LOUIS LOOKS GOOD TO OLD TAR BABY

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Joe Louis' stake had taken another big today. He pummeled his sparring partner yesterday as some wise old eyes looked on, and they proclaimed him a great heavyweight.

One of the onlookers was Sam Langford, the grizzled old "Tar Baby" of better days. Sam can't see so well. One eye was permanently dimmed by the right-hand punch of Fred Fulton and the other isn't so clear. But he saw enough of the panther-like bomber who keeps waving in, to convince him that his race had produced another great one.

"He's just too much for Mr. Bess," said the broad-beamed Langford.

"HOWDY BOYS, I'M GLAD TO SEE YOU"

At least those were Head Coach Prink Callison's sentiments as he met the newcomers who will augment his 1935 Webfoot varsity squad. Prink smiles as he shakes hands with Bobby King, halfback; Bob Bradock, halfback; Tony Amato, guard; Bud Goodin, halfback; John Engstrom, tackle, and Dale Lasselle, halfback (with the ball) as they reported for the opening drill Saturday.

SPARTANS PLAY WILDCATS FIRST

SAN JOSE, Cal., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Having cut loose from the far western conference, San Jose State college gridderes are busily practicing for the opening of their 1935 season Saturday night when they meet the Willamette university "Wildcats" in Salem, Ore.

The Spartans' resignation from the conference came on the heels of an announcement of a "help the athletes" policy that members of its football squad be provided with board and room.

"It's unfair and impossible for an athlete to work part time, keep up in studies and practice two or three hours a day," school officials said in explaining the departure.

It brought Coach Dud De Groot a swarm of inquiries from athletes in all parts of the country.

With football coaches marshalling their forces from one end of the country to the other this week, the first major bombardments of the '35 season will be fired Saturday.

Some of the reverberations will be heard "round the world, others won't" be heard out of the lot on which they are played. The loud bangs will come from the upsets when small schools dump their larger playmates—the muffled ones when the expected happens and the "feeler" teams go down to ignominious defeat. Such reports mean little this early in the season.

Medford high school will in all probability not play anyone, according to Coach Bowerman, who yesterday took 28 of his charges to Mont Crest ranch in northern California as the guests of the Bayliss family. For five hours the squad forgot about football, and that will probably be the last chance they have for doing so for three months.

The new coach is driving his men hard in an effort to beat green material into some semblance of a machine. At present it looks as though his efforts will be effective. With a light, new line, but a rather impressing backfield he already has them running through plays and light scrimmage with a snap and fervor that indicates a good season ahead. Few expect the coach to win all of his games, but if he does the victories will be that much sweeter.

If smothered in a blindfold, it would be nearly impossible to tell whether the team is being coached by Bowerman, or his teacher, Prink Callison. The same methods, the same attack, the same viewpoint on "crying" or laying down on a job are evident. The result is not too surprising: Bowerman played under the Oregon mentor for nearly eight years.

The first casualty of the present season occurred during practice on Thursday night, when Warren Bayliss, backfield aspirant, sustained a broken arm. He may be back in uniform before the end of the season.

With football season practically upon us, baseball will be bowing out of the way in a few more weeks. Already this is in evidence here, with practically no one aware of what has happened to the Medford Broncos. They play their last scheduled game next Saturday when they meet the Gold Hill Townies at Gold Hill, as a special feature of the Northwest Jackson County Fair, which will be held in Gold Hill that day. After that they may disband, or they may stay with northern California clubs. Interest is slack, however, and members have started to drift away already.

Although baseball may drop out of the picture, wrestling won't, and will continue to hold a popular interest through the fall and winter. New faces will come, old ones will go. Pete Belcastro, one of the best drawing cards here, will wrestle in Mexico, after spending a rigorous two weeks training in northern California, chasing deer up and down hills. The training will do him good. When he returned from a barn-storming circuit of the country a few months ago he was in the pink—fast, aggressive, and impressive.

Since he has put on a few pounds, and until last week was growing listless. A beating from Toota Estes revived his killer instincts, and now he's again diverting his interests to the game. Condition means much to a wrestler, of course. Few can hit the high spots without a resultant hitting of the canvas. Johnny Soos is an example of what conditioning can do. He runs several miles a day, works out with Klamath Falls amateurs through the week, and on wrestling night always gives a good account of himself, although he is far from big, for a heavyweight grappler.

BAER'S PUNCHING LACKING IN STEAM

SPECTACULAR, N. Y., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey, always a rooter for Max Baer, is of the opinion the former butcher boy is in shape to absorb plenty of punishment but that he would have to improve on his showing of yesterday if he would defeat Joe Louis.

Max, apparently in one of his periods of lassitude, boxed six rounds yesterday as Dempsey and others looked on. In contrast to his savage punching of the day before, however, Baer had little steam in his punches and seemed content to box with Paul Pross, Willie McGee, George Turner and Lou Sozza. Several thousand fans went away disappointed.

Early in his workout Baer was disturbed by the collapse of a stand holding approximately 400 persons in which several persons were hurt.

PETE TO GRAPPLE BRAWNY CANADIAN THURSDAY NIGHT

Pete Belcastro, Pacific coast junior heavyweight champion, who turned aside Flashy Toota Estes of Honolulu in a title bout last week, will try his celebrated drop-kicks against Rocky Brooks, Canadian strongman, in the top-bout of this week's all-star lineup.

Estes is scheduled to meet Danny (He Piles Through the Air) Savich of Utah in the other half of the double main event and in the 20-minute opener Johnny Soos, ring roughie from Indiana, will tangle Bob Kennaston, the meanie marine.

Belcastro was so relieved after his match last week that instead of setting out immediately for a barnstorm trip through Mexico, he decided to stay around a few days longer and make one more appearance here. He is matched against one of the strongest men on the coast in the all-star Canadian, but as he is in the best condition of his mat career himself, the Italian kicker-up is confident of beating the nail-chewing northerner.

Brooks, who says he can carry piñons on his back and out-pull six men with a rope around his neck, lost two straight falls to Estes here two weeks ago, but says that he was completely demoralized by the islander's remarkable speed. Given another chance in the local ring, Brooks promises to make a better showing. Pete's belt will not be at stake.

The popular Hawaiian champion will have a capable opponent when he trades grips with the ex-football star from Salt Lake City. Danny converted all over the floor last week when he missed a flying tackle meant for Joe Hubka, but says he is back in fine fettle again.

Johnny Soos, barred from Medford for the past several weeks because he floored a spectator with a chair during a hot bout in which the furniture was moved about more or less roughly, has been reinstated by the local boxing commission, for his match with Kennaston.

WILSON WILL PAY SPURIOUS CHECKS

James D. Wilson, arrested in San Francisco on a charge of uttering and passing a number of forged checks on business men and hotels of this county, will not be returned here for trial, if he makes good the amounts he obtained, and pays the expenses of Sheriff Syd I. Brown to the bay city.

Wilson was first arrested ten days ago, agreed to return to this city without extradition, but upon arrival of Sheriff Brown, changed his mind and refused to return to Oregon, without request papers. Application was made to Governor Martin, by the district attorney, for extradition papers, but the executive indicated he would not grant the request.

In a telephone conversation last Saturday, Wilson's attorney assured District Attorney Coddling his client would reimburse the losers, and pay the sheriff's expenses. The district attorney stated the charge would be dismissed upon the fulfillment of these requirements.

Wilson in his operations here cashed spurious checks on the Hotel Holland and the Lithia hotel in Ashland, and several business houses.
