)—Baseball's rookie crop in the Pacific Coast league this season makes up in quality what it lacks in quantity. A small but select list of youngsters, whose stars are expected to burn brightly in the major league skies of the future, is headed by the Brothers Di Maggio, Joe of San Francisco and Vince of Hollywood.

Quality, not quantity, is the watchword in the Pacific Coast league this season as a small but classy group of players fight for recognition as potential big leaguers. Joe Di Maggio of the Seals, is ranked for the second year, and brother Vince of Hollywood is out to get a similar chance. Bobby Doerr, fancy Hollywood second baseman, at 18, is the baby of the crop. Gene Lillard, third sacker, is Los Angeles' contribution.

Joe Headed for Yankees. A consistent right-handed slugger with a batting mark near 400 for the season, the Seals' star combines virtually every requisite necessary to shine under the "big tent." He covers an extraordinary amount of ground and such veterans as Gaby Street, former St. Louis Cards' player, and O'Doul say they have never seen a more powerful throwing arm than that possessed by the San Francisco Yankee.

Vince Di Maggio goes to the New York Yankees next year and that Joe McCarthy will have to reserve a berth in his 1936 outfield for him is regarded as a foregone conclusion by every trained observer on the coast.

Two Young Slab Aces. Lillard, the Babe Ruth of the Coast League, has lost more baseballs than any other player in the circuit the last three years. He led the league in home runs with 43 in 1933, and was third the following season. He was whacked the ball at better than a 350 clip this year.

While the league's pitching this season has been dominated by veterans from the majors, Selvo and Osborn have shown sufficient mound capabilities to attract the attention of the ivory hunters. Osborn had a brief trial with the Pittsburgh Pirates last spring, but has twirled brilliant ball since returning to the Missions.

Doerr, former American Legion Junior star, may be considered too young for a big league berth next year, but his record for this season is expected to earn him serious consideration by the men who comb the stacks for talent. He has hit around 340 since the season's opening and has fielded his position in neat style.

Crowding Doerr for the limelight. Wright of the Missions is rated one of the best defensive second sackers in the loop, making daily plays that seem impossible. Wright had a trial with the Boston Braves three years ago, but that was not ripe then.

O. T. Wilson gave a comic paper striking humorously at the merchants. Saturday's regular grange meeting enjoyed a jock trial for the lecture hour, when Wesley McDonough was held into court to answer to a breach of promise suit with Miss Helen Williams as plaintiff.

During the business session, with Albert Straus in the master's chair, during the absence of Jerome Pfister, a date was set for the officers' seating drill practice. The remaining committees for the fair were read and will be published next week.

With Mrs. O. T. Wilson as matron the juvenile grange completed its organization. The charter is to be closed at the next regular meeting. Ice cream furnished by the men and cakes by the ladies were the refreshments.

Next meeting, September 21, will be dispensed with due to the fair at Gold Hill. Myrtle A. Hevener vs. State Bank of Ashland; Q. C. D. to land in Sec. 6, Twp. 39 S. R. 4 W.

ANDREW OLSON OF TALENT SUGGUMBS

Andrew Olaf Olson, 71, passed away at 9 p. m. Wednesday at his home, one mile east of Talent, Mr. Olson, a native of Sweden, has lived near Talent for the past 13 years.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Frances Olson, two sons, Hollis D. Olson and Ivan E. Olson, and one brother, Albert Olson, all of Talent.

Born at Stora Tuna delnare, Sweden, in 1864, Mr. Olson came to this country when a young man, locating in Minnesota in the spring of 1888. After a year there he came west to Portland, Oregon, where he remained until 1894, next spending a dozen years in Coos county. In 1900 he was married to Frances Brownjans at Marshfield, since then the family has lived in turn at White Salmon, Washington, Myrtle Creek, and Brownsville, Oregon, making their home at the latter place for eight years. Previous to moving to Talent they spent a brief time in California.

Funeral services were held at the Stock-Litveller Funeral home today, with interment at Mountain View cemetery.

3 SCARLET FEVER CASES IN ASHLAND

ASHLAND, Sept. 13.—(Sp.)—Three current cases of scarlet fever in Ashland led Dr. Harvey A. Woods, city health officer, to issue a warning to parents of school children Thursday, in an effort to secure their cooperation and avert an epidemic.

Dr. Woods advised parents to keep their children at home as soon as early symptoms were noticed. The disease first appears with vomiting, fever, and sore throat, and is characterized by erythematous rash, first on the neck and rapidly spreading to other parts of the body.

Although the condition in Ashland is not alarming, Dr. Woods said the three cases here now make it wise to take extreme precautions.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 13.—(UP)—The state department of agriculture today sought 32 inspectors to check fruit trucks on Washington highways. Director Walter J. Robinson announced.

The proposal called for inspectors stationed on highways to check fruit shipped in trucks, for spray residue correct grading and insect damage.

Inspectors would be established on Snoqualmie Pass, Satus Pass, Vancouver interstate bridge, Spokane, and the Bridge of the Gods, on the Columbia.

16 MINERS KILLED IN SUDDEN FLAME BLAST BARNBLEY, YORK, Eng., Sept. 13. (UP)—A searing blast of flame swept a 300-foot gallery of the Gwawer coal mine at Matin Cross today, killing 16 and maiming 10 of the miners who huddled under ceilings only three feet high.

Rescuers, wearing gas masks for protection against the poisonous fumes which eddied through the corridors after the explosion, crawled on hands and knees into the gallery to drag out the terribly burned and blackened injured.

THE GRANGE

Sams Vanquet Grange. August 28 a banquet was given in the auditorium to the valley merchants who had advertised on the Grange drop curtain, thereby making possible for the grange to procure the velvet drapes for the stage. It was regretted that so few were able to attend, but the grangers gladly welcomed Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gates, Mr. and Mrs. Con DeVore, Mr. and Mrs. Honner and Mr. Morton.

R. E. Nealon, acting as toast master, introduced the honored guests, each of whom gave a short talk expressing their appreciation of being invited to meet with the grangers. Mr. Gates, during his talk touched lightly on the loss of rice of people, whose inscriptions have been found on the cliffs of the Klamath lake banks, stating that had there been functioning at that time, such an organization as the grange, with its community sociability, those people would probably have remained in a factor in the world's progress.

Mr. DeVore stated the occasion was his first attendance at a grange affair and he hoped it would not be the last. Mr. Nealon introduced the officers of the grange, many of whom expressed their appreciation of the merchants' help in procuring their speaking stumps. Mrs. E. W. Empey gave a vocal number, "My Alice Blue Gown," in costume. Miss Helen Burrows, accompanying at the piano; James McDonough and Melvin Smith gave two guitar selections, and Mrs.

TREMONT, O.—(UP)—Albert Zahn, arch foe of modernism, has offered to back up his ideals. Zahn has hurled a challenge to any man to harvest more wheat in a given time than he can. He recently completed his harvest, reaping exclusively on the antiquated reed.
