

DEATH EXPERIMENTERS MEET

Ralph S. Willard (left), Hollywood chemist who experiments with frozen monkeys in an effort to restore life, and Dr. Robert E. Cornish, dog-reviving scientist of Berkeley, Calif., met in Hollywood, Calif. It was said they may centralize their studies in Berkeley. (Associated Press Photo)

COURT INQUIRY HALTED AGAIN

Ann Harding, film actress, in a Los Angeles court before the case was continued in which her husband, Harry Bannister, sought to have her answer questions in his attempt to obtain complete custody of their daughter. (Associated Press Photo)

SUES TO DEFINE MARITAL STATUS

Frank Wallace, New York night club entertainer, claims he married Mae West of the movies in Milwaukee in 1911. And to prove he was the husband of the buxom blonde has brought an action in that state to define his marital status. He's pictured in his dressing room. (Associated Press Photo)

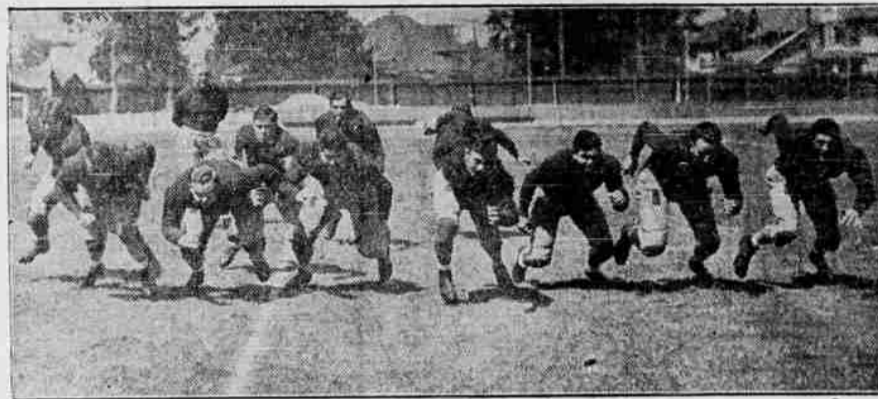

When a four-pound rocker arm fell from the engine of an airplane over Salt Lake City, Utah, the part crashed through the roof of the Dr. C. M. West home, and landed but a few feet from his 13-year-old granddaughter. Dr. West (above) surveys the damage. (Associated Press Photo)

FOLLOWING IN HANNIBAL'S STEPS

This is one way to cross the Alps, but not a new one, for Hannibal used it way back yonder to invade Italy. Richard Halliburton, American writer atop the elephant at St. Bernard Hospice, Switzerland, was merely to see what kind of a ride it was. He called his steed "Miss Dolly." (Associated Press Photo)

The University of Southern California football team running signals in the Trojans' first practice of the 1935 season. The line, left to right: Williams, Jorgenson, Sanders, Kuhn, Bruseau, Hull and Galsford. The backfield, left to right: Clark, Hanson, Propst and Davis. Coach Howard Jones is in the background. (Associated Press Photo)

VICTIMS OF MOUNTAIN AIRPLANE CRASH

Believed instantly killed when their airplane crashed into a mountain peak while trying to ride out a storm near Glendo, Wyo., these three victims were found with the charred wreckage of the ship. Left to right: Burnside Smith, Indianapolis insurance executive; Mrs. Eleanor Arnett, 23, bride of a month, and her husband, Dick Arnett, Indianapolis airport manager. (Associated Press Photos)

JOE'S GIRL SHOPS FOR FURNITURE

While Joe Louis, Detroit heavyweight boxer who's training to tangle with Max Baer in New York, keeps busy at camp his fiancée, Miss Marva Trotter, scouts around Chicago furniture stores selecting furnishings for the Detroit Destroyer's future home. The two plan to be married in New York shortly after the Baer fight. (Associated Press Photo)

THREE GREAT DISTANCE SWIMMERS

These three swimmers won the first three places in the 800 meters freestyle event in the American-Japanese dual meet. Jack Medica (center), finished second. He is flanked by Hiroshi Negami (right), the winner, and Gen Ishihara, third. Japan defeated the American squad. (Associated Press Photo)

NOT MRS. DEMPSEY ANY MORE

Estelle Taylor, film actress and former wife of Jack Dempsey, went to court in Los Angeles and obtained the legal right to change her name from Estelle Taylor Dempsey to Estelle Taylor. (Associated Press Photo)

THIRTEEN DIED IN THIS CRASH

This first picture of the wreckage scene at San Bernardino, Switzerland, shows all that was left of the palatial Royal Dutch "flying hotel" which crashed July 21 while flying "blind" in a storm over the Alps. All 13 occupants were killed. (Associated Press Photo)

NO BROKEN BONES IN MAXIE'S HANDS

These x-ray pictures of Max Baer's hands, made in Baltimore, Md., showed no broken bones, but revealed an inflamed condition of the left hand, expected to heal by September. These hands, not James J. Braddock's, cost him his heavyweight title, says Max. (Associated Press Photo)

OLYMPIC CHAMPION TRAINING

Capt. Baron Takechi Nishi, one of the few who guided their mounts over the difficult steeplechase course at the 1932 Olympiade in Los Angeles, is shown training in Japan to defend his Prix des Nations championship at Berlin next year. (Associated Press Photo)

QUADRUPLETS START SCHOOL

All dolled up in dresses to match (except for identifying initials to keep them apart) the quadruplet daughters of Mrs. Carl Morlok went to school for the first time this school term in Lansing, Mich. Left to right: Helen, Wilma, Mrs. Morlok, Sarah and Edna. They were five years, 2 months, old when school opened. (Associated Press Photo)

'NOW YOU CAN PAY A VISIT'

After being quarantined three weeks with scarlet fever, Arline Judge (above), film actress, winked happily as she removed the health officer's sign from her Beverly Hills, Calif., home.