

WILLIAM HANLEY, PIONEER FIGURE HEEDS SUMMONS

personally directed activities on both of his ranch properties, including the Bell A ranch, which he termed his "home ranch," 3 1/2 miles from the city of Burns, and the Double O ranch, 35 miles southwest of Burns. The Bell A property includes approximately 10,000 acres while the Double O ranch includes upwards of 16,000 acres.

Friend of Rogers.
Included among his countless acquaintances was the late Will Rogers, whom he greatly admired, and many other personages of note.

Always interested in political affairs, Hanley in 1912 was a candidate for United States senator on a progressive platform. During later years his political interests grew less numerous; but he never ceased to be interested in good roads, and in 1931 he was appointed to the Oregon state highway commission by Governor Julius L. Meier. He was forced to resign the highway post later because of ill health.

The Burns Masonic lodge will conduct funeral services.

William Hanley, one of the foremost cattlemen of the west, died yesterday morning in Pendleton a few hours after he was given a great ovation by thousands of his friends, was a member of one of the staunchest pioneer families of southern Oregon.

Born at Jacksonville, February 8, 1861, he was the son of Michael and Martha Hanley, who were married at Michael Hanley's original donation land claim near Roseburg in 1854, moving to this vicinity two years later and settling on the Hanley donation land claim near Jacksonville. The land was developed by the Hanleys into a fine 640-acre ranch, and it was there that Bill Hanley as a boy first learned about ranching and decided upon it as a business, as did all his brothers and sisters.

Went To Burns
He went to school in Jacksonville, under Professor Merritt, until the age of 18, when he and his brother, Edward, left for Burns. They were equipped with six-horse teams and wagons and drove 800 head of cattle in place into the plateau of eastern Oregon. They located on the Bell A ranch, developing the land into a fine range despite the fact that neither was yet 20 years of age. They sold all their cattle in the early 80's and returned to southern Oregon for a short time before resuming cattle raising again at Burns. After his father's death in 1899, William returned here to administer the estate, while Edward ran the Bell A partnership ranch.

William Hanley and Clara R. Cameron, daughter of Mrs. E. J. Cameron of 112 Geneva street, then of Uniontown in the Applegate district, were married at Sacramento, Cal. July 7, 1892, returning to southern Oregon to make their home for a number of years, and then moving to eastern Oregon, where they made their permanent home.

Often Visited Here
Since that time William Hanley and Mrs. Hanley, who survives him, have been in Medford several times. They arrived on the last visit in October, 1934, spending several months here and returning for a brief stay after spending the holidays at Pasadena, Cal. After leaving Medford last spring they made their home in Portland, where William Hanley lived until the time of his death.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two sisters, Alice Hanley of the Hanley ranch here, and Ella Hanley Bush of Medford; one brother, Ed, now of Seattle, and owner of the Hanley ranch; four nieces, Martha, Mary and Claire, all of Medford, and Katherine Hanley Heffernan of Seattle, and three nephews, Michael, Jr., of Medford, Alex of Burns, and Ed B. Jr., of Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Bush and Edward Hanley will drive to Burns for the funeral services.

CCC EDUCATIONAL ADVISOR IS NAMED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Appointment of Joseph W. Burke, Otis Orchard, Wash., as assistant educational advisor of the Civilian Conservation Corps for the ninth corps area was announced today by Dr. John W. Studebaker, United States commissioner of education.

Burke's headquarters will be at the presidio, San Francisco, Calif. Burke previously had served as a camp education advisor and as district advisor in charge of the Poacello, Idaho district.

AIRPLANE CRASH PROVES CANARD

When Lieutenant Titus, U. S. army, brought his plane down in Redding, Cal., yesterday afternoon, it must have taken great restraint to refrain from quoting Mark Twain to the extent of saying "The reports of my death have been greatly exaggerated."

About 3:45 yesterday afternoon a call was received from a farmer in the Anderson creek district, saying that a plane had crashed into the canyon wall of Anderson creek. The farmer said that the plane was flying very low, and headed directly into the canyon, and that it had crashed.

This was assumption on his part, for although it seems the plane was flying low, it did not fly into the canyon, but over it, and on into Redding, Cal., for which point it was bound from Fort Lewis, Wash. A search party sent out to investigate the crash combed the hills for several hours, but failed to find any trace of the supposed crash victim. Check telegrams sent on down the line revealed that Lieutenant Titus, with one passenger, was piloting the machine, and was safe.

WAR TALK HOISTS PRICE OF COPPER

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The price of domestic copper was raised today to 9 cents a pound from 8.50 cents, the level which has prevailed since August 19. On that date the price rose from 8 to 8.50 cents a pound on record sales.

