GOLD HILL FAIR DISPLAYS EVENTS DRAW BIG CROWD

Glendora Gardens Win First Parade Prize—Free Barbecue and Dance Close Celebration.

The annual Northwest Jackson County fair for 1935 is now a thing of the past, but members of the fair board at Gold Hill, where the event was held yesterday, townpeople and visitors are all satisfied that the fair was the largest and best ever held. So many exhibits were submitted that the two buildings, the Gold Hill hotel and the old city hall, were filled to capacity and displays spilled over into many of the downtown buildings.

People from all over the Rogue River valley, many from this city, helped Gold Hill to make the day a success. Judging and compiling was so much heavier than was at first anticipated that officials were busy all day yesterday in making their decisions. At 10 o'clock Saturday morning the parade assembled, and with representatives from organizations in that part of the valley, was a pronounced success.

Winners of prizes in the parade went to the following: Best decorated float, Glendora Gardens; best decorated car, Gold Hill Garden club; oldest car, Ben Rosencrans; organization, Gold Hill Grange; best Gold Hill school room, first grade, and a prize to the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts for their marching.

In the individual events, the prize for the best lady's costume went to Milly Walker, and Charley Kell took first place in the men's costume division. James Rosencrans, dressed as an Indian, took costume honors for boys, and Alice Lee Cook was judged the best dressed girl.

In the pet parade, Horace Wilson, who led a goat, won first place in the boys' department, and Josephine Robinson and Yvonne Moore, each with a little puppy clutched in tiny arms, were so even that they were both awarded prizes.

Charles Gilcrest was judged to have the best decorated child's vehicle entered by a boy, while the feminine prize in the same department went to Lora K. Blankenburg. Bobby Rosencrans, with a cleverly decorated bicycle, received a prize, making it almost a clean sweep for the Rosencrans family.

The fair was such a success that already plans are under way for next year's program. Two of the most popular features, the free barbecue and the big dance, held last night, are sure to find a place on the 1936 bill, it was said by fair officials.

LARGE CROWD IS GIVEN THRILL BY RODEO FEATURES

The American Legion sponsored Medford rodeo got away to a flying start yesterday, and with fine weather predicted for today, it is expected that a huge crowd will assemble at the fairgrounds rodeo site at 2 o'clock for the final performance.

Yesterday's program was marred by only one accident, when Cecil Young, catapulted from the riding back of the vicious "I Thought So" bronco, landed on his back. He was at first thought to be seriously injured, but recovered sufficiently to again enter the arena later in the afternoon.

In the calf roping contest, some remarkably fine times were turned in, with Lloyd Saunders coming away from the barrier, roping his animal, throwing it and tying it in exactly 17 seconds. Another fine performance was turned in by Les Simpsons, who had some difficulty in throwing his critter, putting it down on the wrong side first, making a rapid recovery and turning the calf over and tying it in 19 and one fifth seconds.

Everett Bowman, champion western bulldogger, repeated earlier fine performances when he bulldogged and threw a wild Mexican steer in just 11 seconds. Lloyd Saunders, winner of the calf roping contest, placed second in this event when he threw his steer in 13 and two fifth seconds.

The bucking horse contests were the feature of the afternoon as they will be today, with some beautiful riding. Some of the animals were refractory in the chutes yesterday, and it was only by a narrow margin that one rider escaped serious injury when a buckskin bronco in the bareback riding contests pinned him against

ELKS LODGE GAIN OF 115 MEMBERS SHOWN FOR YEAR

An announcement warranting considerable praise for the work of officers of Medford Elks lodge No. 1183 was made last night at the regular lodge meeting when it was made known that in more than 1400 Elks lodges of the United States and the Philippines, the Medford lodge ranks among the first 17 in the number of members gained during the past year.

The achievement was made known after a study of the grand lodge report, just issued. The ranking is in number of members secured only, not percentage of increase, and was compiled regardless of the size of cities in which the lodges were located. The net gain for the Medford lodge is 115 for the past year, bringing the present membership to 635. The accomplishment is considered a remarkable one for Secretary Ernest Scott, Exalted Ruler E. W. Winkie, Past Exalted Ruler H. N. Butler and other officers responsible.

It was determined at the lodge meeting last night to hold initiation of a class of eight on Thursday night, October 3. Those initiated will be Stanley E. Phillips, Charles E. Clay, Jr., J. T. Harmon, Thomas R. Bryant, John Patrick Mackin, Karl L. Janouch, A. O. Tolleson and H. L. Cochran. A special program is being arranged, plans calling for the Elks' hand to be present, and a feed following the evening's entertainment.

The first of the winter's schedule of CCC boxing cards will be held at the temple, Tuesday, October 8. Secretary Scott announced.

Another announcement of interest was that the dance committee is looking for a suitable orchestra for a lodge dance in mid-October.