Improved demand during the past few months for the metal has been a factor in the rise in the price of both the domestic and foreign commodity and today's upturn had recently been anticipated in copper circles.

At the new price of 9 cents for domestic copper quoted today, the metal now stands a full cent above the 8 cent level to which it declined following the demise of the NRA copper code.

Higher prices for export copper were said to have been stimulated by an increase in consumption mainly in Great Britain, Japan, Italy and Sweden. Sharper demand has been attributed both to improved industrial and to military needs.

GERMAN IMPORTS TO PAY FULL DUTY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(AP)—In line with Germany's action a year ago, notifying the United States she would terminate the "most favored nation" pact with this country, the commissioner of customs directed today that effective October 15, regular duties must be paid on all German goods coming here.

Collectors of customs were instructed not to extend to Germany any reduced duties or other concessions granted in trade agreements with Belgium, Sweden and Haiti.

The instructions were sent after President Roosevelt had notified the acting secretary of the treasury that on October 15 "the United States will cease to be bound by the provisions of article 7 of the treaty of friendship, commerce and consular rights between Germany and the United States, signed December 8, 1923, providing for most favored nation treatment in respect to customs duties."

JEWES LOSE LAST CIVIL RIGHTS IN HITLERS DOMAIN

Bremen Incident Spurs
The tearing of the Swastika from the prow of the German liner Bremen in New York last month and the action of magistrate Louis Brodsky in dismissing five defendants in the case were considered by observers to have furnished, in a measure, direct cause for enactment of the law.

One law, effective immediately, proclaimed the Swastika as the Reich's national and commercial flag. Black, white and red were set as the Reich's colors, with Der Fuehrer to designate the form of the Reich war flag and the Reich official flag.

A second law defines Reich citizens, dividing Germans into members of the state, the protection of which they may enjoy, and citizens—of German or similar blood—who would be allowed to serve the Reich and its people.

The citizen would be given a Reich citizen letter making him the bearer of citizen privileges. The date for enforcement of the citizenship law was not immediately fixed.

Protect Blood
A third law, entitled "Protection of Blood and Honor," became effective today. It provided that marriages between Jews and Germans were forbidden, and such marriages contracted abroad were declared void.

Extra-matrimonial sexual relations between non-Aryans and Aryans were forbidden under pain of penitentiary punishment. Jews were forbidden to engage Aryan help under 45 years of age, with violations punishable by one year in jail and a fine, or both.

The law provided further that Jews may not fly the German flag, but only the blue and white Zionist emblem.

The Bremen and Brodsky incidents in New York were considered in Nazi circles to have so aroused Hitler that he determined to make the swastika not only the national but also the commercial flag.

That some spadework must still be done with the army seemed apparent from the fact that the question of a Reich war flag was left open.

The legislation concerning citizenship for Jews was considered by observers to go beyond anything that any nation has attempted in modern times.

With these acts, Hitler made it clear in his address that he hoped to deal a blow to Communism and Jewry. The essence of what had been uppermost in all addresses to the current Nazi convention was thus put into legal form.

ANAHEIM AWAKENED BY EARLY MORNING QUAKE

ANAHEIM, Calif., Sept. 16.—(AP)—A slight earthquake was felt here today at about 4:30 a. m., Pacific standard time. No damage was caused but the shock was sharp enough to awaken many residents.

PORTLAND, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Trading in the butter market is reflecting a generally steady tone here, but late developments in the east suggest a slightly easier feeling as a result of liberally increased production.

Cheese markets throughout the country were fairly steady and unchanged.

Seasonable upwaving continues in the market for eggs with demand for actually fresh stock greater than supply, although under the new state law it is not possible to so designate supplies.

Trend of the country-killed meat market is rather good and especially so for light weight calves of top quality, even though heavy stock is under pressure. Prices are much the same as last week.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The last will and testament of Will Rogers was admitted to probate today, leaving the entire estate to Mrs. Betty Blake Rogers, the widow. No official estimate was made of the value of the estate, believed to be around $2,500,000.

MONEL METAL

BUFFALO YOU?

● Frontier methods of water heating have no place in today's modern home. Don't put up another minute with the teakettle technique that the Forty-Niners brought across the plains. Instead, order a modern automatic electric water heater with a tank that can never rust. We suggest the WESIX with a Whitehead tank of MONEL METAL guaranteed 20 years against rust, corrosion and repairs. It is so thrifty of current, so convenient, so all-fired grand that once you own one you wonder how...or why...you ever got along without it. Especially when you find out how easy it is to pay for, how little it costs, and the low cost of water-heating current. Ask us for the facts.
